AUTUMN FIRES.

- In the other gardens
- And all up the vale
- From the autumn bonfires
- See the smoke trail!
- Pleasant summer over
- And all the summer flowers
- The red fire blazes
- The gray smoke towers
- Sing a song of seasons!
- Something bright in all!
- Flowers in the summer
- Fire in the fall!

—Robert Louis Stevenson.

CONGRATULATORY

SEVEN times has the Round-Up been held and each time it has been a success. But on no occasion has the success of the show been so gratifying as this year. This because the crowd in attendance Saturday was the greatest in history and never were the events more thoroughly enjoyed.

To the Round-Up directors hearty congratulations are due and by all means the same is true of the men who managed the affairs of Happy Canyon. Having been forced to move from the old location the directors this year were up against an exceedingly difficult game. It required nerve to erect that new Happy Canyon pavilion and take a chance on securing patronage to justify the expense. But the results vindicated the judgment of the directors in striking fashion.

One reason the Round-Up attendance keeps up lies in the fact the city provides a spirited but wholesome evening entertainment. Happy Canyon is essential to the success of the Round-Up and it should always be kept up to standard.

A HUMAN PROBLEM

DEFENDING the eight hour law for trainmen President Wilson expressed sentiments that are profoundly wholesome and strike a responsive chord because of the genuine Americanism displayed:

"Labor is not a commodity. It is a form of co-operation and if I may make a man believe in me, know that I am just, that I want to share the profits of success with him, I can get 10 times as much out of him as if he thought I were his antagonist. And his labor is cheap at any price. That is the human side of it and the human side extends to this conception, that that laboring man is a partner of his employer.

"If he is a mere tool of his employer he is only serviceable as a tool. His enthusiasm does not go into it. He does not plan how the work shall be better done. He does not look upon the aspect of the business or enterprise as a whole and wish to co-operate the advantage of his brains and his invention to the success of it as a whole. Human relationship, my fellow citizens, is governed by the heart, and if the heart is not in it nothing is in it."

Those things are true and it is good to have such sentiments

Hold It!

When Director Del Henderson yelled these instructions to Owen Moore, as he popular Famous Players star dangled over the river, it is no wonder that a gasp of protest escaped from his lips. It all happened during the stage of an adaptation of Rol Cooper's celebrated comedy-drama "Rolling Stones," a Paramount Picture, in which Owen Moore and Mabel Delong are starring.

expressed by a president of the United States. It is an offset to those who arrogantly look upon labor as always the offenders, who prate of the labor menace and who think nothing is right unless right from the standpoint of capital. There has of late years been too much of the "let them eat grass" spirit in this country. It is a dangerous spirit because the capital-labor issue cannot be settled on a basis of insolent disregard for the man who works.

President Wilson made more than a campaign speech at Shadow Lawn Saturday. He extolled the humanity of labor.

A VALUABLE HELPER

DURING our big show some people made it a point to come here and campaign against President Wilson. Had it not been for the president's action in stopping the great railroad strike there would probably have been no crowd here and therefore no campaigners. In assigning credit for the success of the Pendleton Round-Up for 1916 a measure of praise should go to the man who roped and hogged the greatest prospective railroad strike in the history of the world.

28 Years Ago Today

(From the Daily East Oregonian, Sept. 25, 1888.)

Mrs. Rachel Yeakum, mother of Judge H. Y. Yeakum of Nolin, died at the residence of her son Saturday last.

The pleasure of boat riding are experienced in Pendleton on a small scale by means of a raft moored under the Main street bridge, which is chartered by its owners for the insignificant sum of five cents.

Dick Nye is in town today from the ranch on a visit.

The boy editor of the Home Press, who was down yesterday on business, reports that seven new residences are now under way at Centerville.

The editor of the East Oregonian was hospitably entertained while in Salem by those good people, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Webb and their daughter, Mrs. Frazier.

Judge Fee left for Union last night to hold a term of court at that place for a young and inexperienced judge and his first term upon the bench. Mr. Fee has won the good opinion of the bar and the people generally.

The irrepressible John McGarry has skipped. His numerous creditors are mourning.

Wirt Miner, W. H. Parsons and Charles H. Carter, attorneys, are in Centerville today on business.

It is extremely probable that Pendition will not have a woolen mill this fall nor a paper mill nor the Hunt's railroad nor a thousand and one things it ought to have, unless the people bestir themselves.

The drill to be used in excavating for a second vein in the Unatilla county coal mine is now being manufactured at the Pendleton machine shop.

WILSON'S ELECTION IS CERTAIN SAYS BRYAN AFTER TOUR

ASBURY PARK, Sept. 25.—President Wilson and his wife left Asbury Park en route to Baltimore this morning. Wilson delivers his most important speech there this afternoon. Bryan believes Wilson's reelection is certain since he canvassed the situation. He wrote personal friends saying that Wilson is "gaining everywhere." Party leaders declared that Bryan's tour was most successful. Great crowds greeted Bryan everywhere.

HELD FOR LARCENY.

N. L. Broda was this morning bound over to the grand jury on a charge of the larceny of $55 from R. P. Garrison. The alleged theft was committed on Friday at the Hotel Pendleton. Broda, who has been clerking in a local store for two weeks, had been staying at the hotel and offered to share his room with Garrison. It was known that he had no money. Garrison missed his own money from his pockets in the morning. It was found that Broda had paid his bill and departed. Deputy Sheriff Ester apprehended him at Echo and brought him back.

Here's Always a Reason Why

"How is it that Marguerite Clark always looks so bright and fresh upon the screen, whether she has been working all day in the hottest weather or under the most trying conditions?"

That is a question which many of her admirers have asked. The answer is simple enough. She is very particular about what she eats, and she never eats a large quantity of any one vegetable.

This picture shows her enjoying a frugal meal during the taking of some exterior scenes for the Famous Players-Paramount Picture "Little Lady Elton." The repast consisted entirely of vegetables in one form or another, with a little pot of tea to finish it off. Miss Clark is very sparing in her diet and frequently does not touch food all day, claiming that it is the surest way to cure headaches and weariness.

The little leafy head gear was fashioned for Miss Clark by Harry Lee, one of the members of her company, because the broiling hot sun was pouring down upon the diminutive star and threatened to completely obliterate her if she did not have some protection.
