HINTS OF HARVEST.

Now and then there comes a tingle in the blowing of the breeze... A whisper of cool mornings... A sigh of the summer by the valleys and the streams...

NATIONAL DISASTER AVERTED BY A CAPABLE, COURAGEOUS PRESIDENT

To save the country from an industrial war that would have shook it from end to end and might have jarred the very foundations of our government...

SEX LINE IN MODESTY

At intervals, every summer, attempts are made by individuals, organizations, or public authorities, to compel women bathers to put on shoes and stockings...

Wherever the facts as to the normal situation are known there is support for the measure to establish a school at Pendleton...

ity of purpose he has given the nation an economic freedom for which the people had waited long in vain...

No fair minded voter can look upon the president's record without feelings of admiration and gratitude. His services have been so powerful and so effective that the opposition has no leg to stand upon.

THEY WILL FIGHT HIM WITH MONEY

THOUGH the president's work in averting the strike will endear him to the rank and file of the people the East Oregonian predicts that his stand will cause the campaign of ridicule and abuse directed against him to be carried on with much greater intensity than in the past.

The resentment by Wall street will be shown in an increased campaign fund for Hughes. The railroads as such cannot contribute to political funds, but there is no law to keep railroad owners from so contributing.

MOTHER KILLS A MILITIA CAPTAIN

Mrs. M. C. Adams, wife of an Atlanta laundryman, and mother of three children, killed Captain Edgar J. Spratling, a well known doctor of Atlanta, at the Georgia militia mobilization camp at Mason.

There are higher things in life for a woman than a good complexion—a pretty bonnet, for instance.

age and devotion have been proven.

With the strike trouble arranged there is nothing in the way of that record-breaking Round-Up crowd.
