Would You Sacrifice Your Wife for Power

That indescribable temptation that causes its victims to give up honor and even family to accomplish its ends are graphically shown in the William Fox photoplay

AMBITION

By that talented and internationally known emotional actress Mme. BERTHA KALISH. It is a heart gripping story of modern life showing the extent to which a woman will go to aid those she loves.

WOMAN GIVEN TWO DAYS

To Make Up Her Mind for Surgical Operation. She Refused; Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"One year ago I was very sick and I suffered with pains in my side and back until I nearly went crazy. I went to different doctors and they all said I had female trouble and would not get any relief until I would be operated on. I had suffered for four years before this time, but I kept getting worse the more medicine I took. Every month since I was a young girl I had suffered with cramps in my sides at periods and was never regular. I saw your advertisement in the newspaper and the picture of a woman who had been saved from an operation and this picture was impressed on my mind. The doctor had given me only two more days to make up my mind so I sent my husband to the drug store at once for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and believe me, I only took four doses before I felt a change and when I had finished the third bottle I was cured and never felt better. I grant you the privilege to publish my letter and am only too glad to let other women know of my cure."—Mrs. Thos. McGONIGAL, 3432 Hartville Street, Phila., Pa.

need he said, appears in another master motion picture drama of the William Fox perfect in "Ambition," a story of political intrigue in typical American life. In this photodrama the world-famous star finds an outlet for her dramatic art such as in her first picture for the Fox organization, "Slander."

The story of her film experience in "Ambition" is one which every American man and woman should see for it is the epitome of the pitfalls of American present-day existence whether it be in public or private life, love of money for what it will buy and of fame for what it brings in so-called high society.

Marian Powers (Mme. Kalish) is the wife of an ambitious assistant district attorney. He is hopeful of promotion by the political boss of his town. The boss does not think well of Powers and declares he intends selecting another man for the office sought by Powers.

Mrs. Powers, hoping to aid her husband, decided to lay siege to the heart of the boss and does so with the result that the political boss falls in love with her and she with him. Their relations, however, are entirely platonic.

Powers encourages to boss' attention to his wife and seeks in every way to leave them together. The boss inadvertently learns that Powers is willing to sacrifice his own wife for his own political selfish ambition. The boss, in spite of his affection for Mrs. Powers, does not sanction the promotion of Powers. Mrs. Powers realizes the utter unworthiness of her husband and leaves him.

Pastime Thursday and Friday.

Alta Theater Tuesday and Wednesday

For the production of "The Spell of the Yukon," the new Metro five act feature picture, based upon the poem of the same name by Robert W. Service and produced by Popular Plays and Players under the direction of Burton King, an entire Alaskan village was built and set up in the snowy wastes of Northern Canada. The work was done under the supervision of Jacques Suzanne, owner and trainer of the dogteams used in this splendid representation of life in the regions under the pole. Suzanne, three-fourths of whose life has been spent in the open, knows the life of the northern wilderness as perhaps no other man in America knows it.

Mr. Breeze revels in the sort of outdoor life shown in the typical Alaskan scenes called for in the story, and Suzanne says that the compliment of saying he is the best amateur handler of a dog team ever seen south of Nome. The life of the gaming and dance halls, with Faro and roulette in full operation, the dingy little cabins of the "sourdoughs," with their bunks against the walls in Pullman fashion, all are shown in "The Spell of the Yukon," making it as well as a gripping story of human loves and hates. "The Spell of the Yukon" will be shown at the Alta theater on Tuesday and Wednesday.

ORIGINALITY IN BLUEGRASS PLOT

If Deacon Todd had informed his housekeeper that he was going to town for the purpose of buying a Ford, there would have been a great saving of nerve-force on the part of Major Burke, his neighbor across the way, and vastly less red liquor would have been consumed by the said Major Burke.

And if Chet Wells had not openly threatened to "get nunk" with Deacon Todd when the Deacon evicted him from the Todd farm when Chet could no longer raise the rent, some Wells would not have been suspected of the crime of murder.

Furthermore if Emily Burke had not been engaged to marry a rich, young man of the same neighborhood, Chet might never have left for a distant state to make his fortune, and the "Deacon's demise" would never have stirred the whole country-side to its uttermost ends.

Assembling these three facts in one photoplay, "The Secret of the Swamp," to be exhibited at the Cosy Theater on Thursday and Friday will present an entertainment that will lack nothing in sensationalism, that will have a love-story to intensely concern every observer and will finish off after a series of minor ripples of mirth, with one of the biggest "laughs" a photoplay ever carried.

Despite the fact that statistics show more than six million Ford jokes to be in current circulation Bluebird Photoplays have found an absolutely new manner in which to apply a "Henry" to the excellent purposes of laughter.

Myrtle Gonzales and Val Paul with George Hernandez and Frank McQuarrie, will impersonate the principal characters, leading an able company of good size through five acts of photoplaying that is sure to have interest for "movie fans" of every taste and variety.

"Charley" Ray at the Temple Today There are few more popular picture stars before the public today than "Charley" Ray, of the Triangle force. In fact, there was pretty good proof of this recently, when Ray won a popularity contest at Sioux Falls, S. D., by a big majority over his nearest competitor.

The Triangle picture, which gave Ray his biggest hold on the heart-strings of the film fans was "The Coward," in which he appeared with Frank Keenan and displayed talents of the highest order in the portrayal of a difficult role. In "The Dividend," the Triangle feature release he is co-starred with Wm. H. Thompson, veteran of the speaking stage, and again has a strong role, that of a boy driven to desperation through his father's neglect of him, and sinking to the very gutter, through drink and "dope."
