A THRILL FROM START TO FINISH IS VERDICT OF ROUND-UP CROWD AT THE FIRST DAY'S PERFORMANCE

Not An Accident of Any Consequence Detracts From Wonderful Exhibition But Tumbles Aplenty Keep Throng on Tip-Toes of Suspense—Drunken Ride is Electrifying.

RUFUS ROLLEN MAKES GREAT RIDE ON BACK OF ANGEL

Pendleton's seventh annual Round-Up got away to a flying start yesterday afternoon and when tomorrow night comes there is every indication that it will be voted another great municipal achievement for the capital of eastern Oregon.

The attendance yesterday was greater than the attendance at the Friday show of 1915, according to the official figures, and today it promises to be as great as the Saturday crowd last year. The weather is perfect, the contestants many and strong and event followed event without hitch, delay or confusion.

Not an accident of any consequence marred the performance. There were tumbles aplenty, enough to bring the crowd to its feet and make it realize the dangers of these frontier sports, but in every case the riders were quickly up announcing with a wave to the grandstand that they were unhurt.

The nearest thing to a serious accident occurred just at the end of Sid Seale's thrilling drunken ride. Seale, mounted on a spirited black horse, had taken the bridle off the animal, and, standing erect in the saddle with his feet held by straps, he had dashed about the track at breakneck speed, drinking from a bottle, swaying backward and yelling like a typical drunken cowboy. It was one of the most electrifying rides ever seen at a Round-Up and, as Seale rode back around the track he was given a great ovation. His steed, frightened perhaps at the cheering, dashed across the track just in front of the grandstand and Seale, without bridle, was unable to check it. The horse and rider crashed through the fence and went down in a heap. Both were quickly up, but not so eager Newton of Miles City, Montana, who had been sitting on the fence. When the dust cleared away he was found sprawling on the ground. The Red Cross quickly carried him away and revived him so that within ten minutes he had taken place among fancy ropers.

In the bucking contest yesterday many good riders were entered, a fact attested by the few throws made by the outlaws. Only two riders hit the dust and one other pulled leather. The others rode, some in form that will land them in the semi-finals and some in form that left much to be desired by the judges.

Rollen's Great Ride. Perhaps greatest of all rides yesterday was that made by Rufus Rolten of Claremore, Okla., on the back of Angel. Rolten is one of the best bronc riders in the country, and came here from a win in a big contest at Kansas City. Angel is the horse that made Lou Minor champion in 1912 and never since that time has he bucked as he did yesterday and never since then has he been so ridden. The big day began pivoting like a pinwheel until it seemed the cowboy must fall through dizzyness. Falling in this tactics, the animal leaped forward in great bounds but was unable to snake the rider that kept raking his sides with sharp steel.

George Fletcher, colored boy who won second in 1912, made a sensational ride on Caldesas that pleased the crowd. Yakima Canutt, who won second last year, had poor luck in the drawing. Old Comal falling to test his real ability.

Ed McCarty of Cheyenne, one of the best of cowboys, drew Whittins Angle, one of the best of horses, and he was a match for all her wicked arts though he didn't tempt fate by scratching her. Mike Hastings tried hard to get some buck out of Headlight by dising him in the shoulders and the animal seemed to prefer romping.

Sundance was more than a match for Tex White. After the first few bounds, the cowboy went down for the horns and he pulled it without any attempt to dissemble. Buck Fresh got up in the middle of Corbett and before he got down he had his hat, his shirt tail and almost his seat.

Henry Warren, a good rider, drew a race horse in Bald Hornett and could not really show what he could do. Simon Jack, Athena Indian, rode Wiggles in showy style. Wigglet bucked hard and the Indian never loosened up his spurs.

Wardlaw, the little Arizona horse that gets about 50 per cent of his riders, added a new one to his string yesterday when he propelled into space W. F. Blacett, a brother of Dell Red Bush, rode Ritter straight up and over the fence but he kept his spurs in the cinch. John Muir was never in trouble on High Tower, which animal was only mediocre. Butter Creek ran away with Roy Jones, who did not try overly hard to get the buck out of his mount. One of the most spectacular of bucks was that of L. B. Dam and Clay Porter rode him in nice form right through the fence. James Shuster, the cowboy who had been declared the best equipped cowboy in the parade, was the last rider up. He mounted Smithy, and, after staying a few jumps, got his clothes dirtied in the dust.

Mabel De Long Wins. In the cowgirls' relay race, always one of the most popular of events, the race yesterday indicated that Bertha Blacett, former champion, and Mabel De Long of Wallula will be fighting it out Saturday for first honors. Miss De Long won yesterday by a small margin by reason of time gained in one change when she went from one horse to another without touching the ground. There are two other contestants in this race, Edith Irwin of Cheyenne and Katie Wilkes of The Dalles, but it is apparent that they will have to contest for third unless one of the others meets with an accident.

