Painter's Pants Causes Fire.

A pair of painter's pants was the cause of a small fire at the new residence being built at 364 Lewis street by Douglas Belts. One of the painters had taken off his overalls and had thrown them down on the new floor. Spontaneous combustion caused a pile of new flooring to take fire and it was necessary for the firemen to be called to extinguish it shortly after 7 last evening.

To Discuss Measures.

Under the auspices of the civic club a public meeting will be held at the library auditorium tomorrow afternoon, starting at 2 o'clock for the purpose of discussing the initiative measures upon the ballot. The meeting will be particularly for women but men also are invited to attend. The various measures on the ballot will be explained. The meeting will not be held to champion any measures but rather to explain issues and the manner of voting.

Pavlova Proves Popular.

For the first night of Pavlova in the "Dumb Girl of Portici" the Temple theater was packed last evening and the audience manifested great enthusiasm over the wonderful picture play. The play is in eight acts with the marvelous Russian dancing featuring the first act. However, it is vastly more than a dancing picture as the story reveals the revolt of a people against oppression. A city is burned, the vicereine overthrown and killed and a new government by the people set up. The scenic features are gorgeous and those who see Pavlova on the screen have the advantage of features never to be witnessed on the legitimate stage.

Supreme Court Leaving.

The members of the state supreme court will leave Salem tomorrow for Pendleton to open the fall eastern Oregon term of court here, Monday morning.

It is possible with a sun glass made of ice to set fire to tinder or gunpowder, but the campaign managers this year do not seem to have mastered the secret.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

The class in public speaking in high school is preparing to put on "The Sophomore," a well known college play. The members of the class have already elected officers and are putting on the play under the direction of Superintendent Park. WE LEAD, OTHERS FOLLOW

The advanced class in domestic art have taken up the work on a one-piece wool dress. The girls are limited to price and it must be selected carefully as to material, color and style.

The class in house management are busy with their house plans, this includes the study of lumber and all building and finishing materials. This work is two fold. It teaches the girls to observe, economize and understand the value of materials. The aim of this work is to teach simplicity in every walk of life.

The domestic science classes are planning on spending the money earned at the banquet. This means a few luxuries for their department. The girls are eager to spend the money for the school. If it were divided among the 76 girls taking the work it would mean a few cents for each.
