PRESENT BERLIN ATTITUDE MUST UNDERGO CHANGE

Radical Alteration Will Have to be Made in Submarine Policy to Meet With Approval of U. S.

LATEST NOTE ABOUT READY

Whole Matter May be Laid Before Congress; Affidavits American Survivors of the Steamer Sussex are Examined by Secretary Lansing; Note May Go On Monday.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Lansing carefully scrutinized the affidavits of American survivors of the Sussex today and put final touches on the latest note to Germany. It was indicated that the note will be dispatched Monday. Lansing agreed with Stone's suggestion to permit republicans to attend the conferences over the proposed note.

The note generally was regarded as the most important yet to be sent to Germany. It is understood that the tentative draft outlines the position that Germany must make sweeping changes in its submarine policy. In no other way can she give the assurances asked for. Lansing conferred with the president this afternoon. Perhaps the proposition of laying the whole matter before congress will be considered.

LONDON, April 15.—An official statement by the foreign office declared that Germany's note to America leaves no further doubt that the Sussex was torpedoed. Through an investigation it was revealed that no vessel in the channel, except the Sussex was damaged in the manner which the submarine commander described. It was declared that the German statement was unjustified in that the commander thought the ship a mine-layer of the Arabic class.

How Women Helped Make Guns

NEW YORK, April 15.—Lady Colebrook, wife of a British government official, has arrived here for a rest, after working six months in the Cleers-Maxim munitions factory in England.

Lady Colebrook, who never dressed her own hair until the war came, was one of thirty titled ladies who "aligned up" for six months in the munitions factory. It was late last summer. They were put to work finishing gun parts and shells.

The splendid example these women set resulted in thousands of others following in their footsteps, until today, according to Lady Colebrook, there are 15,000 women working in the British munitions factories.

One by one, however, the titled ladies, unused to such arduous labor, dropped out. When the six months' term expired, only fifteen remained, among them Lady Colebrook. A long rest was recommended. She was bundled aboard the Nieuw Amsterdam

Bootlegging Case is Dismissed in the Police Court

ALLEGED PERJURY ON PART OF WITNESS IS CAUSE OF JUDGE'S ACTION.

Because it was openly apparent that William Egan, the prosecuting witness, perjured himself in his testimony, Judge F. G. Gerstl this morning dismissed the bootlegging case against Teddy O'Neil. However, on a charge of being drunk, he sentenced O'Neil to a fine of $25 or 12 days in jail, and, when a similar charge was filed against Egan, the judge gave him $40 or 20 days in jail because of his previous false testimony.

The case this morning, while it did not prove the bootlegging charge, did throw some light upon the manner in which alcohol is secured. It also showed pretty clearly that there are many men who do not hesitate at perjury in order to secure alcohol. There was strong evidence that O'Neil, Egan and W. H. Bruner, a witness, all perjured themselves and Deputy District Attorney R. L. Keator was present to note the evidence.

Egan, whose home is in Hermiston, testified that he gave O'Neil $150 and that the latter went out and secured him some alcohol. O'Neil very vehemently denied this, declaring that Egan himself purchased the alcohol and returned with it to himself and Bruner, giving them part of it. Bruner corroborated this story and, when the drugstore record book was brought in and showed Egan's signature to an affidavit for the securing of alcohol, it was pretty patent that he was giving false testimony.

SAN ANTONIO, April 15.—Army aviators today located several thousand Carranzistas encamped in a pass between Raviolo valley and Casas Grandes, Funston reported. A. R. and the veterans and wives are cordially invited to be the guests of this newspaper on Thursday afternoon, April 27 for the first matinee performance.

"The Birth of a Nation" deals with civil war scenes and the reconstruction days, hence will be of keen personal interest to all who followed Grant and Lee or who remember the trying times following the close of the war. The picture itself is a record breaking production.

Over 5000 distinct scenes are shown and 15,000 people and 3000 horses were utilized in making the narrative. Those who have seen the show declare it is wonderfully realistic.

A section in the theater for the grand army men and their wives has already been set aside. The tickets will be ready for them on Monday, April 24.

RIETH IS NEW NAME FOR TERMINAL POINT

PILOT ROCK JUNCTION IS RECHRISTENED; WHERE NAME SECURED UNKNOWN.

Rieth is henceforth to be the name of the division point west of Pendleton, instead of Pilot Rock Junction, according to instructions received here today by Agent T. F. O'Brien from Superintendent William Bollons.

The change in name is made because some confusion results from the fact Pilot Rock and Pilot Rock Junction are too near alike. Freight and mail intended for the junction has at times gone to Pilot Rock and vice versa, hence the necessity of a change.

Where the new name was secured is a mystery. The instructions received set forth no explanation of how the name came to be chosen but gives information that the change will be in effect as soon as a new time table is published.

Registration For Eugenic Contest Closes Wednesday

LITTLE ONES SHOULD BE ENTERED AT ONCE BY PENDLETON MOTHERS.

Registration for the coming eugenic contest and baby parade will close next Wednesday evening and hence it will be necessary for mothers desiring to enter their children to attend to the registration within the next few days. Children not registered for the contests will not be allowed to enter.

Miss Wishart of Salem, who is here to assist in handling the affair, was one of the prime movers in the first eugenic contest ever held in the United States. This was held at Salem several years ago and the little son of Chauncey Bishop was the grand prize winner. Miss Wishart will be remembered here through having installed the domestic science department in the old Pendleton academy. The course given there was the first domestic science course established in the state outside of Portland and the Oregon Agricultural college.

BUCKAROOES WILL HAVE A STRONGER LINE-UP SUNDAY

LOCALS WILL MEET WESTON MOUNTAINERS; OTHER TEAMS IN LEAGUE PLAY.

With a strengthened line-up the Pendleton Buckarooes will go into their second game of the Blue Mountain league season tomorrow afternoon. Their opponents will be the Weston Mountaineers, who in the old days of the league were Pendleton's closest rivals.

Manager McCarrie has a new catcher in the person of a player named Kershaw, formerly of Inez. Clark Varian, old Western Tri-state star, will be on third base and Gumm will be shifted from second to first. Ralph Knight will hold down his old position at second and Ebanks will be on short. McCarrie will do the pitching.

While the Bucks are trying to trounce Weston here, the Echo team will be crossing bats with Pilot Rock in Pilot Rock. These two teams evenly matched and should put up a strong game.

The game here will start at 2 o'clock.

Funston's long code message which caused a midnight conference between Wilson and Baker, was believed to have recommended radical changes in the Villa hunt.

It was learned authoritatively that he had informed Rodgers of the administration's willingness to discuss the proposition with Carranza.
