YALE'S REGATTA COURSE IDEAL, SAYS NICKALLS.

GUY NICKALLS.

NEW HAVEN, Dec. 11.—Guy Nickalls, coach of Yale rowing, thinks that the new Yale regatta course on the Housatonic near Derby, about twenty miles from here, is the most ideal spot for the purpose in the world. Nickalls is finishing up his fall work with the Yale crews.

KIDDIES LEARN USE OF TOOTH BRUSH

THE TOOTHBRUSH SQUAD.

Daily Chats With the Housewife

KITCHEN HINTS.
Boil a double handful of grass or hay in a new iron pot before attempting to cook with it. Scrub out with soap and sand; then set on the stove, filled with fair water, and let it boil a half hour.
New tins should stand near the fire for an hour with boiling water in them into which has been dissolved a spoonful of soda. They should then be scoured inside with soft soap, and afterward rinsed with hot water. Keep them clean by rubbing with sifted wood ashes or whitening.
Copper utensils should be cleaned with brick dust and flannel.

NOODLES.
Beat 2 eggs slightly, add 2 tablespoons of milk, 1-2 teaspoon of salt, and flour enough to make a very stiff dough. Knead it, working in all the flour possible. Roll out as thin as possible; let dry for half or three quarters of an hour, then roll up like a jelly roll and cut in very thin slices. Shake out into long strips. Add noodles to the broth or soup and cook half an hour longer.

SKEWERED SWEETBREADS.
Take parboiled sweetbreads, cut them in slices and flour them. Then skewer together a slice of sweetbread, a slice of bacon, and a piece of green pepper, and repeat until the skewer is full. Broil until a golden brown, turning occasionally and basting with the bacon fat.

SOUTH AMERICAN CORN PIE.
(Chocolo Pie.)
Cut up two large Spanish onions, wash in cold water and brown slightly in a frying pan with 2 tablespoons of butter. Add minced meat flavored with 1-4 teaspoon pepper and 1-2 teaspoon salt, and a little water to form gravy. Fry all together. Put this in a pie dish.
Cut up a cooked chicken in pieces and lay same neatly on top of the minced meat with slices of hard-boiled egg.
Take a tin of tinned corn, which is already cooked, and pound it in a mortar, or put through meat chopper; beat up 1 egg and mix with the corn; lay this smoothly on top of the chicken, covering the entire pie dish; put a little butter on the surface or covered with 1-2 cup cracker crumbs, moistened with 1 tablespoon melted butter. Bake in a moderate oven until a golden brown, 15 or 20 minutes.

MILITARY DUMPLING.
Half a pound breadcrumbs, 1-2 pound sugar, 1-4 pound suet, 2 eggs, grated rind and juice of 1 large lemon, on mixed well in order given, and baked from 20 to 30 minutes in greased pudding cups.

LEMON PUDDING.
Half a pound suet chopped fine, 6 ounces moist sugar, 6 ounces breadcrumbs, 3 ounces flour, the grated rind of a lemon. Mix to a thick batter with 2 eggs, well beaten, the juice of 1-2 lemons and a little milk. Put into a well greased basin or pudding mold, which has been stuck closely over with raisins split and stoned. Boil 3 hours.

AMUSEMENTS

The Kilarney Girls will present an Irish play, and render songs, and recitations, under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus, for the benefit of the new Catholic church, on Friday, December 15, at 8 p. m.
This is a high class attraction, and should be well attended, as it is for a good cause. So don't forget the date, and time of show, as the curtain will rise at 8 p. m. sharp.

One of Mary Pickford's companions in her new picture, "Less Than the Dust," will be a camel who lends a great deal to the atmosphere of the scenes inasmuch as many of them are laid in East India. It is said that the circus season nearing a close the camel thought it best to get into the movies and make an arrangement that would carry him into the winter. He, and his name is Abdul, formerly lived in the east but came to this country with his parents. He doesn't remember any of his early days but says that he likes the country of his adoption and is more than pleased at being and acting in a branch of the dramatic art that continually keeps him before a camera and always in the public eye. However, Abdul is far from being vain.

"It Pays to Advertise."
Breathes there the man with soul so dead who never to himself has said "It pays to advertise?" His presence is invited at the engagement of Cohan and Harris' latest farce hit, "It Pays to Advertise," due at the Oregon Theater Monday, December 11. This is the farce that was the talk of the country last year, and comes to this city with Cohan and Harris' own actors.

There's not the slightest question but that Cohan and Harris' farces have given the country some of its biggest laughs. If there is such a thing as a real laugh, after all the possible laughs have been exhausted, "It Pays to Advertise" is the process through which this unusual formula is derived.

The latest farce hit is a business play, and therefore appeals strongly to men. But the plot is also romantic enough to win enthusiastic approval from the feminine portion of the audience. The farce is from the pens of Roi Cooper Megrue and Walter Hackett, who have brought forth one of the most laughable plays presented in recent years.
The play is the funniest combination of circumstances ever staged, but it is a practical lesson to those who do not believe it teaches the truth. Cyrus Martin quarrels with his son and the latter goes into business in the new way, determined to succeed through advertising. He scores a big success, as any energetic young man is bound to do if he advertises carefully, and his skeptical father is glad to buy into the new firm.
"It Pays to Advertise" is one of those plays which can't be told about in cold type. It must be seen to be appreciated, and that its local engagement may be considered highly important. Cohan and Harris will send to this city their own artists.

The Hamilton Piano

Tested by Briny Ocean Breezes

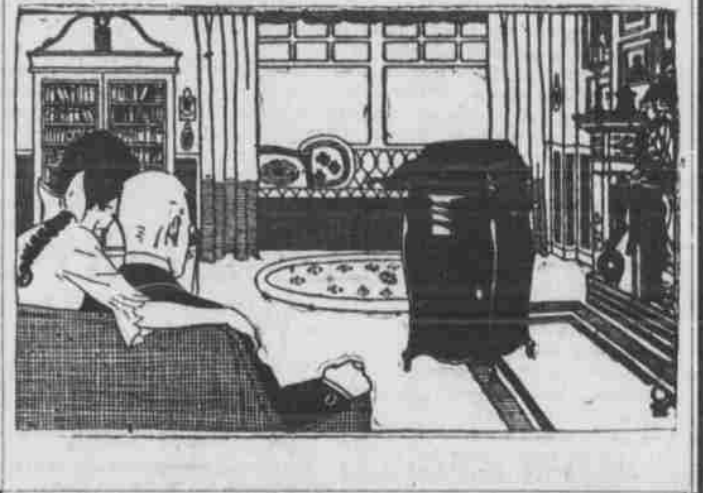

It is not difficult to make a piano that will hold together and stay in tune so long as it remains on dry land. It is quite another thing to make an instrument that can be shipped abroad and arrive in the same condition as when it left the factory. Damp winds and sudden changes of weather have a way of finding the weak spots.
The export record of the Hamilton Piano is convincing evidence of its thorough dependability. Perhaps no other instrument of American make enjoys so great a demand all over the world. The reason is, it does not have to be rebuilt after an ocean journey.
The Hamilton's ability to stand this grueling test means that it has the durability of construction to give you unending satisfaction in your home. When you buy this House of Baldwin product you know that you are getting an instrument whose design, materials and construction have been proved beyond the slightest doubt. Come in and hear it.
