NEWS OF PENDLETON

Undergoes Operation. Mrs. W. H. Bunch of Adams underwent an operation at St. Anthony's hospital yesterday.

Weston Couple to Marry. A marriage license has been issued to Jacob Farr, 67, and Marjia L. Stranberg, 51, both of Weston.

Moves From City. C. Cropper, who has been with McCook & Bentley for several years, has left for Palmer Junction, Ore., to take up farming.

Dr. Lloyd Is Back. Dr. T. J. Lloyd, former local veterinarian, who has been away for eight years, has returned to the city to resume practice here.

Road Foreman Here. John Crum, foreman of the macadamizing road crew on the work between Milton and Weston is here today. He expects to have that work completed in a month.

Robert Service in City. Robert Service of Baker, candidate for the republican nomination for membership on the public service commission is in Pendleton for a few days.

Suit to Collect Account. Daniel W. Mitchell has brought suit in the circuit court against O. H. Griswold to collect $54.85 alleged to be due for merchandise furnished in May, 1915. Plaintiff is represented by S. A. Newberry.

Snow Bank Still Lingers. Back of the La Dow block on East Court street there is still evidence of the heavy February snow in the shape of a big snow bank. The sun never strikes behind the building and the snow is expected to remain for some time longer.

New Manager of Mill. R. Crommelin of Spokane has arrived in the city and has assumed the management of the Pendleton Roller Mills vice H. G. Hildenstein, resigned. The manager has been connected with the milling business for a long time and has been in the employ of L. C. Lens at Spokane.

Would Foreclose Lien. Alleging $417.73 due him for labor and materials furnished in the repair of a Holt caterpillar engine for John W. Crow, W. J. Burns of this city has brought suit in the circuit court to foreclose a lien for that amount plus filing charges and $75 attorney fees. Fee & Fee are his attorneys.

Moorhouse Twins Cover Design. On the April number of the Sunset magazine appears a picture, in colors, very familiar to Pendletonians. It is the picture of the Cayuse Twins taken by Major Lee Moorhouse of this city. One picture is taken from the crying babes and the other from the smiling picture, the label being "April weather on the reservation."

More Evidence of Bootlegging. Four more offenders, two white and two red, were brought before Judge Fitz Gerald this morning for having imbibed too freely of bootlegged booze. The two white men, William Stewart and Albert Allen, went to jail for five days each while the two Indians, Peter Crockett and Andrew Barnhart, paid ten dollar fines.

Rev. Snyder to Salem. To assist in conducting a series of social hygiene meetings at Salem, Rev. J. E. Snyder of the Presbyterian church left today for the capital city. He will conduct meetings there Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday afternoon, and on Sunday afternoon will be one of the speakers at a big mass meeting for men at which Governor Withcombe will preside. He will occupy the pulpit of the Salem Presbyterian church Sunday morning and evening, returning home next week.

Indian Trial Proceeds Slowly. The trial of Joe Craig and Rena Johnson, Indians, on a charge of adultery is proceeding slowly before Federal Judge R. S. Bean. There is a large number of Indian witnesses and the assistance of an interpreter is needed for almost every one. The government is still introducing evidence, most of which tends to establish the relations between the two de-
