BRITAIN ADDS TO LIST OF PROHIBITED GOODS

WASHINGTON, May 9.—An additional list of American commerce which cannot be received by British ports was received at the state department from United States Consul-General Skinner, at London.

Among the articles are canned, bottled, dried and preserved vegetables and pickles, litter, rubber tires, tubes for motor cars and motorcycles, salt, starch, farina and potato flour.

Officials have taken the ground that such prohibitions constitute a question of international politics with Great Britain, which could not well be made a subject of protest by the United States.
