WESTERN GIRL MAJORIES A WEALTHY MINER

Overcomes Drawbacks and Finally Enters Best Society.

Edith Storey proves again in "Money Magic," the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon feature, to be shown at the Pastime theater on Sunday and Monday, in which she plays with Antonio Moreno and William Duncan, that she is one of the most versatile players on the beloved screen.

Her role is that of a young girl brought up on a ranch who marries a wealthy miner, also lacking in the ways of conversation and society. The struggle which she suffers in her attempt to learn the "whys and wherefores" of her cultured neighbors is realistically portrayed in a humorous manner, interspersed with touches of pathos.

There is no star on the screen today who could interpret this part better than does Miss Storey. She seems to have gotten right into the spirit of her role and makes it a living one throughout.

Then as she slowly masters the thousand details for herself she is thrown into contact with her husband's people. They are far more ignorant than she ever thought of being, and evidently lay upon her, but, conscious of her own shortcomings a few months previous, she makes an effort to place them at their ease and at the same time impart to them some knowledge of etiquette.

Always famed for her exceptional versatility, Edith Storey proves in this variety role that she has been worthy of any praise ever bestowed.

In addition "A Jerry on the Job," cartoon, a Krazy Kats cartoon and a fashion playlet.

Though Louise Huff and Jack Pickford have both been playing very modern young people in their recent photoplays on the Paramount program, both of these Famous Players stars have now reverted many years in their characterizations, to the celebrated types which Dickens has immortalized in print. After appearing as twentieth century characters for a good many months, they are now starring in the Famous Players adaptation of "Pickwick," celebrated "Great Expectations." It is the attraction at the Alta theater tonight.

Pauline Frederick has played many great roles on the screen, ranging from "Zaza," the French actress, and "Bella Donna," the English adventuress in the Orient, to "Aubrey," the simple American child of the forest, and the primitive French-Canadian "Nanette of the Wilds." Now the great Famous Players star appears at the Alta Sunday and Monday in the role of a proud Spanish beauty in the Paramount picture, "The Slave Market." With her is Thomas Meighan, former Laskey player, who makes his first appearance in a Famous Players production in this picture.

"The Slave Market" was written by Frederic Arnold Kummer and directed by Hugh Ford, is a thrilling romance of the Spanish Main, of pirates, love, hate and all that goes with them. It is crammed full of action, from the time that Pauline Frederick steps upon the screen until, in a tremendous scene, Thomas Meighan, as a soldier of fortune, rescues her from the hand of pirates who had placed her on sale in the slave market in revenge for the death of their leader.

Temple Sunday and Monday, The Cooper-Rigdon dancers have a novelty dance act which is the best thing of its kind that vaudeville has seen for some time. The five attractive young ladies are well costumed and supported by beautiful futuristic stage settings. It is a feature act worthy of praise.

Edwards and McKenna who play at the Temple theater are recent arrivals in this country, having just completed a most successful tour of Australia, China, Japan and the Hawaiian Islands. Miss McKenna who has a most charming manner and pleasing stage presence also possesses a most beautiful rich dramatic soprano voice of unusual brilliancy and sweetness of tone, being a voice seldom heard on the vaudeville stage.

A unique comedy novelty, introducing sensational and comedy tricks on the bicycle and unicycle, and grotesque acrobatic dancing.

COZY SUNDAY, "The Cossack Whip," a story of the Hells of Modern Russia.

The story tells of a young Russian girl whose father is sent to Siberia and whose sister has been outraged and killed by the chief of police. Darya swears vengeance and succeeds in escaping the long and crushing arm of the secret service. She is helped in her flight from Russia by Sergius, the dancer at the Imperial theater. In England she works hard and succeeds in becoming a member of the Russian ballet headed by Mme. Poleska. Sergius does not recognize her when he meets her again in England and there are differences between them because Darya thinks him untrue.
