

Cold Mornings
Call up 188 and try an order of Straight's
CORN BEEF
U. S. INSPECTED
Downey's Market
with Dean Tatom Co. Phone 688

The Weakly Bulldogger

MONDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1916.

Having failed to tease us by threats and bluff during the first year of our bulldogging, Roland Oliver has resorted to cunning and subtle strategy. Only our unceasing vigilance prevented the culmination of a diabolical plot to undermine our influence.

Last week Oliver concocted a calumnious and defamatory article about the editor of this paper. He then sought to bribe one of our printers to insert it in the Weakly Bulldogger of this issue without our knowledge. Fortunately the article was so vile and odorous that our finely attuned nose smelled it out before it had polluted our pages.

The article in question represents that ye editor, stewed and saturated in the juice of the grape, wended his homeward way at 2 a. m. last Friday and took numerous precautions not to arouse his wife. It went on to say that as we clambered into bed, our sleeping helpmeet half wakened and said, "Get down, Tasso, get down," thinking it was our dog climbing on the bed. The article concluded by crediting us with presence of mind enough to kick her hand so that she dozed off without discovering her mistake.

The fraud of the whole thing is revealed by the fact that our dog Tasso died a rabid death last January. Also, is the author knew our wife as well as we, he would have known that she couldn't be fooled in any such manner. In the first place she would never have been asleep if we were out until 2 a. m. On such occasions she always greets us at the door. Further proof of the falsity of the article is unnecessary.

Speaking of Stocks and Bonds.

"That's sur some Bond fire," remarked G. M. Rice as he stood watching the conflagration that destroyed the haberdashery stock of Bond Bros. Thursday morning.

The Prohibition Law Is One Kind of Dinner.

They were discussing the dinner ordinance and the effect of bright lights on the eyes.

"It's rather odd," said Conellman Phelps, "that the more I'm lit up the less I can see."

Names Born of Deeds.

We herewith suggest "Killer" as a fit and proper title for Bill McKinney and our suggestion has nothing whatever to do with his prowess as a bagger of ducks. Anyone interested in the origin of the title might secure information from Hill. If he refuses to supply it, we refer our readers to Jim Bowler, Brooke Dickson or John Vaughan. If they are bound by oath to withhold the story, maybe Woppy Warden George Tonkin can be induced to tell about it.

His Nose Deceived Him.
Councilman Claude Penland, who is a member of the police committee, though he had located a subterranean brewery the other day when he discovered steam issuing from the manhole of a sewer.

Household Duties.
Bill Morrison of Heli is figuring on going to California for some reason or other. "Going to take your wife along?" asked Roland Oliver. "Nope," said Bill. "You see, I bought a cow the other day and somebody has to take care of her."

Full Many a Gem of Pures Itay Serene.

There are darned few newspapermen who make any claim to being real adjective slingers. They generally try to put a story into understandable words in as short time and space as possible. Threfore it not infrequently happens that some subscriber, who has some happening of particular interest to him to report and who fears that the graphic reporter will not do it justice, submits the copy all written up. Sometimes the copy is printable and sometimes it is too classical to be profaned by publication. In which latter event it is filed away in the pigeonhole labeled "Gems."

From the said pigeonhole of the E. O. we have extracted the following item to illustrate the fact that the newspaper profession does not get the finest writers. It tells of a picnic held some years ago. The name of the organization enjoying the picnic is withheld. The contributor has long since left for other fields else we would not publish his masterpiece yet. Cast your lamps over this, you lovers of light literature:

"As every experience is retained in memory, inversely to the extent of its singularity, we at once assume that the unusual activities of yesterday will never be forgotten.

"Long before the customary time for arising from the somnolent posture many enjoy Sunday morning late, the entire membership of 30, with the exception of three, were on their way to the recreative station of Gibbon.

"No sooner had they found their camping glade than many took to pedestrian exercises and laboriously ascended the tranquil hills only to assist in exciting the appetency of those who indulge. The sizzle of the porterhouse steaks, the odoriferous confusion of boiling coffee and the sight of the juicy fruit salads tend to portray a condition that all would enjoy the oblivion of things that in the least retard their risibility."

BROKERS REDUCE ODDS ON HUGHES IN CURB BETTING

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Wall street, whose vision never reaches west of Philadelphia, has at last heard of the political trend in the Middle West and today reduced the odds on Hughes in the election betting to 8 to 5 and even at this figure there was very little Hughes money in sight.

dent Wilson and later offered $5,000 more, but found no taker. L. J. Stokes, another curb broker, had $6,000 to place on Hughes at 9 to 5.

There was much more Wilson money in evidence in the Wall street district than at any time since the opening of the campaign. Hughes cash is very scarce.

Too many people in this miserable old world are never happy unless they are gambling over with unbusiness.

