High Prices Readily Traceable to Basic Laws of Sopply and Bennand Says U. S. Crop Expert.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Leon M. Estabrook, chief of the United States bureau of crop estimates, declared the high cost of living was temporary. The high prices are purely commercial readily traceable to the basic laws of supply and demand.

It is predicted the present abnorma prices of man; food staples will adjust themselves within another seaso A sudden decrease in production this ear naturally sent prices skyward. The European armies demand caused beans to increase from five to eleven cents in one year. High meat prices are the result of steady production decrease while the demand mounts steadily. Estabrook infimated that half a dozen large packing houses controlled cattle prices until the cattle industry became unprofitable.
