"TROPIC LOVE"

6 ACTS 6

—Words cannot describe the wonders and marvels of "Tropic Love." It's one of those super-pictures that come along every now and then to prove to the world the tremendous power and progress of motion-picture art.

or THE PEARL OF PARADISE

—A smashing, tense drama of the South Sea Islands, totally unlike anything you have ever seen before. Margarita Fischer, who is well known in Pendleton and who was raised at Silverton, Oregon, is utterly lovable as the sunny, innocent child of nature. It's a Pollard picture and invites comparison with any picture you have ever seen before.

So innocent is sunny Yollita that she sees no wrong in bathing before her lover—one of scores of amazing situations delicately handled in this truly exceptional masterpiece starting today at

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

What the Picture Theaters Have to Tell You.

THE SEASON'S MOTION PICTURE TRIUMPH AT PASTIME TODAY. MARGARITA FISCHER IN "TROPIC LOVE" OR "THE PEARL OF PARADISE."

Helen Holmes in the "Burned Record" From the "Lass of the Lumberlands" Play.

Yollita is known to the inhabitants of one of the South Sea Islands as "The Pearl of Paradise." Her father, Gomez, a Spanish fugitive from justice, has reared her in ignorance of the evils of the outside world. Pete Van Dekken, the captain of a Dutch schooner, and the only other white man the girl has ever seen, is infatuated with her. John Dellow and his fiancée, on a yachting cruise, are forced to jump from the yacht and the next morning Dellow is found on the beach by Yollita. Gomez orders John shot but Yollita saves his life and Gomez tells Dellow of how years before he had married an American girl after accidentally killing her husband and another man. They had fled to the island and there the mother had died shortly after Yollita was born. Later John realizes his love for the girl but also remembers that she is a child. Van Dekken comes to the island and engages in a fight over Yollita. Denis, Dellow's fiancée, is also saved and found by John, who takes her with him and leaves Yollita alone on the island. He then sees Yollita start out in a boat after them and plunge into the sea. Dellow awakens from his dream in time to save Yollita from Van Dekken and the next day sails for home with his "Pearl of Paradise."

Miss Fischer is truly an Oregon girl having been raised near Silverton, Oregon. About seven years ago she played for several months here in Pendleton at the Oregon theater. She is well known to many Pendleton citizens. Major Moorhouse knows her well, as also does Carl Cooley, Lew Steelhammer and scores of Pendleton people.

In addition to "The Pearl of Paradise" will be shown Chapter No. 5 of the "Lass of the Lumberlands," featuring the most fearless screen star, Helen Holmes. The name of this episode is "The Burned Record," and there are more thrilling, sensational hair-raising stunts pulled off in these two reels of pictures than in any picture ever made.

In offering this program to Pendleton people the management of the Pastime wishes to assure one and all that it is exactly as represented and carries the Pastime guarantee.

Emily Stevens Shows Great Emotional Power in "The Wager."

In "The Wager," the great Metro-Roife production which will be seen at the Alta theater on Tuesday and Wednesday, Emily Stevens had a rare opportunity to show her tremendous emotional power as an actress. Miss Stevens won high praise in "The Unchastened Woman" and "The Wheel of the Law," but "The Wager" is said to bring her rare talents more actively into play than either of the first two productions.

Miss Stevens, as "Diamond Daisy" Doyle, a woman of the underworld in "The Wager," is called upon to depict a great change which takes place in the spirit of a feminine crook. Because of Daisy Doyle's cleverness as a diamond thief, the police have been unable to convict her. Detective Purman, who has sent her sweetheart, "Slippery Jim," to prison, is determined that she shall go the same route.

Daisy, deeply in love with Jim, decides to reform. Here is where the strongest phase of Miss Stevens' emotional art is seen. She depicts on the screen the struggle of Daisy Doyle's soul to "find" itself, and she does it with wonderful effect.

The play, written and directed by George D. Baker, is filled with powerful dramatic situations. In one of these Daisy Doyle is induced by Police Commissioner Stone to relieve a jeweler of gems, so that Stone may win a wager. The complications that follow form the basis of the powerful play.

