LUNATIC TRIES TO ATTACK WILSON BUT IS PREVENTED

STATE CONVENTION OF W. C. T. U. WILL CLOSE AT TONIGHT'S SESSION

The thirty-third annual convention of the W. C. T. U. is drawing to a close today and the same enthusiasm is marking its last hours that ushered it in. The closing session will be held this evening and will consist of addresses by Mrs. Lucia Paxon Addison, Mrs. M. L. T. Hidden and Mrs. Adah Wallace Urah, music and readings. Adjournment will follow and the delegates will leave for their homes. The executive committee will remain over to hold a session in the morning.

This afternoon a memorial service led by Mrs. Para L. Thornton, was held right after the session began. Later in the day invitations from various cities wanting the 1917 convention will be read and a decision reached. Medford is one of the contenders for the honor but has a number of rivals.

This afternoon Mrs. E. B. Andrews, president of the Clackamas county union and leader of the Blue team in the state membership contest, was honored for the victory which she won over the Gold team captained by Mrs. Hattie Wilson of Corvallis. The altar was decorated in the color of the winning team.

An address on "Oregon Really Dry" is also scheduled for this afternoon. Mrs. Mary L. Mallett will be the speaker.

Business Men Speak. An interesting part of the morning program was the symposium at which various citizens of Pendleton were asked for their views on the effects of prohibition on the city. James H. Gwyn spoke on the "Effects of Prohibition on Business," and was seconded by W. W. Harrah. Rev. R. E. Gornall represented the church and Mrs. S. A. Lovell the schools. Their unanimous verdict was that prohibition has gone ahead under prohibition. Mrs. G. L. Huland presided and in the course of her remarks she stated that during the past year 29,000 essays had been written by Portland children on narcotics and liquor.

Honor Roll Announced. One of the noteworthy features of the session this morning was the recognition given the representatives of 22 unions that had won the distinction of a place on the honor roll during the year. This distinction is decided on the point system, so many points being awarded for increase in membership, so many for medals and essay contests, so many for organization of new unions and so on down through the various departments of the work.

The Culver union of Jefferson county, led all of the unions with a total of 350 points. Roseburg was second with 280. Pendleton was fifth with 175. The following is a list of those making 100 points or more: Culver, Jefferson county, 350; Roseburg, Douglas county, 280; Madras, Jefferson county, 251; Chehalis Center, Yamhill county, 255; Corvallis, Benton county, 205; Pendleton, Umatilla county, 175; College Hill, Benton county, 161; Oakville, Linn county, 151; Alpine, Benton county, 155; Plainview, Linn county, 155; Sunnyside, Multnomah county, 148; Wolfmountain, Benton county, 146; Harriburg, Linn county, 140; Prineville, Crook county, 135; Broadway, Multnomah county, 130; Brownsville, Linn county, 130; Milwaukie, Clackamas county, 125; Dundee, Benton county, 115; Albany, Linn county, 110; Newberg, Yamhill county, 100; McMinnville, Yamhill county, 100.

The 22 representatives took the stage together and received a tribute of applause when they sang a song especially composed for the occasion. A part of the session this morning was taken up with the flashlight reports of various organizers. These reports were scheduled for yesterday but the convention is a little behind in its program. Pledges for the carrying on of the state work were also made by the various unions. Messages of encouragement were received this morning from the Ohio state convention in session at Akron and from Mrs. George W. McMath, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs. Messages were sent to the Ohio and Washington conventions.

Mrs. Kemp, the president, called the attention of the convention to the murder committed at Bandon yesterday resulting from the efforts of the city attorney to stamp out the liquor traffic.

Delegates Elected. The following delegates were elected yesterday afternoon to the national convention at Indianapolis from November 15 to 23: Mrs. M. L. T. Hidden of Portland, Mrs. G. W. Russ of Pendleton, Mrs. J. Sanger Fox of Portland, Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. Ellis of Portland. By virtue of their office Mrs. Kemp, president, and Mrs. G. L. Huland, superintendent of the scientific temperance instruction department, will be delegates.

MALONEY ASSERTS HE ONLY GUARDED RIGHTS

Prominent and Respected Farmer Denies He Pointed Gun at Bryan Rogers; Charges Rogers With Trying to Bulldoze Him.

In reply to a very unfair article derogatory to his character published in the Evening Tribune yesterday, Judge J. W. Maloney, today forwarded to that publication a letter in which he takes that paper to task for its injustice. In his statement Judge Maloney said:

Your article would lead the public to believe I have no valid claim to the possession of this piece of land. But as a matter of fact I have been farming these lands for four years. I renewed my lease in 1914 for four years more. Mr. Rogers had personal knowledge of that renewal. I made payments upon the lease and have been in continuous possession. My grain and my horses were on the place and my foreman and his wife were living there. Rogers and his men entered the premises without notifying me and commenced plowing about my wheat, which was in sheaves and threatened to set fire to the stubble where plowed around the wheat and went out with the avowed purpose of carrying out their threat to fire the stubble. I then followed them up and ordered them off. My foreman was with me. I pointed no gun at them or anybody else, but when Mr. Rogers

Jumps on Running Board of Car as Executive Drives Through Streets of Pittsburgh; Secret Service Agents Throw off Assailant Who Immediately Tries Again; Carried Long Steel Dagger.

