

HOG MARKET IS TRIFLE WEAKER

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 25.—This has been a week of rather erratic hog prices, but during the trading higher values were eventually reached.

The position of the hog market was higher at the start of the week than at the opening, and at the closing there appeared a really stronger tone than at the start.

The approach of stubble hog shipping time is causing some weakness among the big buyers. They have been adverse to prevailing prices, and their takings have been mainly at lower values. The immediate future of the market price depends upon the volume of arrivals, and whether outside interests will come and take hold of offerings. If they do, the market will remain good.

General hog market:
Choice light weights..... $9.75@9.85
Good light weights..... 9.50@9.60
Medium weights..... 9.00@9.25
Rough heavy..... 8.50@8.75

Cattle Market is Firm.
Liberal strength was shown in the cattle market at North Portland for the week. The run was slightly in excess of that of the previous week, but a better class of stuff came forward in general and average sales were higher.

Real good cattle are showing a firm tone, and the outlook for the future is good.

General cattle market range:
Prime light steers..... $6.00@6.75
Prime heavy steers..... 5.90@7.00
Good light steers..... 6.00@6.25
Stockers and feeders..... 5.00@5.75
Prime dehorned cows and heifers..... 5.40
Common cows..... 4.00@5.00
Bulls..... 3.50@4.50
Prime light veal calves..... 7.00@7.50
Prime heavy veal calves..... 4.00@6.00

Sheep Market is Firmer.
General strength was shown in the mutton and lamb trade at North Portland for the week. There was a slight decrease in the run as compared with the previous week and, as heretofore, the bulk of the stuff came direct to local buyers from their country buyers. Sales of lambs were made at an advance, tops going at $5.50 during the week.

General mutton and lamb market:
Select spring lambs..... 8.50
Ordinary lambs..... 7.75@8.00
Best yearlings..... 6.50@6.75
Good to common wethers..... 5.75@6.00
Best ewes..... 5.00@5.25
Heavy common ewes..... 3.50@4.00

CRITICISES ACTION
There seems to be a misunderstanding in regard to the personnel of the women who are waging the fight in the suffrage states, which they propose to take to the polls in November against the democratic party. The attack upon the democratic party was not instigated by the western women, nor is it being carried on by them. It is the rebaptized Congressional Union under the name of the Woman's party with the same leaders and financial support which is doing the work. The plans were formed and the purposes declared long since the Congressional Union in Washington, and the organization was perfected in Chicago at the time of the republican and progressive conventions.

Had the movement been originated and conducted or even welcomed by the women voters of the west, it would have been more formidable and the criticisms of the narrowness of vision and lack of political grasp of voting women would perhaps have been merited; but it is a movement begun wholly from without the enfranchised states by women unenfranchised, two or three of whose members living in the east have taken residence in the western states since the organization was so to claim it as a movement among women voters.

The declared object of the Women's party is to punish the democratic party because it did not force the federal suffrage amendment through the last congress and to aid in defeating in November all democrats, both friends and foes of the amendment, and to elect republicans, irrespective of their belief or stand for either the principle of suffrage or the only method of securing it desired by the Congressional Union.

Had the republican party been favorable to this amendment when in control of the national government, or had they indorsed it in their platform as a party measure, there would be some reason in the attitude of the Woman's party toward that party. Since, however, the planks in both the republican and the democratic party platforms are alike and neither declaring for the federal amendment, each standing equally for the principle of woman suffrage and each declaring in favor of the same method of securing it, there can be no choice between the positions of the two parties on that question. The difference, if there is any, must lie between the candidates for the presidency. Each has declared himself to be in favor of the democratic principle of self government for women as well as for men, so that there is no difference there.

NEW COLLEGE STUDENTS HAVE SPECIAL ADVISOR
CORVALLIS, Ore., Sept. 23.—Since it is more profitable to start a college career right than to get right after a wrong start, young men and women entering O. A. U. for the first time this year, will be given the benefit of the counsel and advice of a specialist in the fundamentals of college life, E. H. Beatty has been appointed to act as special advisor of incoming freshmen and vocationalists.

This policy was devised by a committee appointed by President Kerr to consider the best means of counseling the incoming freshmen and vocational students. Prof. Beatty will act largely through organizations and the class officers, with whom he will confer concerning the forms and purposes of organization and approve the constitutions and by-laws. He will advise with the class officers of freshmen and vocational students in all matters involving levies of class taxes and expenditure of money. The extent to which these organizations should participate in college activities will also be made subjects of counsel and advice.

It is expected that this policy will result in better adjustment of the college courses, more satisfactory progress in college work and an improved college life.

HELPING KEEP THE BROWNS IN THE RACE

BURT SHOTTON.

The St. Louis Browns, with Fielder Jones at the helm, have not given up all hopes of grabbing off the American league banner. With the experience of the other teams who have made a last minute spurt and won the flag, St. Louis feels that there is yet a chance for the Browns. Among those present, who are right up in front and fighting every minute is Burt Shotton, the left fielder.

The veteran Burt, who has been with St. Louis since 1911, is battling them out at a 292 clip just now and is playing a wonderful game in the left garden.

U. S. FOREST NOTES.

One ton of coniferous wood waste will produce from 15 to 25 gallons of 95 per cent pure alcohol.

The farm woodlots of the United States contain about 10 per cent of the total standing timber in the country.

Grazing experts of the forest service estimate that the cost of producing lambs in the northwestern states is $1.82 per head.

Los Angeles was the first city on the west coast to establish a vacation camp on the national forests.

The stand of timber on the two great national forests in Alaska is estimated by the forest service as over 70 million board feet, while the annual growth will, it is said, produce pulpwood alone enough for the manufacture of 3000 tons of wood pulp a day.

The state of Washington consumes 225 cubic feet of wood per capita annually, which is more than twice the average consumption for the United States and six and a quarter times the average for Germany.

Over 98 per cent of the trees planted by the forest service this spring at Hebo Tillamook county, Oregon, on the Sitkwa national forest, are still living. This has been the most successful planting operation in the forests of the northwest.

OREGON HENS GAIN BANK IN EGG-LAYING CONTEST
The Oregonians had jumped to third place in the Missouri National Egg Laying Contest at the end of the tenth month of laying, and another pen of the same breed had reached sixth place in the Storrs Contest.

The Oregonians at Mountain Grove held third place at the beginning of August but during the month made noteworthy gains, being at the end of the month but 11 eggs behind the second pen and 40 behind the leaders. They are competing against 103 entries of leading layers from the United States, Canada and England. They had averaged 196 eggs per hen at the end of the tenth month.

Oregonians hold the record for the best week's laying at Storrs with 64 eggs to their credit. They have been first for each of the last two weeks and were second the preceding week. Their record last week was 55 eggs as against 59 for their nearest rivals and 32.9 for the general average of all pens. They not only gained a place last week but came within a single egg of gaining two places. The contest ends November 1.