Allan Drumheller of Walla Walla made a great start yesterday toward retaining his title as champion relay rider and champion pony express rider, winning both events. He has a wonderful string of horses and is one of the best riders that has been seen on the local track.

The steer roping was featured by the fact that every contestant caught his steer with his first cast of the rope, something rarely seen and that indicates the caliber of the ropers drawn here by the big purse.

In the stagecoach race as usual there was a pileup. One of the lead horses driven by Jack McDonald got mixed up with the traces and brought the coach to a halt when it was leading the Roach four. The coach stayed upright and, as soon as the horses were straightened out, the team finished the race.

Right in the midst of the program and giving the nerves of the spectators a rest came the grand mounted cowboy and Indian parade led by the American flag. Several hundred cowboys, the directors and pennant bearers and Round-Up band filed by only to make room for the most brilliant Indian spectacle ever seen here, and that is saying much for the Indian feature of the Round-Up has always been one of the most spectacular features. This year, however, there were more Indians in the parade than in past years, the Nez Perces of Idaho having sent over a carload to join with Umatillas, Cayuses and Walla Wallas. Their barbaric thery made a lot of color and sent the women spectators in ecstasies of delight. The parade ended with a mad charge across the arena. Almost immediately a dozen or more fancy ropers, including such famous experts as Chester Evers, Sammy Garrett, Cuba Crutchfield, Rufus Rolten, Buff Jones and Floyd Irwin took the track to amuse the audience by the marvles which they performed with the running noose. The writhing twisting rope seemed like a thing alive. The trick riders were hardly less astonishing in their typical cowboy and cowboy acts.

The Indian races were great favorites with the crowd, which rose and cheered frantically for the favorites. Most exciting of all the events was that which came last, the wild horse race. It was a grand climax to four hours of exciting entertainment and a worthy end to the performance. If the Round-Up has ever had a wilder bunch of wild horses than those brought out yesterday, no one remembers it. Racing, pitching, fighting, the little animals fought with all their strength against the indignity of being saddled and, when they were all mounted at once, there was more doing than any one pair of eyes could follow. Some proved real buckers and cast their riders off. Some proved nice racers but had no regard for direction or distance. Others fell down and rolled over, and still others balked. It was almost ten minutes before Sammy Garrett, Mack Gaunt and Dick Martin spurred their mounts across the finish mark as winners.

Altogether it was a great Round-Up and there were none present who will forget it.

Permanent Muscular Strength cannot exist where there is not blood strength. Young men giving attention to muscular development should bear this in mind. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives blood strength and builds up the whole system.—Adv.

The following officers were installed in Pendleton Review by Alice O'Daniel, installing officer: Dorothy McKiernan, commander; Sarah Morton, lieutenant commander; Ella Reager, record keeper; Hattie Ferguson, finance auditor; Hattie J. Davis, chaplain; Laura Howard, lady at arms; Martha Greulich, sergeant; Clara Schuman, sentinel; Minnie Brown, picket; Laura Humphrey, musician; Lillian Himes, captain; Ellen Wheelock, first color bearer; Minnie Daniel, second color bearer.

Dr. and Mrs. Gaunt of Holdman and Dr. Gaunt's father of Iowa, are guests during the Round-Up of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McBea.

Mrs. Hattie A. Hewett and young daughter, of the Grays Harbor country, near Monte Sano, have arrived for a visit with Mrs. Hewett's brother, Ed Stumberry and also to again see the Round-Up. Mrs. Hewett and her daughter made the entire trip over the Blue road and Highway in a Ford runabout, alone. No trouble at all was experienced. The complete journey will cover about 500 miles.

Word has been received in this city of the birth of a nine pound son to Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Fullington at San Jose. Mr. and Mrs. Fullington are residents of Umatilla.

Among the numerous Portlanders who have gone or are contemplating going to the Round-Up at Pendleton are Mr. and Mrs. Carlos L. Unna—Portland Oregonian.

N. D. Kettle of Pomeroy is here. D. C. Sanderson of the Freewater Times, is in town.

Metta Stuppe and Norman Ruppe of Portland are here today. Miss Jean Stevens, prominent Portland society girl, is in the city.

State Treasurer Ben W. Olcott is a Round-Up visitor from Salem. Robert Kronan came over from Lone yesterday to attend the show.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Fagan of Meacham are here attending the Round-Up. Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Frost, formerly of Pendleton but now located in Portland, are Round-Up visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. James D. Foley of Portland, are Round-Up visitors. Mr. Foley is claim agent for the S. P. & S. E. C. W. Kay, former star University of Oregon athlete, son of State Treasurer Thomas B. Kay, is a Round-Up visitor from Salem.

