EFFORTS TO REFORM BRING BIG REWARD

Young Aberdeen Mill Worker Gets $100,000 for Making a Man of Himself.

ABERDEEN, Wash., July 25.—Driven from the home of wealthy Baltimore parents for his conduct, Jerome P. Darlington wandered to Cosmopolis and became a mill worker. Yesterday he received a reward for his efforts to make a man of himself. He received word that he was heir to $100,000. He has given up his job and left for the east to claim his fortune.

The last year of the youth's life reads like a motion picture melodrama. He was a lover of the "white way." When driven from home he came west, taking a common laborer's job at Cosmopolis. One day he wrote a letter to his father on a piece of lumber, asking the party who received it to communicate with his father, and the eastern party who received the lumber did so. In response to this he received a letter from his father forgiving him and telling him of his inheritance.

Young Darlington attributes his reform partly to the dry law. He says he has not "touched a drop" since he came to Cosmopolis and that he is going home a different man and one of whom his parents need not be ashamed.

FOUR AUTOISTS HURT WHEN CAR TURNS OVER

Broken Steering Knuckle Causes Accident Near Hood River.

PORTLAND, July 31.—Narrowly escaping death when their auto plunged down a steep embankment and tumbled turtle about two miles this side of Hood River, Charles Freeman and James Cooper of Fossil, Ore., and Charles Zemonson and wife of Mitchell, Ore., were brought to Portland by train yesterday afternoon, all suffering from serious injuries.

Mr. Cooper was the most seriously hurt, sustaining three fractured ribs, several bruises and it is feared that he may be injured internally. He was taken to Good Samaritan Hospital and his companions were conveyed to the Imperial hotel where medical attention was given them.

The party was en route to Portland from Fossil when the accident occurred. Leaving their home town Saturday, the members spent that night at The Dalles, starting on their journey from there yesterday. Passing through Hood River in the afternoon, they had just descended a steep hill a couple of miles west of that town when the accident occurred.

Mr. Cooper was driving about eight miles an hour at the time. The steering knuckle broke just as the bottom of the hill was reached. The car shot over the bank, turned turtle and landed in a ditch about 10 feet below, bottom side up.

Woman Is Thrown Out.
As the car turned over, Mrs. Zemonson was catapulted over the front of it. She was still stunned when picked up later.

Mr. Cooper, who clung to the wheel was pinned under the vehicle, and seek to equalize their temperature by who were occupying the rear seat, were hurled from the machine. Mr. Zemonson, who already had a broken ankle which he intended to have treated in Portland, landed on the back of his head and back. Mr. Freeman hit on his feet.

Several auto parties witnessed the accident and rushed to the assistance of the victims. The latter were taken to the railroad track a few yards distant and O-W. B. & N. train No. 1, which arrived a short time later, was flagged. Conductor Grandy and the other members of the crew assisted them aboard and Dr. Cathey of Condon, who happened to be a passenger, rendered first aid. Art H. Serr who was on the train, telegraphed for ambulances to meet the victims in Portland.

R. L. Goldberg by Walt Mason

He's cured our gout and indigestions by picturing the "Foolish Questions," that idle gents are always asking; and in his genial humor basking, we can forget a while the sorrows that seem to threaten our tomorrows.

This Goldberg is so dad-blamed funny he makes all human life more sunny; when you are looking at his drawings you cease your frettings and your pawings, and just lean back and grin and chortle, and say, "His fun is more than mortal." His wit is sure an endless bloomer, and naught can stay his flow of humor. As he maintains his pictured joking, the rich Tuxedo he is smoking. No doubt while plying his vocation, he finds in that an inspiration, like countless others, who, as winners, find "Tux" as useful as their dinners.

"I find in Tuxedo a good tobacco. Its fragrance and flavor are fine. I use it regularly and endorse it highly to all my friends."

PROBATION OFFICER TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

Harry Bulger, Despondent Over Ill Health, Puts Bullet in Brain.

PORTLAND, July 31.—Seated in a chair in the chambers of Judge Clements in the court house, Harry Bulger, chief probation officer of Multnomah county, committed suicide by sending a bullet from a .38 revolver through his head. The bullet passed out the other side and lodged in the wall.

The body was found last night about 7 o'clock by R. Fenkhausen, his brother-in-law, and N. Wagner, night watchman of the courthouse. He had been dead for several hours.

Yesterday afternoon his wife telephoned Fenkhausen, telling him that her husband had gone to the courthouse about 11 o'clock in the morning and had not returned. With the aid of the night watchman Fenkhausen gained entrance to the chambers and made the gruesome discovery.

The body was taken to the morgue in charge of Deputy Coroner Smith. Mrs. Bulger became hysterical at the news of his death and is in a serious condition.

Bulger had been sick for three or four years and during that time underwent two operations. It is this illness that his suicide is attributed.

THESE PROXY WEDDINGS

Chairman Burnett of the committee on Immigration was talking indignantly about Japanese picture brides, 1,800 of whom entered America last year.

"These proxy or picture weddings," said Chairman Burnett, "look very romantic on their face, but at bottom they are sordid enough."

"They remind me a little of the young fellow on the pier who stood on an ash barrel waving his handkerchief frantically at a departing ship."

"Come on! Let's go to lunch," a friend said, looking up at the chap on the barrel. "You've waved enough. Come on!"

"No, I can't," panted the waver, and he flapped his handkerchief harder than before.

"Can't? Why not?"

"She's got a field glass."
