agreement if the expedition was to be effective."

Lansing next flatly denies the charges that the United States had not fully answered a previous communication. Several misstatements, notably a quotation purporting to show that the United States formally admitted that the Villa band was dispersed, were cited.

The note then answers the allegations of bad faith.

"You state that the American government has placed every obstacle in the way of attaining pacification in Mexico. Replying to these sweeping charges, I can truthfully affirm that the American government has given every possible encouragement to the de facto government in the pacification and rehabilitation of Mexico. Since its recognition it has had the undivided support of this government."

The charges that American influences were seeking intervention are answered by a citation of inflammatory articles in Mexican newspapers appearing despite Carranza's censorship.

The note ends with a threat of "the gravest consequences," answering Carranza's threat of an appeal to arms.

Gale Imperils Train. SAVANNAH, June 20.—The Central of Georgia Railroad train was delayed for four hours between Augusta and Waynesboro by a terrific storm of cyclonic fury, which blew 75 trees across the track and threatened at one time to lift the train from the rails.

The gale was the worst this section has ever experienced. The sky was black and the rain came in sheets. The wind was so strong that it blew automobiles about on the streets of Augusta. The wind reached a velocity of between 75 and a hundred miles.

After leaving Augusta the train encountered a barrier of fallen trees which littered the tracks for many hundred yards. It was impossible for the train to proceed until a section gang could be summoned to clear the tracks of this debris.

Americans Must Sell. LONDON, June 20.—Americans domiciled here who are subject to the income tax must sell to or deposit with the British government their American securities under penalty of an extra two shillings tax. This ruling holds whether the securities are held here or in America. If American securities are deposited with the government only the usual income tax, with the ordinary abatement, will be charged, but the government prefers to purchase the securities outright.

In the event that American residents here deposit their American securities held in the United States the government will collect the interest and pay it to the owners in sterling.

American residents holding such securities in America may either deposit them with or sell them to the government through the agency of the J. P. Morgan Co., in New York.

It is not unlikely that when this ruling becomes generally known there will be an exodus of wealthy Americans living in England. The American Embassy and consulate have been besieged by American residents seeking information on this point, many of whom threaten to depart unless the government makes an exception in their favor.

There are said to be 8000 used for palmers palm, which grows throughout tropical India.

What the Picture Theaters Have to Tell You.

MAY ALLISON AND HAROLD LOCKWOOD FEATURED

In Stirring Drama of Frontier Post Life.

Showing today and tomorrow at the Pastime is the Mutual Masterpicture, "The Buzzard's Shadow," a stirring military drama of army life. Sergeant Barnes, scout at a frontier army post, is sent on a perilous mission. When half way across the desert, his horse dies from the effect of poison administered by Dr. Deschamps, whose enemy Barnes has incurred by threatening to expose his attentions to the colonel's wife. Barnes also discovers that his canteen has been emptied and filled with sand. How he triumphs over obstacles and returns to his sweetheart, beautiful Alice Corbett, forms the main incident in this stirring drama.

In addition, a clever George Ovey comedy will also be shown, making a big 8-reel program for a small admission price.

Adults, 10c; children, 5c.

The Pastime orchestra of three pieces will furnish appropriate music.

Alta Theater Tuesday and Wednesday.

Harold Lockwood and May Allison, one of the most popular stellar combinations in motion pictures, will make their debut on the Metro program in "The Come-back," a gripping five part production which will be presented here at the Alta theater on Tuesday and Wednesday. This feature was made for the Metro program by the Quality Pictures Corporation under the direction of Fred J. Balshofer, who practically discovered Mr. Lockwood soon after he went into motion pictures and predicted a big future for him.

The supporting cast in "The Come-Back" is an unusually strong one and includes Lester Cuno, Howard Truesdell, George Henry, Bert Starkey, Mitchell Lewis and Charissa Selwynne.

Until recently, Mr. Lockwood and Miss Allison have been seen starring on the American-Mutual program. Before that both were stars with the Famous Players, where they made many notable feature productions. But they were glad to get on the Metro program, under its unique and popular starring system, and pleased to be with Mr. Balshofer one of the foremost directors in the country. Mr. Balshofer has exercised special care to select scenarios for Mr. Lockwood and Miss Allison in which youth, romance, adventure and the spirit of the great outdoors predominate. It is in such productions that this couple have always excelled and which have won for them thousands of admirers in every quarter of the globe. Mr. Lockwood is one of the most fearless artists now acting before the camera, and always takes a keen delight in doing so-called "stunts" of the most dangerous character. He has been injured repeatedly through his daring, but never discouraged.

"The Come-Back" is one of the strongest features in which Mr. Lockwood and Miss Allison have appeared. It deals, for the most part, with life in the logging camps of northern Maine, with many interesting glimpses of New York society for a contrast in an intense story of today.

At the Cosy.

How big a lie would you tell to win the girl you love? And if she found out ten minutes after the wedding ceremony would you still have the nerve to keep up the bluff? This is only one of the many interesting situations in the new Gold Seal feature play starring the popular romantic actor Herbert Rawlinson with Ames Vernon in "The Mark of a Gentleman" at the Cosy. Startling realism is the noticeable feature of the Railroad Bandit, which with the one reel comedy "How Times Do Change" is at the Cosy today.

Quartet at the Temple.

The quartet has a substantial basso in the person of J. T. Hill, who is ranked among the finest colored bass singers in the United States. He takes "A" natural with ease. Mr. Hill's training has enabled him to render the more difficult classics as well as the ever popular plantation melodies. As a reader Mr. Hill occupies an enviable position on the platform. Possessed of a splendid physique, a rich deep voice, and a mind that can keenly discern the authors purpose, it is not surprising that audiences are carried by his interpretations. Mr. Hill's diction is excellent and his clear rich voice runs the gamut in the expression of strong emotion, sparkling comedy, and delicate pathos. He excels, possibly in the dialect readings from Paul Laurence Dunbar. Two days, at the Temple tomorrow and Wednesday.