PRESIDENT REMAINS CALM

PITTSBURG, Oct. 20.—A man giving the name of Richard Cullen attempted to attack President Wilson, while the president with Bryan rode through this city. Cullen, carrying a black satchel, ran alongside the automobile and repeatedly attempted to jump aboard.

The attack occurred in the heart of the city, at Fifth avenue and Smithfield streets. The crowd was very dense and the automobiles were forced to move slowly. A secret service agent seized Cullen and threw him off, but he immediately tried again. Secret service agents hurled the assailant from the running board.

ASSAILANT IS CAPTURED

Cullen fled and ran half a block before being overtaken and overpowered. The police found a long dagger and several chisels in the satchel. Cullen said he was dissatisfied with Wilson's handling of European affairs, but refused to admit he intended to attack the president.

After examining the prisoner, the police said he was insane. He is being held for investigation. Cullen at first spoke quietly, but later became enraged and roundly denounced the president's policies.

BRYAN MEETS WILSON

Bryan met Wilson at the train and shook hands with him for the first time in months. A tremendous crowd demonstrated continuously during the ride through the streets and parks.

The president and Mrs. Wilson, with democratic state Chairman Guffey and two secret service men were in Wilson's car. Wilson remained calm during the struggle. Mrs. Wilson shared his confidence. The crowd seemed slow to grasp the situation.

A loaded revolver fell to the ground during the scuffle. The police are uncertain whether Cullen dropped it. Special Agent Defiore pummeled Cullen beside the president's auto. Fifty policemen clubbed the crowd back. Cullen bit at the mouth, and nose. He struck Defiore with a heavy satchel.

MANY AT HERMISTON HOG AND DAIRY SHOW

Perfect Weather Adds to Success of Exhibit—Stock Judging Is Feature of Morning Session.

(Staff Correspondence.) HERMISTON, Oct. 20.—Hermiston's fourth annual Hog and Dairy Show opened here this morning with perfect weather and a large crowd contributing to its success. It is Pendleton Day, so designated because Pendleton is represented by about one hundred people here.

The county seat sent down a delegation of 45 at 9:30 this morning by special train and a number of others came earlier on No. 1. A number are here also in automobiles. The feature of the morning was the judging of the livestock by the teams from the schools of Hermiston, Stanfield and Pendleton. The Pendleton schools are represented by Richard Neal, Ralph Badget, Merle Agee and Clifford Gordon. The results of the judging contest will probably be announced this afternoon or in the morning. D. C. Howard of O. A. C. will make the decision.

As indication of the development of the hog and dairy business in this part of the county, the livestock entered for judging this morning was very significant when compared with the livestock entered at the first show.

There were entered this morning 24 Jersey cows, four Holsteins and 12 pigs and every head of stock was registered. Four years ago none of the stock was registered. The judging of the school industrial exhibits is taking place this afternoon. The schools of Hermiston, Stanfield and Minnehaha districts have school exhibits entered and the Columbia and Umatilla districts have individual exhibits.

Among the many visitors to the show today are a dozen or more candidates for political offices who are mixing with the people in the interests of their candidacy.

The big day of the show will be tomorrow when the attendance is expected to be even larger.

Grows Drill Company. Professor E. D. Ressler, of the O. A. C. faculty, who was here yesterday and this afternoon on a visit to the local high school, strongly advises a drill company for the high school boys. Mr. Ressler was formerly president of the Monmouth Normal school and is an earnest advocate of the measure for a normal at Pendleton.

DECLARES WILSON HAS BEEN TRUE FRIEND OF SUFFRAGE

Pronouncing President Wilson as a true friend of the suffrage cause Mrs. M. L. Hidden of Portland, in an address at the public library auditorium last evening warmly rapped the alleged brand as a partisan organization suffragettes of the Golden Special who are making a tour in behalf of the republican presidential nominee.

In her talk Mrs. Hidden pointed out the fact that when New Jersey voted on the suffrage question many months ago President Wilson made a special trip to his old home state to cast his ballot for the suffrage cause. He also announced his position publicly so as to give the cause the benefit of the White House endorsement. Mr. Huches at that time took on stand whatever on the subject.

As to congressional action on suffrage Mrs. Hidden asserted that the national suffrage organization through its officers opposed any action in congress as the last session, as they considered the time not ripe, and did not wish the subject brought up there at the public library auditorium last evening warmly rapped the alleged brand as a partisan organization suffragettes of the Golden Special who are making a tour in behalf of the republican presidential nominee.

Aside from touching upon the suffrage issue Mrs. Hidden spoke eloquently of the great service President Wilson has rendered the country in keeping it free from war while at the same time upholding our international rights and dignity. She characterized him as a great progressive and president richly entitled to re-election.

Though the meeting last evening was called upon short notice a good audience, composed chiefly of women, was in attendance. Much enthusiasm was shown.
