Helen Holmes, the most daring woman in pictures, is also on the bill in the two act feature, "First Blood," from the sensational Lass of the Lumberlands story. There are thrills upon thrills in this picture and lovers of Helen Holmes and her hair raising stunts will be more than pleased with "First Blood."

Coming Star Makes Screen Debut in "Life's Shadows."

William Nigh and Irene Howley, two Metro stars of extraordinary talents, will be seen in the stellar roles of "Life's Shadows," a novel and interesting five-part Metro wonderplay which will be presented here at the Alta theater on Tuesday and Wednesday. Mr. Nigh, who wrote "Life's Shadows" and directed its production in addition to playing one of the stellar characters, has surrounded himself with a notable cast which includes Robert Elliott, Roy Clair, David Thompson, Will E. Stephens, William Yearance, Harry Linson, Harry D. Blakemore, Frank Montgomery, Ruth Thorp, Grace E. Stevens and Kathleen Allaire. Mr. Nigh was especially interested in the work of Miss Allaire, a beautiful and gifted girl of sixteen years. Mr. Nigh discovered her in California more than a year ago. He told her to remain in school another year and he would send for her, with a view of making a star of the girl. In writing "Life's Shadows" Mr. Nigh kept Miss Allaire in mind and developed a good part for her. It is her debut in pictures and Mr. Nigh expects to star her very soon. Consequently, her work in this feature and how it is received by the public, is of supreme interest to the director and those who believe the little girl will become one of the really big stars in the silent drama. Mr. Nigh's good judgment in making stars and prominent players, has been affirmed many times. He discovered and directed to success such well-known artists as Beatrice Michelent and Tsuru Aoki, the famous Japanese actress.

TRIANGLE FAVORITES IN NEW BARRISCALE PLAY AT THE TEMPLE.

Charles Ray, a star in his own right in "The Deserter," and in a forthcoming production, "The Honorable Alky," plays the sweetheart of Miss Barriscale. Alice Taaffe who was the sister of Miss Barriscale in "Not My Sister," is again her sister in this play.
