FEARS FOR RESULT. (Continued from Page 1.) recdunt near Hulloch and attempted a raid. Machine guns halted the charge before they reached the trenches. An Athens dispatch said Greek troops around Seres were evacuating positions and retreating southward under the Greek government's orders. The retreat was ordered after the Bulgarians had shelled the Greeks several hours. The Athens dispatch indicated the Greek commander had prepared a determined resistance. Government officials overruled him, and ordered the withdrawal. A delayed Bulgarian statement claimed further progress around Seres. It stated the allies were retreating all along the Strama right bank. The Germans admitted the allies left wing has checked the Bulgarians. The French war office claimed the Serbians had forced the Bulgarians to retreat at some points.

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—Sofia announced the Bulgarians drove the allies across the Strama river. The French and British abandoned several hundred dead. The Sofia statement said "Enemy drove the ground near the villages of Kraljevo, Mavroy and Terevna. We counted four hundred corpses, including several officers. We captured two hundred and fifty prisoners. Our cavalry lured a squadron of hostile cavalry into our fire. The enemy was literally annihilated. French attacks lasted ten days against positions south and west of Dolran Lake. They failed completely. This is probably the reason why General Sarrail announces the capture of places which have always been in the allies hands, like the Dolran railroad station. Our troops buried fifty French dead in this sector. We captured a hostile detachment on the right bank of the Varadar and took one machine gun. The French left seventy dead." Heavy Attacks at Somme. PARIS, Aug. 24.—It is announced the French repulsed two attacks near Roye-Court south of the Somme. Four German aeroplanes were destroyed. German grenadiers made the first attack. Machine gun and rifle fire caused a retreat. Artillery fire sheeted the French trenches in flames. French guns placed a curtain of fire before the German defenses. The Teutons were unable to leave their own trenches. The French repulsed several surprise attacks in Champagne. The Germans shelled new French positions northeast of Verdun. The French captured two hundred and fifty prisoners in this sector. Russians Defeat 80,000 Turks. PETROGRAD, Aug. 24.—It is announced the Russians have defeated eighty thousand Turks near Mosul. They captured two entire regiments, many cannon and much booty.

MISS PEARSON'S NEW FILM SUTS HER PERFECTLY "A Tortured Heart," William Fox Photodrama, Story of South for Southern Beauty—Troupe Goes to Georgia—Some of Actors Do Not Like Dixie and Mourning for French Broad and Morning Tubs. In the southern story told in picture form in William Fox's "A Tortured Heart," Virginia Pearson, that southern beauty of filmland, has just the role which befits her beauty and dramatic acting. For the tale unfolded in "A Tortured Heart" is filled with all the wholesomeness of the southland and the beauty of Dixie all of which is impersonated in Miss Pearson, whom a noted artist has termed "the most perfect American type of womanhood."

When the noted stage and film actress arrived at Savannah she was so happy to be back "in Dixie" that Director Will S. Davis had much trouble in getting her to do her work, but once started Miss Pearson put a "southern" into her acting which is plainly noticeable in the film. For Miss Pearson is a daughter of Dixie, born and reared in the genuine old southern fashion on her father's plantation near Louisville, Ky. Near Savannah the exterior scenes of the picture play were taken in order to get the proper southern scenery and atmosphere. The interior parts had been filmed in the William Fox studios along New York City where the best interior lighting facilities are obtainable. Genuine old English furniture such as was common in southern homes "fore 'n' war" is seen in the indoor scenes. The exteriors are just as genuine with old-fashioned bowers and gardens and negroes of the "ragged" type.

At her country home near New York, Virginia Pearson lives much as a woman of wealth and royal blood in none of the American simplicity of the southern states. But when she returned to the southland she forgot all of her new-learned ways and ate "hot bread" as the only it can be baked in Dixie, and "sorghum" and sugar yams just as any plantation girl would. Stuart Holmes, the movie villain who has a most villainous part with Miss Pearson in this picture, was about the only one of the strong cast who did not appreciate the southern specialties of the table. He was always talking about Broadway, and lobster and the dancing "polkas."

Every member of the company is a star, vocal and instrumental numbers rendered by soloists and ensemble, dancing, hoop rolling and original jokes and quips makes up a program that fairly hums from start to finish and keeps the audience in the best of humor throughout the evening's performance. Every joke is new and the lines of comedy is side-splitting variety. Herndon is a celebrity. He is known as the "World's Greatest Hoop Controller." When a hoop is in his hands it becomes almost human. One cannot really believe the things that he does with hoops possible, but the best way to be convinced is to attend the Nashville Students performance at the Alta on Sunday and Monday. Don't fail to hear Prof. Elmer Moore and his Tango Band in a free concert at 7:20 p. m. in front of the theater.

Based upon Eleanor H. Abbott's serial in Everybody's Magazine, the Bluebird Photoplay entitled "Little Eve Edgerton" will be the attraction at the Cosy today, with Herbert Rawlinson and Ella Hall playing the principal roles. There was nothing commonplace about the printed narrative and in adapting it to the screen Robert Z. Leonard, its producer, has made a picture-drama that adds new value to the original story. Going to the mountains of California for its rugged and picturesque exterior settings, the camera artists wait-
