The Bargain Basement

To correct the impression of possibly a few of the prospective patrons of our big department store, we wish to state that "The Bargain Basement" carries no particular end of a line of merchandise at any regular price; for instance we do not devote this department to the domestic line of yard goods while the fancy goods are sold up stairs. We do not put the work shoes in the basement while only the dress shoes are sold up stairs. We do not put the work shirts in the basement and sell only the dress shirts up stairs. And we do not sell a single article at the regular price in "The Bargain Basement". But we select from our upstairs stocks all the single articles, broken lots and odds and ends from every line, regardless of its class, quality or price. This merchandise is sent to the Bargain Basement where the price is marked to the point where it sells QUICK. Here are just a few of the real bargains.
