Many a girl who knows that she is too good to wash dishes thinks her mother isn't.

Babies and pianos would make less noise if grown people would let them alone.

From Germany comes the word that war's casualties amount to 1,000,000 a month. It will take a lot of later benefits to justify this present horror.

It's awfully hard to generate any respect for a man who wears a lot of rings on his fingers.

one of the most enjoyable musical attractions that has visited Pendleton for some time.

Among the singers Mary Malben, Allen, contralto, and A. N. Engle, baritone, stood out above the rest. One of the features of the evening was the skillful way Miss Allen sang an aria from Donizetti's "La Favorita." Her full, melodious voice found great opportunity to show itself in the opera selection and she displayed that she possesses musical culture and a voice of rare quality. The baritone's biggest number was the prologue from Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" always a difficult thing to handle even by masters. Mr. Engle is a young man, comparatively new in opera but that he has a bright future none will gainsay who heard him last night.

As for Skovgaard himself, it is sufficient to say that he is a genius and an artist of the first magnitude. He interpreted more than a dozen selections which only those who are more than ordinarily proficient can handle at all.

Alice McClung-Skovgaard was greeted enthusiastically when she came out to render her number and she has lost none of her genius with the piano. She is an artist, a true artist.

Though only a small audience was present, owing to the weather and counter attractions, the entertainment given by Skovgaard, the Danish violinist, and his company at the Presbyterian church last evening was