C. E. Heywood, route agent for the Northern Pacific, is here attending the Round-Up, as is also W. W. Ward, superintendent of that company.

Miss Jessie McKewen, Miss Betty Keefe of Texas, Mrs. Ralph McKewen, Ralph McKewen are here until after the Round-Up.

The following compose an Astoria party reaching here by auto this morning: Harvey Blanchard, J. M. Gillispie, H. C. Patterson, H. P. Harrison and Ed Donnelly.

HERMISTON HAY PALACE WINNER

Immediately after breakfast, Mr. J. F. Robinson of this city, took Mr. Hill and his four children to the Round-Up trout, and it is the intention of the Hill party to attend both the Friday and Saturday performances. The party will leave Saturday evening for Seattle. The Hill automobile, which always accompanies the railroad magnate, was unloaded in the depot yards this morning, and will be used Saturday morning by Mr. Hill in touring the country around Pendleton.

Mr. Hill's private secretary, Mr. J. A. Brown, is with the party.

Robbery is Reported. While walking along the O.-W. railroad track last night about 11 o'clock a Round-Up visitor was held up and several dollars were taken from him. The man reported his loss to the police following the affair. He stated that he was forced to hold up his hands by the robber who thrust a gun in his face. No identification was able to be obtained of the thief.

NOVEL EXHIBIT ON MAIN STREET ATTRACTS MUCH ATTENTION—SHOWS ADVANCE

The novel hay palace on Main street adjoining the O.-W. grounds is attracting much attention among the Round-Up crowds. All day yesterday and this morning the place has been crowded with interested spectators.

The little house is constructed of baled hay which was brought to Pendleton this week from Hermiston and in it are exhibits from the Umatilla Water Users' association, the Umatilla Orchards Lands project and the Western Land and Irrigation Company. The exhibit includes fruits, and vegetables. The exhibit bears out the prediction made eight years ago that Hermiston in a short time would be a golden country. On these very places where less than eight years ago there was nothing for the passerby to see but sagebrush, today green fields of alfalfa and wonderful orchards abound.

A total of 957 carloads of alfalfa have been shipped from the Hermiston country since June 5. One of the exhibits which has created most interest is a stalk of corn 14 foot eight inches in height. Beautiful apples, large clusters of grapes and other fruits complete the exhibit.

The men in charge of the "palace" during the show are E. O. Comery, Ed Stewart, H. M. Sommer and Ralph Allen.

WOMEN'S STOMACH TROUBLES

The Great Woman's Medicine Often Just What Is Needed.

We are so used to thinking of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a remedy exclusively for female ills that we are apt to overlook the fact that it is one of the best remedies for disorders of the stomach.

For stomach trouble of women it is especially adapted, as it works in complete harmony with the female organism, since it contains the extracts of the best tonic roots and herbs. It tones up the digestive system, and increases the appetite and strength. Here is what one woman writes showing what this medicine does:

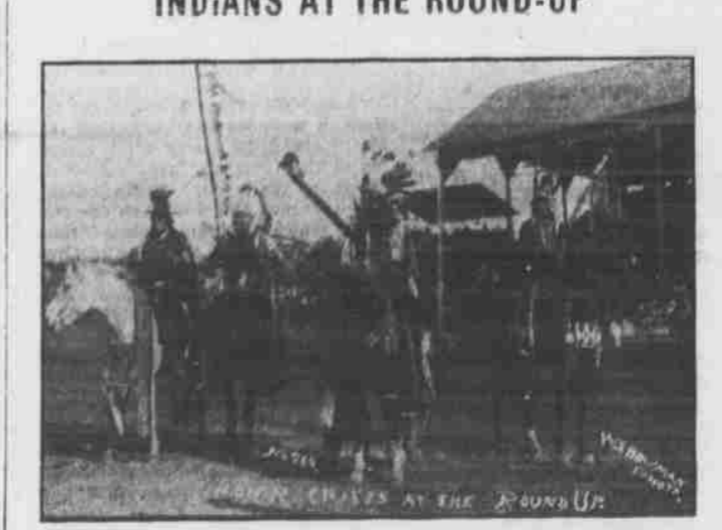

Newfield, N. Y.—"I am so pleased to say I can recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as an economical and beneficial remedy in most ailments pertaining to women. At least I found it so by only taking two bottles. I had indigestion in a bad form and I am now feeling in the best of health and owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. BURR WILLIAMS, R. D. No. 29, Newfield, N. Y.

Many women suffer from that "all gone feeling," and "feel so faint," while doing their work. Ten chances to one their digestive system is all out of order. A tablespoonful of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after each meal should completely remedy this condition in a few days.
