HOME LIFE OF THE CIRCUS FOLKS LIKE ONE GREAT FAMILY

PUBLIC IN GENERAL KNOWS LITTLE OF WHAT GOES ON BEHIND SCENES.

Robinson's show is a small village in itself, 6000 People Employed in the Various Activities; Equine Stock Numbers 200; Secret Service Men Protect Public.

The sidelights of a big circus are always of extraordinary interest to the curiously inclined society and probably for the reason, chiefly, that the average layman has such a comparatively limited knowledge of the inner workings of a traveling tented organization.

The public knows the professional circus man and woman almost entirely as they are seen in action—on the performing or executive "firing line"—so to speak, and of their private life—the personal side of their being, the outsider is practically a total stranger.

As a practical illustration, it is worthy of special note that the John Robinson Shows, which are scheduled to exhibit in Pendleton on Wednesday, June 14, carries its own tonorial parlor, with two skilled barbers and a manicurist in attendance, and for the accommodation of the horses and ponies employed in and about the main tent, there is a completely equipped blacksmith shop with four expert "smiths."

For the edification and delight of the kiddies, twenty ponies draw the footing, shrieking steam callopes. All told, there is employed in the various departments of the John Robinson Circus, a total of 4000 people, of which forty are department heads or "bosses," as circus parlance designates the executive chiefs.

In the commissary department, of "cook tent" alone, there is engaged more than 250 men, including chefs, waiters and "bus" boys. The high salaried performers and the "bosses" eat separately from the ordinary laboring men and quite naturally the former enjoy a distinctly better grade of "rations."

On the "circus lot," as the grounds are familiarly and almost affectionately spoken of by tent show folks, there is a private restaurant where those employed in and about the big tents can slip in and partake of good hot coffee and "short orders" between the regular meals, and when the show is en route, the main section of the circus specials can boast of a lunch car wherein the trouper may partake of a midnight repast if desired, while making the "jump" to the next stand.

A very noticeable if not remarkable feature of the Robinson Shows is the large representation of members of secret societies on the show roster. Seventy-four of the Robinson trouper wear the antlered button of the Elks, which organization seems to predominate and of Masons, Odd Fellows, Woodmen, Macintosh, Pythians and Eagles there is a goodly lot. Between five and six acres of ground are ordinarily required for the mammoth "big top" and the smaller annex tents and approximately 4000 stakes are necessary to securely hold down the vast spread of canvas.

A distinction of the Robinson outfit is that it has the only twelve center-pole menagerie in the world. Approximately the full quota of Robinson equine stock is 300, of all shades and variety of breed, and among the circus performing and racing stock are pedigreed animals of high imported and domestic rank.

Visitors to the Robinson Shows are at all times well protected by a private police force of five experienced youths under the direction of George Godfrey, chief of the circus secret service, and it is claimed for the latter and his "Hawkehaws" that they are familiar with the physiognomy of about every "crook" of any note in America. Incidentally this fact is pretty well known to the "sleek gentry" of the country and consequently they manage to give the Robinson circus "lot" a comfortably wide berth.

Two performances are a twice daily occurrence in the Robinson show tent and rain is no deterrent for the canvas coverings are absolutely waterproof.

This is the eighty-ninth consecutive year that the John Robinson shows have been entertaining the American public and the management carries flattering letters from the officials of about every city and big town in the United States, vouching for the honest business methods, and complimenting the scrupulous care and attention paid to the ladies and children of the big amusement institution.

O. & C. BILL NOW UP TO JOINT CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Chamberlain, Thomas and Sterling have been appointed senate conferees on the Oregon & California land grant bill. They comprised the sub-committee that prepared the senate amendments and all staunch friends of the Chamberlain measure. The house conferees will be named today when the naval bill is disposed of and will probably be Ferris, Lenroot and Taylor of Colorado. Ferris and Lenroot have stood aggressively against giving over 50 per cent of the proceeds to Oregon. Taylor is considered more liberal.

The senate yesterday gave emphatic approval to liberal treatment for Oregon in dividing the proceeds of sales of timber from the Oregon & California land grant.

By a majority of 15 it adopted the Chamberlain sub-committee amendment, under which Oregon schools, roads and ports will receive an aggregate of 80 per cent, while 10 per cent is directed to be spent on reclamation projects in Oregon and 10 per cent goes to the federal treasury.

J. J. HILL DID NOT LEAVE ANY WILL

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 5.—Following a conference of the 19 heirs to the estate of James J. Hill, railroad builder, who died here last Monday, arrangements were made for the return to New York of James N. Hill, oldest son; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Gavin and Mrs. A. M. Beard. Mrs. Gavin and Mrs. Beard are daughters of Mr. Hill.

Reports that Mr. Hill left no will favored circulation in railroad and financial circles, together with a report that the vast estate would be in trust, proceeds of the trust to be shared by the heirs in the same ratio that the property would be distributed were the estate to be divided under the law.

Such an agreement, it was pointed out, in no way would interfere with the management of the Hill properties as conducted in the past. One-third of the profits would go to Mrs. Hill and two twenty-sevenths to each of the nine children.

