At The MOTION PICTURE THEATRES

"BIG BILL" RUSSELL PLAYS DUAL ROLE New Departure for American-Mutual Star in Latest Feature.

William Russell, the American-Mutual star, known more familiarly to crowds of motion picture goers as "Big Bill" Russell, plays for the first time in his career a dual role in the Mutual Star Production, "The Man Who Would Not Die," a five act physiological drama by Mabel Condon, which will be seen for the first time at the Pastime theater today. Mr. Russell depicts twin brothers, one of whom is an honest, clean-cut, good living man, while the other is unscrupulous, self-centered and vindictive. The latter wins the girl loved by the former and he brings her much happiness through his dissipation, finally bringing her to the stage where he tries to get her into a scheme with him to defraud an insurance company which has taken a big policy on his life. The first brother arrives in time to circumvent the plot and the denouement of this gripping drama is exciting and surprising.

The work of Mr. Russell in depicting these two directly opposed characters in the finest he has yet done and constitutes a rare achievement in screen acting. Prominent in the support of Mr. Russell is Charlotte Burton, Leona Hutton and Harry Keenan.

Striking Scenes in "Mister 44." "Mister 44" a Metro picture produced by the Yoko Film Corporation, with Harold Lockwood and May Allison in the stellar roles, is the big feature attraction at the Alta theater on Tuesday and Wednesday. This is one of the finest productions in which these popular stars have ever appeared, and it is one of the most entertaining features ever released on the Metro program. There is a wealth of beautiful and wonderfully picturesque mountain scenes, where much of the action takes place. There are glimpses of city life in the factory district and among the slums, while striking contrast are scenes enacted at an exclusive country club in which scores of prominent society folk actually participated.

"Mister 44" is a story of distinctive American romance, with a wholesome and refreshing appeal. Mr. Lockwood and Miss Allison have a distinguished supporting cast which includes such well known artists of the screen and stage as Lester Cuneo, Franklin Hall, Yonda Landowska, Aileen Allen, Beile Hutchinson, Lee Arms and Henry Otto. Mr. Otto also directed the production.

At the Cosy. The wild love of life so characteristic among the natives of the Latin lands, has been made the subject of an intensely interesting photoplay by Frances Marion, called "The Feast of Life," in which Clara Kimball Young is featured, with Paul Capellan and Doris Kenyon. It is a deep story of a pure, beautiful Cuban girl who is persuaded against her will to become betrothed to Don Armada, a wealthy Cuban. She loves Pedro, a young fisherman who lives with his uncle, Father Vantura, and Celida, who has been secretly stealing to Don Armada's villa, but who is cast off by him on his engagement to Aurora. How this story is beautifully developed, and the real lovers come to their own, is told in the strong five-part world feature which will be the attraction shown at the Cosy theater tonight and Wednesday.

AT THE TEMPLE. "THE THOROUGHBRED" HAS THRILLING RACETRACK SCENES

In Fact, New Triangle Play is a Racing Story With Fine Show of Horse-flesh.

The Sport of Kings, with all its attendant excitement, is said to be thrillingly portrayed in a number of scenes in "The Thoroughbred," the Triangle play by C. Gardner Sullivan, in which Thomas H. Ince presents Frank Keenan as star. The story concerns the efforts of a Puritanic young minister to effect the abolition of horse-racing in one of the southern states, his success and his ultimate contrition, inspired by a realization of the fact that his activities have caused poverty in the home of Major Alston, whose daughter he loves. Many of the scenes therefore, are those of the race track. To film this portion of the subject Reginald Barker, who directed it, took his entire company to Tia Juana, Mexico, where horse racing at the time was enjoying a tremendous popularity. Through the influence of friends, in control of the track, he was given permission to use all parts of the track, paddock, stables and grandstands for his purpose. Three full days were spent at the track, and Barker returned with several thousand feet of exposed film, depicting horseracing at the height of its vogue.

BEAUTY HELD WITH MAN IN MURDER NET

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—After being trailed across the continent and shadowed for two weeks in San Francisco, Grace Lamonte, an actress formerly with the Hippodrome theater, New York, and Edward Barry were arrested here yesterday by Lieutenant Frank E. Downey of the New York police.

They are wanted in connection with the mysterious murder of "Dick" Weldon, amateur boxer, gambler and sporting promoter in a garage in Brooklyn, September 26.

Miss Lamonte, a young and beautiful woman and Barry were held in the city prison.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

The high school glee club will in the near future put on "Rolling Pebbles," a well known opera. Much interest is being manifested by the glee club and a high class attraction is expected as the result of their efforts. If the opera is a success other attractions will be staged by high school organizations.

The high school this morning held its first fire drill and although the time made was slow, good order was maintained throughout the drill. It is proposed to practice these drills on both speed and order may be maintained.

The boys of the high school football team will hereafter be responsible for the enforcement of the anti-smoking rule and other training rules.

among their members. This was the decision reached at a meeting of the football boys, coach, principal and superintendent, held this morning for the purpose of clearing up all differences between them.

A decision to the same effect was reached several days ago but through some misunderstanding on the part of Superintendent Park, the boys were not allowed to carry out the rule.

The provisions as laid down are that after Coach Fendall has drawn up his training rules, each member of the squad is to take it upon himself to see that the rules are obeyed. If any of the rules are broken the offender will be asked to turn in his suit.

Superintendent Park said that the reason for enforcing the rule among the athletes and not among the other students was that those on the athletic team need the extra training and that the people of Pendleton were getting tired of backing teams that would not keep in condition.

It is hoped by those interested in athletics that the ceasing up of the differences between the football team and Superintendent Park will be lasting for the reason that so far this season there has not been a week go by but what something has come up to break into the practice of the team. If things are allowed to run smoothly it is believed that Pendleton has a good chance for the eastern Oregon championship.
