MUTTON AND LAMBS SCARCE

PORTLAND, Jan. 12.—The great scarcity of mutton and lambs in the local trade is most pronounced, and there continues a lack of offerings on the local market. While two loads of stock were reported in the mutton and lamb division of the yards over night, nothing at all was available for the general trade. The arrivals were from the Washington feed lots of a local meat company.

The great scarcity of mutton and lambs for the open market is expected to force an additional advance in the price here within the immediate future.