All this is Owl Country.

No smoker likes to play detective.
Half the joy of smoking is in being able to put your hand on the kind of smoke you want, just at the minute you want it.
Now there's the OWL. The OWL is a good mellow smoke. Everybody smokes a mild cigar now and then; many men smoke nothing else.
They never have to hunt to find an OWL! Whether they stay at home or travel, anywhere on the Coast the smoker can always find it. The OWL is sold everywhere.
So when you form a friendship for the OWL, you can feel sure that this friendship need never be interrupted.

The Million Dollar Cigar
M. A. GUNST & CO. INCORPORATED

Daily Chats With the Housewife

- HOUSEHOLD HELPS
Muffins left from breakfast can be split and toasted for luncheon.
Shirts should be suspended from the bottom on the clothes line.
Cabbage boiled and covered with cream sauce makes a good winter vegetable.
Oysters steamed in butter and put on toast make a delicious and handy dish for Sunday evening supper.
If eggs are plenty, make them into a dinner dish and save the meat bill. Peas regard of eggs, for instance, is delicious and filling.
- POTATO SURPRISE.
Mince the meat and bacon very small and chop up the egg. Have ready six potatoes baked in their skins, cut in half and remove the inside. Mix this up with the meat, two ounces butter, seasoning and a little mushroom ketchup, refill the potato skins, reheat in the oven and serve with a good curry sauce.
- SPINACH BALLS
Melt 2 tablespoons of butter, add 2 tablespoons of flour and 1/4 teaspoon of sugar. When blended, add 1 tablespoon of cream and 2-4 of a cup of cooked spinach, chopped fine. Beat well, remove from the fire, add 2 eggs, 1 at a time. Season with salt and pepper to taste, and about 1-4 teaspoon of ground mace. Fill a tablespoon with the mixture, making it level with the edge of the spoon, slip it off into a pan of boiling water, and poach 4 or 5 minutes, or until firm. Six or more balls may be cooked at the same time. Drain in a colander, while making the cream sauce in which they are to be served. Canned spinach may be used when the fresh is not in the market.
- THE TIME TO EXERCISE
Exercising should be avoided immediately after eating, and eating should be avoided immediately after exercising. Nature should be given a chance to rest and recuperate in either case before fresh work is heaped upon her. Early morning, immediately after rising, and late in the evening before retiring are the best times for calisthenics.
- SLICED CUCUMBER PICKLES.
For the dressing of the pickles, mix together 4 tablespoons of mustard, 1 teaspoon of turmeric and 1 1/2 cups of sugar. Into 3 pints of boiling vinegar stir a cup of flour, made smooth in cold water. Add the spices. Slice into this two dozen large cucumbers which have been soaked in salt water over night. Roll all for two minutes and can. These are excellent for salads.
- PUFF OMELETTE.
Four eggs; two yolks; six table-
- spoonfuls water; one-half teaspoon salt; tablespoon butter; pinch of pepper.
Beat the whites of eggs till they are dry and the yolks till they are of a lemon color. Add water, salt and pepper to the yolks. Mix thoroughly and fold in the whites. When the butter is heated in the frying pan turn in the mixture and let it stand in a moderate heat for two minutes. Then place in a hot oven and cook till set.
- Catfish Swallows 10-Lb. Fish.
EVANSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 7.—Charles W. Weir caught a big catfish in the Ohio river. He took it home and placed it in a glass aquarium in the rear of his store. He had a ten-pound buffalo fish in the tank. When he took some of his friends back to show them his new "catch," he discovered that the catfish had made a dinner of the buffalo, swallowing it whole.
- A CLEAR COMPLEXION
Ruddy Checks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have
Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician
Dr. F. M. Edwards, for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, you will know them by their olive color.
These tablets are wonder-workers of the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.
If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.
Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—because their livers are in the grip of a condition. Use one 30c box. All druggists.
- Mrs. Carl Power
TEACHER OF VOCAL
Phone 296-J for appointments.

Women's Suits and Coats in Favored Autumn Models

Modish up-to-the-minute apparel portraying every edict of fashion and are splendidly tailored. These garments show every mark of distinction and smartness.

Colors navy, java, plum, rose taupegreen, brown, Burgundy, and black.

Call and see these while the stock is complete

We also received by this mornings express party dresses and beautiful waists in Georgettes crepe, washable satin and crepe de chene.

ALEXANDERS

THE DAYLIGHT STORE

EVEREADY offers $3000 For a NAME

Have You That Word?

If you have it is worth $3,000 in cash. Come in and let us tell you about it.

It's a real offer of real money. A great national institution is back of it.

This offer is open to everybody—and it costs you nothing to try.

Here's a solid golden opportunity—come in quickly.

J. L. Vaughan's Electrical Store

831 Main Street Telephone 139