Kisses by the Foot.
Kisses are measured by the foot instead of by time in moving pictures. In one of the episodes of "Pearl of the Army," Pathe's military serial, Pearl White has a twelve foot kiss "And I enjoyed every foot of it," she said, smiling at Ralph Kellard, the hero. The Trator episode of "Pearl of the Army," is to be shown at the Cosy Theater today.

TWO STARS IN RED FEATHER CAST AT COSY TUES.-WED.

In the cast of the Red Feather production, "The Devil's Bondwoman," there appear the names of a great galaxy of stars. As the public so well knows this does not always mean that the play is well acted, as often in this kind of a production they make room for the stars. Such is not the case in this play. Dorothy Davenport in the part of a young girl who by her sweet influence reforms her cousin of his evil ways, is her own charming self. Emory Johnson does well playing opposite and Richard Morris makes an ideal devil or villain. The part of the temptress is taken by Adele Farrington, who plays it well and looks as well as acts the part. On Tuesday and Wednesday at the Cosy theater, where "The Devil's Bondwoman" will be shown, there will be an opportunity of seeing the masterpiece that Director Lloyd B. Carlton has made out of this wonderful story.

starring vehicle for Wilfred Lucas and Constance Talmadge, at the Temple theater. Winifred Westover takes the part of a pretty servant girl who becomes infatuated with nearly every man she sees, but scorns the hired man who worships her from a distance. She makes a tragic mistake when she sets her affections on an unscrupulous quack doctor. A murder follows which forms the basis of what is said to be one of the most absorbing bits of detective work ever shown on the screen.

Winifred Westover is the daughter of Clyde Westover, president of the San Francisco Press Club. Her future as a screen favorite is regarded as extremely promising.

Owing to the delay in shipment and not being able to show this picture Sunday we are holding it over for a special run today and tonight.

JUST THE GIST

PLACERVILLE, Cal., Jan. 2.—In an upright position in the fork of a tree, the body of Carl O. Holstrom, of San Luis Obispo, reported missing 14 months ago, was found today by a hunter in the hills near Placerville. Before coming to Placerville, some time previous to his disappearance from here, Holstrom had been in a sanitarium.

ALBANY, Or., Jan. 2.—Upon his return to Albany early next month, Honorable William H. Hornbrook, United States minister to Siam, will be honored a big banquet in the Hotel Albany.

ALBANY, Or., Jan. 2.—Miss Helen V. Crawford of Lebanon, who served for several years as instructor in education in the Oregon agricultural college, will be assistant to Mrs. Ida Maxwell Cumings, of Halsey, who became county school superintendent of Linn county.

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Jan. 2.—Sheridan had the thrill of his life in a new year starter when a gunman who gave his name as James Allen, 23, ex-sailor, held up the chief of police and two of his best and trusted policemen on the main street at the point of a gun.

CENTRALIA, Wash., Jan. 2.—A cigarette stub is believed to have caused a $400 fire loss here today to a building on B street, owned by Fred Bauerle. The structure was used as a clubroom by some boys. A high wind was blowing at the time and adjoining structures were threatened.

SALEM, Or., Jan. 2.—While no definite statement has been made, it is claimed that L. N. Blowers who has received numerous endorsements from citizens all over Hood River county, will be the choice of Governor Withycombe as successor to E. E. Stanton, who recently resigned as county judge.

SPOKANE, Wash., Jan. 1.—In an interview here today, Coach William S. "Lone Star" Dietz announced that he would not return to coach Washington State College's eleven next season.

SALEM, Or., Jan. 1.—The County Commissioners turned over to County Assessor West last night the final tax levy for Marion county for the coming year, which will be 16.5 mills. State tax will be 3 mills, school tax 2.5 mills and county tax 4.5 mills. This will make the total levy for the city of Salem 30.5 mills.

WASHINGTON, Wash., Jan. 1.—In the past year the largest sheep-feeding sheds in the Northwest were built at this place at a cost of nearly $7000 by Frank Russell and G. C. Sheppard. The sheds, six in all, adjoin the tracks of the Spokane, Portland & Seattle railroad, with a capacity of 12,000 sheep, and are fitted with a closed shipping platform which makes possible the loading of 15 carloads of sheep at once.
