POPULAR ROUND-UP COWBOY SAVED IN NICK OF TIME

MIXED SUIT CASES ALMOST PROVED UNDOING

You know Danny Clark, cowboy Round-Up champion steer roper and livestock man for the O.-W. R. & N. and know his pleasant smile, his engaging personality and his extremely chic cowboy clothes. You know what an extremely nice fellow Danny is? But supposing you were a demure little lady coming into Pendleton for a first visit arriving at the depot yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock when all the trains were in and the people were running here and there and the cabbies yelling and the conductors calling and general confusion prevailing, and you grabbed a suit case and rushed away with your friends and had a nice visit until time to retire when you opened up that suit case and found that you were supposed to sleep in a pair of chaps, high-heeled cowboy boots, silver mounted spurs, an extremely noisy shirt and a buckskin turtleneck. That is really what happened to a young lady last evening and this morning she was down town bright and early trying to find the owner of the cowboy suit case and make a very desirable exchange with him. She described the contents of the suit case she had to T. F. O'Brien, local agent of the O.-W. R. & N., and he immediately tied the ribbon on Danny Clark for no other cowboy in the northwest carries such decidedly nice clothes with him. Danny didn't open his suit case when he retired for the night so the surprise was all the greater this morning when he was told what happened. Danny was expected to leave for Cheyenne last night to enter the steer roping contest and there is a little amusement in just imagining what Danny would have looked like had he attired himself in the clothes in the suit case which he had and galloped out on a horse to rope a steer.

POLICE BELIEVE BOMB OUTRAGE AT SAN FRANCISCO PLANNED AS ONE OF SERIES OF CRIMES

Detectives Arrest Four Men, One of Whom is Reported to be a Labor Leader; All Information Points to Widespread Plot and Startling Developments are Expected.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—The police have arrested two more suspects in connection with Saturday's bomb outrage. One gave his name as John Federo. The others name is temporarily withheld. It is reported he is a labor leader. Captain Duncan Matheson, head of the bomb squad, declared there were one new project appropriates three hundred thousand dollars to improve the East River channel to permit battleships to reach the Brooklyn navy yards. President Wilson urged this despite strong efforts to defeat it.

The first "important" arrest in the hunt for the plotters who exploded a bomb during the San Francisco preparedness parade last Saturday, killing eight and injuring 40 persons, was made yesterday when Chief of Police White and a squad of detectives arrested W. K. Billings, an automobile machinist, and held him incommunicado. The arrest was staged dramatically in the free clinic maintained by Stanford University in the Lano Hospital, where the suspect was receiving treatment "not for a wound," the police said.

Immediately after the arrest the police announced they had made an important capture which they expected would lead to further arrests of persons connected with the bomb outrage, but further than that no details were forthcoming. The hospital authorities likewise refused any information.

Ed Nolan is the third man arrested today. There is no information regarding his connection with the case. Nolan is a machinist. He is reported to be fourth man arrested.

AMENDED ARMY BILL IS PASSED BY THE SENATE

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The senate has amended the army appropriation bill giving fifty dollars a month relief to the dependent families of militiamen and regulars on border duty. The senate passed the three hundred and twelve million dollar army appropriation bill without a yeas and nays vote this afternoon. In the house there are objections on both army and navy bills.

With one exception this bill is the largest in peace times in the military budget history. This exception is the three hundred and ninety million dollar Russian appropriation of 1914 providing for five million soldiers. House Leader Kitchin announced the army and navy bills never had their approval. President Wilson takes a positive stand that the army bill must be approved. Senator Chamberlain said he hoped the same support would be given his measure. Chairman Ray told Chamberlain that opposition to his bill was not as strong as previously. (Continued on Page Four)
