BOISE EDITOR PAYS TRIBUTE TO PENDLETON

IDAHO STATESMAN COMMENDS ROUND-UP AND SPLENDID COMMUNITY SPIRIT THAT IS RESPONSIBLE FOR IT.

One of the finest tributes ever paid to the Round-Up, the people of Pendleton and the Pendleton spirit, is the following editorial in the Boise Idaho, Statesman of July 31, 1916:

"Pendleton has fewer than 7000 inhabitants, but in that small number has developed a community spirit that deserves a tribute. Six years ago the little Oregon town held her first Round-Up, a kind of frontier or buckaroo show that has since been widely imitated. The attendance has grown from 10,000 to 75,000. That it is a good show is attested by many visitors and is evident from its growing popularity.

"But the most striking characteristic of Pendleton in its annual festival is its community spirit and co-operation. One paid official is at the head of the Round-Up, and all the rest of the work, whether pleasant or unpleasant, dignified or menial, is rendered by the people themselves. Naturally the Round-Up is about as busy a time as the people have through the year, but this does not prevent the business and professional men from joining the women and youngsters to do by their own efforts the vast amount of personal work required in the big celebration. A bank president, for example, acts as usher in the grandstand, and the manager of the department store shuts up shop and distributes programs. They put themselves eagerly to the work, with the result that under the trained direction of the man at the head the big event is run off with a smoothness, efficiency and economy of operation that accounts for its repeated success. Once every year practically everybody in Pendleton places himself freely at the service of the community."

7 ARE INDICTED FOR MURDER IN BOMB OUTRAGE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3.—The grand jury has indicted Warren Billings, Thomas Mooney, Mrs. Rann Mooney, Israel Weinberg and Edward Nolan on a charge of murder as a result of the bomb outrage. There were two secret indictments. There are eight murder counts on each indictment, one count for each victim except Adam Fox, an aged man. District Attorney Fickert did not consider Fox a direct bomb victim. He died of heart failure from excitement when the bomb burst. A special bomb squad is hunting two more suspects. Seeing ourselves as others see us, we should be at a loss to know which was we.

Seven Airships Again Raid East Coast of England; No Damage

LONDON, Aug. 3.—The official announcement of last night's Zeppelin raid says: "The damage was astonishingly small. Seven airships dropped eighty bombs on the east coast. Nine horses were killed and three horses injured. The raiders visited Norfolk, Suffolk, Essex and Kent. British anti-aerostats scored several hits."

AUTO TRAVELS 3600 MILES ON HIGH GEAR

Pathfinder Arrives in New York After Trip Cross Continent.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—A Pathfinder twin six touring car arrived in New York yesterday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock, completing a 3600 mile trip from San Diego, Cal., on high gear. It left the coast city on July 3.

When the car left the exposition grounds at San Diego her transmission was so sealed that she could not possibly run except on high gear. Walter A. Weldley and Helme Scholler were the pilots.

The machine is a 1912 model and was the official car of the exposition. It is widely known as "Old Lena," and has crossed the continent 11 times.

Seven Airships Again Raid East Coast of England; No Damage

"For the evening's diversion of the visitors, 'Happy Canyon,' as they call it, is provided in the heart of the city. This is a miniature old-time frontier street, with its 'Stagger Inn,' 'Spenders' Bank' and 'Red Dog Saloon and Gambling Parlor.' At the latter one may plunge recklessly at faro or roulette, but the only money that goes there is the imitation money sold for the purpose at some such price as $100 of 'Happy Canyon money' for a dollar. Here the fare dealer is likely to be a bank cashier and the roulette wheel is spun by the man who possesses the elite of the town.

"The whole atmosphere is one of hospitality. The commercial element is subordinated, and any attempt to exploit the tourist, to work the event for what there is in it for the people of the town, would be frowned on. Under this kind of efficient management, carried on by voluntary workers under a single trained expert and in an atmosphere of welcome hospitality, the Round-Up has not only created for Pendleton a warm place in the hearts of her visitors, but has become so financially profitable that from its proceeds they have laid out a beautiful city park, a public natatorium and all manner of improvements. Everything connected with it is treated as a community asset, and all the profits go to the community.

"A city that can within a few years build up such an institution as this and has at its disposal such a wealth of community spirit, has gone a long way in solving the problem of civic fellowship and is entitled to congratulations."

Several black bears have been seen in the same vicinity recently.
