

Something About Cascade Butter

In buying butter there are just two things which have weight with the consumer—price and quality. Poor butter is expensive at any price. For a good article everybody is willing to pay a fair price. Our prices are not simply reasonable, they are extremely low. Our qualities are not merely fair, they are absolutely the best. 65¢ two pounds.

ROMANCE OF BLIND SCHOOL IN LONDON ENDS IN MARRIAGE

HERO OF THE BATTLEFIELD MEETS AT LAST THE GIRL OF HIS DREAMS.

Though He Cannot See Her, He Likes Her Voice and She Likes His Looks. So They Wed and Go Back to a Little Surrey Farm; So Romance Is Still Alive.

(By United Press.) LONDON, May 9.—Down in Wokingham, a little village nestled in the Surrey Hills, not far from London, George Fleetwood, 26, former British soldier, was married a few days ago. Just about a year ago Fleetwood crawled over the top of a British trench near Arrmentieres, in Northern France, and charged with his comrades toward the German lines. Machine guns sputtered and half way across "No Man's Land" Fleetwood fell. Hours later ambulance men carried him to the rear. A busy military surgeon made a brief examination of a wound in Fleetwood's head. "Probably blind for life if he recovers at all," was the hurried diagnosis.

A month passed and Fleetwood was sent to a hospital in London. The surgeon's snap verdict at the base hospital was correct. He was blind for life. The patient recovered and was discharged from the hospital. A nurse led him by the arm to St. Dunstan's school for blinded soldiers, the prettiest spot in the heart of London. It took a few moment's conference with C. A. Pearson, superintendent of St. Dunstan's—former editor of the London Daily Express, who also is blind—to map out Fleetwood's career. Beside the government pension of about $4 a week he owns an acre and a half of ground in the Surrey Hills. Fleetwood decided to raise chickens. St. Dunstan's chicken school is the only institution of its kind in the world. In it Fleetwood learned to tell a Leghorn from a Plymouth Rock, or any other breed, by touch; how to tell a bad egg from a good one; how to pull an incubator apart and put it together again and various other things.

He also took a thorough course in St. Dunstan's wood working school and learned to build chicken houses, fences and coops. In the basket making department he learned how baskets are made, also how to plot his chicken yard with hand rails and boards so that by touch of hand or foot he will know his exact location. Then came Cupid. Flight into the school.

Women—some of them from fashionable London—go to St. Dunstan's to talk and read to the blind men. One of these young women met Fleetwood. She liked his looks and he liked her voice. For weeks she accompanied him to the chicken school and during spare hours she read to him.

One day Fleetwood told her about the little chicken farm in Surrey, outlined his plans and bluntly proposed. The girl was so astonished she accepted.

In the little church at Wokingham, the romance had its climax. Among the wedding gifts was an incubator which followed behind the nuptial carriage to the little chicken farm.

WHEAT FIELDS LOSE THEIR YELLOW SPOTS

WALLA WALLA, Wash., May 9.—A week of almost unbroken warm weather and bright sunshine served to take the yellow spots out of the valley wheat fields during the last week, and the light shower of Friday was a benefit, rather than a hindrance to the coming crop.

Farmers were decidedly discouraged 19 days ago, when cold, cloudy weather was prevailing and fields in many sections of the wheat belt had the appearance of having been grown in a cellar or under a building. The yellow spots, however, have disappeared as though by magic and the wheat has taken on a deep green color, and has made a good growth since the first of last week.

Reports from all parts of the inland empire are that conditions now are much more favorable for the growing grain, and that the outlook for the 1916 crop is growing brighter.

CAPT. CHEAPE, POLO STAR, ON MISSING LIST

LONDON, May 9.—Captain Leslie C. S. Cheape, the famous polo player, is reported missing in a recent casualty report.

Captain Cheape was a member of the English polo teams which visited New York in 1911 and 1912, in a futile endeavor to take back home the international polo trophy held by the Meadowbrook Club. He also came to this country in 1914, as one of Lord Wimborne's four, which won the cup.

The victory of the Englishmen was due in a great measure to the remarkable skill with the mallet and the daring horsemanship of Captain Cheape.

GRANDMOTHER'S MEDICINES. Our grandmothers were wise in the virtues of the herbs of the field. They used to gather and store roots and herbs and use them to cure the ailments of their families—Wormwood, thoroughwort sage, rue, camomile—the list might go on and on for the healing plants with which they made us familiar. Now their grand-daughters get the extracts from just such good old roots and herbs, from the nearest druggist, ready prepared for use. One such medicine, which women find best for their own ailments, is the well-known Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.—Adv.

Healthy Old Age Brings Happiness

SIMPLE REMEDY PROMOTES HEALTH BY OVERCOMING TENDENCY TO CONSTIPATION.

Advancing years impair the action of the vital organs. Old age should be the period of greatest happiness, but good health is necessary. Constipation should not be tolerated—it is often the direct cause of ill health.

Headache, belching, biliousness, bloated, drowsiness after eating and other symptoms of constipation can be readily relieved by the use of a simple laxative compound sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Mr. J. H. Bristol, 1412 Geddes Ave., Ann Arbor, Mich., who is 82 years old, says "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the best remedy I ever used for constipation and I always have a bottle of it in the house to use when I feel the need of it, it never disappoints."

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a mild laxative preparation, positive in its effect, acting easily and naturally without griping or other pain or discomfort. For over a quarter of a century it has been the standard household remedy in thousands of homes. Druggists everywhere sell it for fifty cents a bottle. A trial bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can be obtained, free of charge, by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 454 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.