PROHIB WOULD MAKE STATE DRY AS BONE

PORTLAND, Ore., June 3.—The central committee of the prohibition party has decided to initiate a constitutional amendment which, if adopted would make the state absolutely dry. The amendment, which is a revision of Section 34 of Article 1 of the Constitution, has been drafted as follows: "No intoxicating liquors shall be imported into, manufactured or sold within this state, except for medicinal purposes upon prescription of a licensed physician or for scientific, sacramental or mechanical purposes.

"The plan as adopted is designed to put the brewery interests on the defensive," declared Chairman Newell of the state central committee. "Some ten days having passed without any amendment being made to combat the attempt to propose the initiative, we decided to take the initiative. A number of Portland business men were called into consultation with the central committee before our action was taken."

"Secretary Fox left for Salem today to arrange for preparation of the form of the petition. We expect to start the petitions out this evening. We are required to obtain 22,000 signatures by July 6."

German Agent Indicted.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Franz von Rintelen, the German agent who has figured in several alleged German bomb plots and is now detained in England, was indicted by the federal grand jury as a basis for obtaining his extradition to this country. The indictment charges him with fraud in connection with the procuring of a false American passport.

Von Rintelen is supposed to be wanted by the United States authorities to aid them in the case against Representative Frank Buchanan of Illinois and against men who are alleged to have participated with Von Rintelen in a plot to block munitions shipments to the entente allies.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Prior to her departure yesterday for Portland to attend the Rose Festival, Miss Muriel Saling was the guest of honor at a 3 o'clock breakfast given at the Hotel Pendleton by Misses Alice Dosche and Maybelle Ford. Her sister, Miss Frances Saling, who accompanied her, was also a guest.

"Queen Muriel" arrived in Portland last evening and is now occupying the imperial suite at the Portland Hotel. She will be crowned tomorrow evening and her reign will continue through Friday night.

In speaking of the royal robe which she will wear, a Portland paper described it as follows:

Of course, the queen's gown is the most elaborate. It's a delicate shell pink, and mimics the Caroline Testout rose. A trim pink satin bodice surmounts a voluminous skirt of pink tulle "rose petals" over a wide underskirt of pink satin. A long, graceful court train gives added elegance. The sleeves are wee puffed net things, with a ruffle at the edge and a Caroline Testout rose just falling off. The real feature of the costume is a flowing white tulle cape, skirt length, and all scattered over with pink rose petals.

Queen Muriel will wear a silver crown studded with jewels of white and blue. The back of the crown will be a row of Caroline Testout roses and from it will flow a white tulle veil. A new crown will be fashioned each day from fresh roses and her scepter will be an armful of the loveliest rose buds Portland can produce.

Much like the queen's gown are those to be worn by the princesses. Save that their capes are short and they wear no train. Each princess has a large droopy matine hat of whatever color her costume is.

Mrs. Herbert P. Whitman Saturday afternoon had-in a few friends to meet her cousin, Miss Christine McEae of Walla Walla who has been visiting her for several days. Miss McEae returned to her home today.

Mrs. Dean Tatum is entertaining the South Hill Bridge Club this afternoon.

Mrs. Lloyd D. Idleman left Saturday for Portland to attend the Rose Festival. After the festival she will go on to Moonmouth to attend the summer classes of the normal school.

Miss Cella Henn has returned to her home in Walla Walla after spending several days here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Evans left today for Portland to attend the Rose Festival.

Mrs. Fred Bloch has returned from a visit in Portland.

Brooks Dickson returned this morning from a weekend visit in Portland. He brought back his little daughter, Mary Louise, who had been with her grandparents there.

W. L. Thompson, president of the American National Bank, left yesterday to attend the Rose Festival.

R. W. Ritter, R. E. Chloupek, F. W. Lampkin, Marshall Spell, Roy Buchanan and Carl Cooley left yesterday by auto for Portland.

E. B. Aldrich, editor of the East Oregonian, left for Portland yesterday to attend the Rose Festival. Mrs. Aldrich is already in Oregon City visiting her mother.

Mrs. William McGarrigle and baby left yesterday for Portland for a visit.

Mrs. A. B. Cooley and children are leaving for Burns to join Mr. Cooley. The family will remain there during the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. E. Pruitt left yesterday morning in their car for Portland to attend the festival.

KLAMATH INDIANS TO HAVE MORE IRRIGATION

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., June 5.—There is renewed activity in reclamation matters among the Klamath Indians, and now that the Modoc Point project is completed and is furnishing water to several thousands of acres of Indian reservation lands, the Indian reclamation service is giving attention to other projects. At present, men are at work on a dam in Fort Creek, near old Fort Klamath, to make possible the irrigation of 4000 acres near the Klamath agency, including the experimental farm of the Indian training school.

In a short time work will begin on a concrete dam on Brown creek, near Galina, as a preliminary to watering 1020 acres in the vicinity of Hearty. This job will also entail the excavation of four miles of canal.

Man Killed To With Fall. HARTFORD CITY, Ind., June 5.—A report of murder was returned after a coroner's inquest in the death of Geraldine Stout, 8, who, while riding in an automobile with her parents, was struck and killed by a bucket of corn, hurled by Albert Thomas, a farmer, as he stepped aside to let the machine pass. Thomas was arrested. Feeling against him is great.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy.

This is a remedy that every family should be provided with, and especially during the summer months. Think of the pain and suffering that must be endured when medicine must be sent for before relief can be obtained. This remedy is thoroughly reliable. Ask anyone who has used it. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.
