V. L. S. E. BIG FOUR PRESENTS THE VITAGRAPH BLUE RIBBON FEATURE

THE TARANTULA

6-ACTS-6

THE FAMOUS STARS EDITH STOREY and ANTONIO MORENO ARE FEATURED

A VIVID HUMAN STORY THAT IS ABOVE PAR EXCELLENCE.

Tragic, pepful, human—"The Tarantula" is a drama of life as it is—no sham, but reality, with a love note as sweet as it is plaintive.

She learned too late that "men kiss and ride away." But this time the man paid the piper.

THIS PICTURE HAS CRE-ATED A SENSATION IN EVERY CITY IN THE
COUNTRY. BE SURE TO SEE IT.

What the Picture Theaters Have to Tell You.

Edith Storey and Antonio Moreno in Wonderful Picture—"The Tarantula" Has Good Moral.

Showing at the Pastime today is the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon triumph, "The Tarantula" featuring the king and queen of the silent drama, Edith Storey and Antonio Moreno. This is one of the best acted pictures we have had the pleasure in presenting for some time. The woman always pays has been the popular belief from time immemorial but in this picture the man is made to pay the price. The story is laid in Cuba, the theme is exceptionally strong. The scenes are beautiful, being all in Spanish settings and the outdoor scenes are all of the southland. Taken as a whole this is a very entertaining offering and one we are sure will please.

Alta Theater.

Now that the speaking stage has begun to come into its own again, the managers of the various producing companies are loosening up on their purses strings in order to fit their companies out with the most pleasing people, scenery, costumes and plays, that can be secured.

It is upon this basis that Mrs. E.
Lang has been enabled to gather into the Famous Bostonians some fascinating new people to fill vacancies of the girls who either for a husband or broadway have left the company.

Manager Cooper has booked them to open at the Alta on September 21st playing a tuneful Irish piece called "Tipperary Mary." Following this they will produce "Irons," a south sea tale of the light opera order, sparkling with bright dialogue on a background of beautiful scenery.

There have been many musical comedies produced in the past but not any more melodious or with fun-nier situations than "The Golden Slipper," which will be their third offering.

The action of "The Rose of Honolulu," the final bill of this engagement, takes place in and around the city of Honolulu, rightly called the Paradise of the Pacific. The settings lend themselves to splendid opportunity for the display of some elaborate scene and costume effects.

Most of the old favorites are with the organization and with them some new pleasing personalities backed up with good ability and good voices. On of these, a young Australian songbird, named Charli Bennett. The first time the company has ever had a man with them to play the male leads.

Patsie Henry, Ima Mitchell, Doris Canfield, Corinne and Lillian Hebert, Mabel Coffin, Ethel Naylor, Hazel Hart, Faye Byard, Dottie Brown and Myrtle James are among those young ladies who will be present.

At the Cosy.

The quaint story of the adoption, education and later-day romance of Miss Petticoats, granddaughter of an old New Bedford whaling captain has been immortalized on the screen through the efforts of William A.
Brady, who has had the famous story of "Miss Petticoats" adopted to motion pictures, and filmed under the direction of Harley Knoyes, with a strong cast headed by Alice Brady, supported by such star players as Arthur Ashley, Johnny Hines, Alex B.
Francis and Mildred Havens.

A company consists of 25 actors and actresses invaded the quiet city of New Bedford, on the rocky coast of the state of Massachusetts, and there proceeded to film the story of Miss Petticoats, who, in the story in Dwight Tilton's book, is a New Bedford girl, the granddaughter of a fishing schooner captain. The life of the girl while on the old fishing vessel, in the cotton mills, and while secretary and companion in a fashionable home has been photographed in its entirety in the atmosphere and locale used by the author of the book. An old schooner was prepared, where the scenes were filmed, and Miss Brady, the star in this feature photoplay, spent several days in one of the big mills watching the girls work, later doing work herself.

Is not exaggerating matters in the least in saying that no motion picture has yet been produced in which the producing company was so successful in procuring exactly the required locations for all its scenes as this feature version of "Miss Petticoats," which is the attraction coming at the Cosy theater on Tuesday and Wednesday.

FAIRY EPISODE IN "MARRIAGE OF MOLLY O"

New Triangle Play Is An Irish Story and Therefore Must Have Something About the Little People.

"The Marriage of Molly O," the new Triangle play featuring Mae Marsh and Robert Harron, is a romantic story of Irish people, laid in the most romantic locations, Ireland itself. It could not possibly be complete without some reference to the little people, who, as everyone knows, work the livelong day and night to correct the wrong done by humans.
They are, in short, the poetic justice of a great nation.

The fairy episode in "The Marriage of Molly O" is a story told by the hero—the very truth of a boy—to a pretty colleen whom he loves dearer than his life. It is the story of the fairy queen, who has fallen in love with one prince, but who is under obligations to marry another whom she hates. Then a duel takes place between the two suitors, and the good prince is victorious. However, the fairy queen is given to understand that the one she loves has been killed. So she directs her attendants to carry to the victor the flower of death, one smell of which means instant death. The good prince smells of this flower and duly expires. And when the beautiful queen learns what she has done she too smells of the flower.

By putting himself and his rival in the places of the two princes, and Molly O in the place of the fairy queen, the hero of "The Marriage of Molly O" works very neatly upon the heart of his lady-love; and although she is loth, through natural modesty, to admit it, she falls deeply in love with him.

FANNIE WARD, LASKY STAR IN PARAMOUNT PICTURES.

Although cats are not Fannie Ward's hobby, yet she has always been a lover of animals, and in her home in California, where she has been spending the majority of her time recently making Paramount Pictures at the Lasky studio, she has a cat that would be the envy of any cattery in the country, it being presented to her by a friend of Jack Dean, her husband, who is in country representing one of the warring nations and who has been a friend of Miss Ward's for years. The cat is valued at many thousands of
