THE MORNING JOY
The love that brings the morning joy
And lights the world with laughter—
A fig for all the things that cloy
The now and the hereafter!
The love that lights the weary way
Shall scorn the moment's shadow—
Its dreams are in the world to-day,
And the rose bedecks the meadow!
The night has passed that sank of fear,
The morn has come, love leading—
Awake the golden heart of cheer
To all life's golden needings!
The love that slays the woe of both,
The truth that keeps it holy—
Oh, whistle at the garden gate,
And off with melancholy!
A dream beyond the dust has flown,
And it shall keep us smiling—
When love the golden vale has sown,
The paths are so beguiling!
The love that turns the trick of life
And breaks the dark indenture—
Away with all the care and strife,
And hail the Great Adventure!

WILSON ENTITLED TO PROGRESSIVE SUPPORT

IN a letter yesterday to a Philadelphia progressive leader who has pledged his support to him President Wilson made the claim that the democratic party under his leadership "represents the larger part of the progressive power and can be made an instrument of leadership in a direction which all who love justice and progress wish to take."
That statement is more than justified by the Wilson record of achievement in the direction of progressive legislation. He has given the country the income tax, the federal reserve act, tariff revision, rural credits, federal trades commission and other reforms looking to greater industrial and social justice.
In other words President Wilson has practised what the progressives preached in 1912. Having done this why in the name of common sense is he not entitled to progressive support? How can progressives expect results if they do not give support to those who put their principles into action?
As a matter of fact a host of progressives are flocking to the Wilson banner. The Philadelphia man to whom the president wrote is but one of many thousands. Here are some conspicuous instances.
In Utah the acting state chairman of the progressive party, Hugh A. McMillan says openly the Utah progressives will refuse to follow Roosevelt back into the camps of the old guard. He is out and out for Wilson.

At Seattle the Washington state chairman of the progressives, is taking the same position. He is supporting Wilson in preference to Hughes and many minor leaders in Washington do the same.

At Portland the Multnomah county chairman, Emmett Callahan, has openly proclaimed his support for Wilson.

In California Francis J. Healey, one of the big bull moose leaders at Chicago in 1912, has refused to be driven into the Hughes corral. He is fighting for Wilson.

These instances are mentioned because they are near at hand. The same state of affairs is found all over the country. One of the delegates from Connecticut to the progressive convention this year, John Flood, has declared for Wilson and expresses his feelings as follows:

"I'm for Wilson, and so are hundreds of delegates who sat in the progressive convention and saw the leader whom we had followed faithfully, almost fanatically, step forth and try to dump us."

Not only is the colonel "dumping" the party he helped create in 1912 but he is dumping some sound principles espoused by that party. He has treated the progressive party as though it were a jumping jack to be handled as he wished and then thrown away. Is it any wonder there is a widespread revolt and numerous declarations by progressives in favor of Wilson?

THEY HAVE A JUST COMPLAINT

ANY tourists passing through this county just at present make complaints about the lack of road signs. The letter received by Major Moorhouse from a man at Hoquiam is an example. The letter states that the writer was informed that 75 different autos had taken a wrong road east of here, because there was no sign to show them how to go.

That the absence of signs must be embarrassing to tourists is known from the fact local people often have difficulty finding their way. This is true not only on the through routes but in all parts of the county. Just a few days ago a local party started to drive to Helix and through being confused by directions and the lack of signs arrived at Adams instead. It is easy for people to make such mistakes even though they be somewhat familiar with the county.

The law calls for signs at road intersections; why not have them?

Every strong local business house is an asset to the city and there are reasons for believing that the new owners of the Pendleton Ice & Cold Storage business will prove aggressive members of our business fraternity. Both Mr. Smythe and Mr. Lonergan are business men of force and gumption. They are likely to follow an aggressive policy and extend their company's business zone. It is also good news that Mr. Lonergan is going to locate here permanently. He is a live wire and he will be welcomed even by many who did not always acquiesce in his view as to the large amount of paying the Warren company should have.

While the Germans are rejoicing over the Deutschland's trip the allies take pride in the manner in which they are driving through the German lines on the continent.

A tory newspaper sniffs with contempt because the militiamen are not having any fighting on the border. In other words it is too bad from the tory viewpoint that we are avoiding war.

$2000 IN JEWELS STOLEN.

Burglars Cut Hole in Roof and Avoid System of Alarms.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 15.—Hobbers looted the Walton & Co. jewelry store and carried off home and mounted precious and semi-precious stones valued at $2000. The burglars entered through the roof, cutting a hole which enabled them to avoid a network of burglar alarm wires.
Every bit of jewelry in showcases and windows was taken. Jewels valued at $15,000 were in the safe, which was not tampered with.

HOBNAILED SHOES FOR BOYS ON THE BORDER

The war department has ordered 250,000 shoes of a new type for the U. S. regulars and militiamen in Mexican service, 20,000 of which have been delivered. All the troops on the border and in the interior of Mexico will be outfitted with these shoes just as soon as they reach the front. These shoes are used by the allies, though they were first used by the Turkish armies. They are hob-nailed, as the photograph shows whereas
