TD RUN FOR GOVERNOR IF HIS COUSIN DOESN'T
GADSDEN, Ala., Dec. 2.—Congressman John L. Burnett has announced that he will run for governor of Alabama in the coming election, provided his cousin, W. W. Brandon, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., does not interfere with his cousin.

The Weakly Bulldogger

MONDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1916.

Like Signing a Death Mandate.
The awful strain of signing orders for ruthless destruction of boose is beginning to tell upon Judge Joe Parkes. His hair is graying fast, his brow is becoming furrowed and in his eyes is that haunting look of helpless misery that comes from stern adherence to painful obligations. Verily, the path of duty leads to the grave.

Memories.
Jim Ester's small son was pressing his fingers against his eyeball in such a way as to create optical illusion. "Papa," said the young hopeful, "I can see two lights where there is only one."
"Yes, son," said Jim, absently, "I have been that way myself."

From One Bonanza to Another.
The lure of the soil is mighty strong during these days of dollar and half wheat. G. L. Wilson, a local plumber, quit his job to go to farming the other day.

The Female of the Species.
Ed Averill, sworn foe to predatory beasts, the other day received the skulls and hides of two timber wolves. Having his office in with Major Moorhouse, he turned the trophies over to the major to put in his windows. The major thought the skulls would attract more attention if the jaws were propped open to show the teeth. It was necessary to insert a stick to keep the jaws of the male open but when he opened the mouth of the female it just naturally remained open. True to set even in death, the major observed.

We Could See Them at Round-Up Park.
Fred Lockley was up from Portland Saturday and was exhibiting one of the new model dimes recently coined by Uncle Samuel. He showed it to us and, when we politely informed him that the new dimes had made their appearance in Pendleton some weeks ago, he said with his customary deference:
"Did you ever see a buffalo quarter?"

We answered negatively, expecting him to produce.
"Next time you are in Portland go out to the zoo and take a look at one," he said.

Shelter for Eldo.
George Baer says he is going to build a kennel for his Ford.

It's An Easy Step.
Omphographically the difference between being a married man and a divorced man is very small, just the transposition of two letters. When you're married you're "united" and if you're divorced you are "united." Therefore we feel bound to excuse the typographical error which made a headline read that so and so were "united in marriage."

Ask Alexander.
Editor Bulldogger:
Can you tell me why it was that Carl Cooley went over to Walla Walla Thanksgiving day to see the W. S. C. Whitman game and didn't know which team won until he got back to Pendleton?
Yours,
CURIOUS.

These Pigs Again.
Tall Timothy Geer, whose rise from governor of Oregon to editor of the Tribune in a few short years will be remembered, indicated the following lines about the two little pigs sent by Pendleton democrats to Mrs. Hanley:

Two Pigs.
A piggle named Wilson was sent To a place where he never had went!
But he grieved for the mule Till he died (like a fool).
Thus upsetting the joke that was meant.

But the piggle named Marshall was game, And he said, "I'm so glad that I came,"
So he eats all the swill On the fare they call bill, Thus adding each day to his (r)ame.

Is There a Second?
To the Weakly Bulldogger:
Noting that Judge Lowell has organized a Mosaic League for the suppression of profanity, I wish to take this means of nominating Frank Frazer for president. Yours truly,
FOR THE GOOD OF THE ORDER.

CONGRESS MEMBERS FLOCK TO CAPITAL

FIVE HUNDRED WITH CAMP FOLLOWERS ARE ALREADY AT WASHINGTON.

Building is Newly Washed and Renovated for Lively Though Short Session Between Now and March the Fourth.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Five hundred members of congress, with hundreds of camp followers in their wake, invaded Washington today singly and by groups to take up the business of the nation at noon Monday.

Downtown hotels were filled to capacity with the law-makers, their helpers and the usual gallery attracted by the clamours of an opening session of congress, featured by a personally delivered message from the president.

The Capitol is newly washed and renovated to receive the members. Washington, used to being a news centre for legislative and political news, brightened up at the prospect of a lively, if short session between tomorrow and March 4, when will sound the swan song of the sixty-fourth congress.

While many older representatives and senators in the confidence of their office had established permanent homes here, and were able to go at once to their domiciles, others, dependent on hotels for accommodation, scrambled with the ordinary public for rooms and the attendant three-day.

Since the close of the memorable session of last summer, climaxed by the passage of the Adamson eight-hour law, the Capital's legislative building had been inhabited principally by mice and clerks, busy here while the members back home rebuilt political fences or found them neat buildings. In the senate and house office buildings, the chief activity had been the washing of painters' brushes. In the Capitol, the supreme court was the only active agent except the Capitol guides.

Seventeen senators are attending their last session. W. F. Kirby, named to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Clarke of Arkansas, was expected to be about the only new novice in the senate until March 5. Eulogies of Senator Clarke, who died during the recess, were expected to be a part of the senate business tomorrow or next day.

Miss Jeanette Rankin, representative-elect from Montana to succeed Representative Tom Stout, was the subject of much discussion. She is not here, as her term will not begin until next session—but members could not wait. They faced—the prospect of getting along for two years with the first woman ever elected to congress—without making any breaks. One question as yet undecided is whether she will be called the "Lady from Montana," and Representative Stout, whom she succeeds faced incidentally the hardest assignment of all—alibing himself for defeat by a woman.

In Washington last evening, after spending Thanksgiving with his family in New York. While in New York, Mr. Sinnott was asked by a prominent hat manufacturer to procure for him a dozen Oregon jackrabbit pelts, so he might experiment and determine for himself the suitability of jackrabbit fur for felt hat manufacture. The New Yorker had heard of the hat made for Mr. Sinnott last spring.

Dreaded an Operation More Than Anything

TRIED FRUITOLA AND TRAXO AND HAS NEVER SINCE BEEN TROUBLED WITH GALL STONES.

Mrs. Mary E. Franse, whose address is West Point, Nebr., Box 411, has written to the Pinus Laboratories a very strong endorsement of Fruitola and Traxo. "About ten years ago I was about to undergo an operation for gall stones when I heard of your medicine. Dreading an operation above everything, I determined to try Fruitola and Traxo and have never been sorry I did so, as I have never been troubled with gall stones since."

Fruitola and Traxo are compounded from the original Edsall formulas at the Pinus Laboratories in Monticello, Ill., and can be purchased in Pendleton of Tallman & Co., 623 Main street; a doctor's prescription is not necessary. Fruitola is a pure fruit oil that acts as an intestinal lubricant and disintegrates the hardened particles that cause so much suffering, discharging the accumulated waste to the sufferer's intense relief. One dose is usually sufficient to indicate its efficacy. Traxo is a tonic-alterative that is most effective to rebuild and restore the weakened, rundown system.
A booklet of special interest to those who suffer from stomach trouble can be obtained by writing to the Pinus Laboratories, Monticello, Illinois.
