A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have.

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, you will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

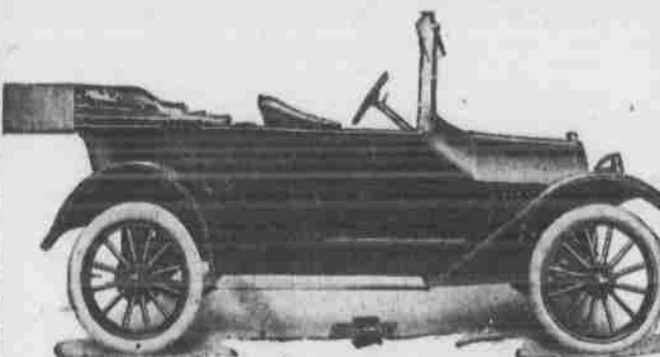

If you have a pale face, sallowness, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results. Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

The Weakly Bulldogger

MONDAY, JANUARY 22, 1917.

A Smutty Story.

Just as we suspected, you didn't waste any time in reading this after glancing at the head. However, you are doomed to disappointment. We are simply going to quote from Henry Taylor's speech at the last council meeting apropos a complaint about the dust from the wheat-cleaning plant. Said Henry: "I don't blame those people for kicking. I know from experience that smut isn't the most pleasant thing in the world."

Wonder If Doss Washed Their Dishes For Them.

"I've heard about the guy who goes into a saloon and asks for a drink of water, and of the guy who lounges in the bookstore to read the magazines, and of the guy who sends to Portland for his new carpet and asks the local dealer to lay it for him and of the guy who borrows the barber's razor to shave himself, but for a stellar exhibition of 120 proof nerve, just cast your lamps on that," said Doss Swearingin, manager of the French restaurant, as he pointed to a party of three men and three ladies who appropriated a table in his eating place and calmly spread out the lunch they had brought with them.

Before Staying Out Late, Give An Injection.

It's a pity that dentists don't believe in advertising. We believe that if it were more generally known that they have a fluid with which they freeze a patient's jaw and which makes it all but impossible for the patient to talk for a half day afterwards that fewer men would complain of their wives making appointments with the dentist.

T's for Tat.

"Do you know that the man who writes 'Do You Know' for the E. O. does not read his bible, and spells 'Isiah, Isiah'?" is the way a communication reads that has been turned over to us. In reply, we wish to say that he does not read his bible as often as he should, but that he has been taught enough respect for the book to write it always with a capital B.

Ouch!

Dear Mister Bulldogger:
I am a young lady of your town and I move in what is known as the "best" circles. I and many other young ladies entertain more or less and we include among our guests a number of young unmarried men of the city. And yet when a dance comes along to which both we and the young men are invited, they apparently never think of escorting us to it. Why is it? Do they think we have designs upon them or are they just lacking in social courtesy? The ways of a woman pass all understanding but the ways of some young men give me a pain.

A MISS WHO IS MIFFED.

Shut Up!

"I see by the papers," said the witless wag, "that thieves have been raiding the dental offices and stealing sheet gold. It behooves us who have gold fillings in our teeth to sleep with our mouths shut."

"I wish," said the worm who turned, "that the fear of such thieves would govern some people during their waking moments."

Lee Should Get Damages For This.

Many men and most women are glib when it comes to celebrities. They are just naturally so keen to boast an acquaintance with some person who has distinguished himself that it wouldn't be very difficult to pawn off a sheepskin on them for an Italian count. Else how can you explain two vaudeville actresses being duped into accepting Lloyd Riches, editor of the Stanfield Standard, as Lee Caldwell, champion broncho buster of the world?

That's just what happened last week in the Hotel Pendleton lobby. Lloyd as a mere infant galloped on a hobby horse, as a boy he charged about on a stick horse and, it is said, he even rode a pony through school. But that's about the extent of his equestrian experience. Ten thousand bales of greenbacks wouldn't tempt him to mount old Long Tom upon whose back Caldwell won his title. And yet when these little footlight favorites expressed an eager desire to meet the king of bucking horse tames, Joe Ross had the temerity to drag forth the credit editor of Stanfield who chanced to be registered at the hotel. After the first blush of timidity had faded from his face, Lloyd responded to the hero-worshipping smiles of the ladies and in five minutes was boasting of his daredevil deeds with the braggadocio and swagger of a western desperado. Joe Ross says Lloyd may not qualify as a champion broncho buster but he'll pl him against the world as a bull thrower.

Indignant Parent—Your suggestion that a proper club for boys would prove the best solution of the refractory spirit among the high school students meets with our hearty approval. Properly handled a club is the most effective queller of disturbances of this nature of which we know.

Roland—You can refer to us as the Bulldogger as your peril. We've croaked men for less.

Griggs—Investigation leads us to believe that the four men who are training up at the German hall to take fox-trot honors from you and Jim Estes are Milt Whitmore, Frank Sullivan, Happy Day and Doc Lassen.

TRIP TO HEAVEN HALTED BY COPS. GOES TO ASYLUM

LEBANON, Ill., Jan. 22.—Mathias Dominas, who has forgotten his address, is under observation at the Belleville hospital today and his "trip to heaven" has been halted. Dominas was found under the exhaust pipe of the Pfeiffer Milling company here. He said he was "going to heaven." The man refused to eat steak, potatoes or similar food, but greedily devoured raw corn from the cob. The police describe him as a "nut."

WAR DEPARTMENT TO PROBE "SPREAD EAGLE" OF GUARDSMEN.

MAX KELLERMAN

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Steps are being taken by the war department today to investigate the punishment inflicted upon Private Max Kellerman, of the Second Field Artillery, New York National Guard. Kellerman alleged that several of his superior officers caused him to be tied and "spread eagled" to a gun carriage in the armory of the regiment, as a punishment for infraction of discipline. He says that he was kept in the painful and humiliating position for an hour.

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Easier, Quicker and Without the Blister

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole. Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of a pleasant white ointment. It takes the place of out-of-date mustard plasters, and will not blister. Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).
