

Delicious Sally Lunns in fifteen minutes!

(Report No. 5) By the man who timed them

One Friday last Winter, I purposely went home early. I found my wife at the piano.

She asked me if I still wanted the Sally Lunns that night.

"Yes," I answered. I had gone home especially to get posted on Cottolene.

"All right," she said. "Come along. Watch and you may learn how to do it yourself."

My thoughts ran ahead. Would the crust be crisp? That's the real test of Sally Lunns with me.

Of course I don't remember all my wife did. But I do know that she used one-third less Cottolene than we usually use of butter.

She was pleased to see how easily the Cottolene mixed with the flour. I fidgeted and waited.

She took them out of the oven in fifteen minutes. I had been timing Cottolene.

The Sally Lunns were absolutely light and delicious.

I wish you had seen their tempting golden color! And crisp doesn't begin to describe the crust. It's something you would have to taste to really understand.

If you have never tasted Sally Lunns muffins made with wholesome Cottolene, take my advice—do.

NERVOUSNESS AND BLUES

Symptoms of More Serious Sickness.

Washington Park, Ill.—"I am the mother of four children and have suffered with female trouble, backache, nervous spells and the blues. My children's loud talking and romping would make me so nervous I could just tear everything to pieces and I would ache all over and feel so sick that I would not want anyone to talk to me at times. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills restored me to health and I want to thank you for the good they have done me. I have had quite a bit of trouble and worry but it does not affect my youthful looks. My friends say 'Why do you look so young and well?' I owe it all to the Lydia E. Pinkham remedies."—Mrs. ROBT. STORILL, Sage Avenue, Washington Park, Illinois.

Daily Chats With the Housewife

WASHINGTON, April 18.—March, April, May and June are the months when the hens of the country produce about fifty per cent of the lay of the whole year. These are the months, also, when the thrifty housewife who has her own hens, or who can draw upon the surplus supply of a near-by neighbor, puts away in water glass or lime-water, eggs for next autumn and winter. To ensure success, care must be exercised in this operation. The following directions are from the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

In the first place, the eggs must be fresh, preferably not more than two or three days old. This is the reason why it is much more satisfactory to put away eggs produced in one's own chicken yard.

Fertile eggs are best if they can be obtained—so, after the hatching, exclude roosters from the flock and kill them for table as needed. The shells must be clean. Washing an egg with a soiled shell lessens its keeping quality. The protective gelatinous covering over the shell is removed by water and when this is gone the egg spoils more rapidly.

The shells also must be free from even the tiniest crack. One cracked egg will spoil a large number of sound eggs when packed in water glass.

Earthenware crocks are good containers. The crocks must be clean and sound. Scald them and let them cool completely before use. A crock holding six gallons will accommodate eighteen dozens of eggs and about twenty-two pints of solution. Too large crocks are not desirable, since they increase the liability of breaking some of the eggs, and spoiling the entire batch. It must be remembered that the eggs on the bottom crack first and that those in the bottom of the crock are the last to be removed for use. Eggs can be put up in smaller crocks and the eggs put in the crock first should be used first in the household.

Water Glass Method.

"Water glass" is known to the chemist as sodium silicate. It can be purchased by the quart from druggists or poultry supply men. It is a pale yellow, odorless, sirupy liquid. It is diluted in the proportion of one part of silicate to nine parts of distilled water, rain water, or other water. In any case, the water should be boiled and then allowed to cool. Half fill the vessel with this solution and place the eggs in it, being careful not to crack them. The eggs can be added a few at a time until the container is filled. Be sure to keep about two inches of water glass above the eggs. Cover the crock and place it in the coolest place available from which the crock will not have to be moved. Inspect the crock from time to time and replace any water that has evaporated with cool boiled water.

How to Use the Preserved Eggs.

When the eggs are to be used, remove them as desired, rinse in clean, cold water and use immediately. Eggs preserved in water glass can be used for soft boiling or poaching, up to November. Before boiling such eggs prick a tiny hole in the large end of the shell with a needle to keep them from cracking. They are satisfactory for frying until about December. From that time until the end of the usual storage period—that is until March—they can be used for omelettes, scrambled eggs, custards, cakes and general cookery. As the eggs age, the white becomes thinner and is harder to beat. The yolk membrane becomes more delicate and it is correspondingly difficult to separate the whites from the yolks. Sometimes the white of the egg is tinged pink after very long keeping in water glass. This is due, probably, to a little iron which is in the sodium silicate, but which apparently does not injure the egg for food purposes.

Lime-water Method.

Lime-water is also satisfactory for preserving eggs and is slightly less expensive than water glass. A solution is made by placing two or three pounds of unslaked lime in five gallons of water, which has been boiled and allowed to cool, and allowing the mixture to stand until the lime settles and the liquid is clear. The eggs should be placed in a clean earthenware jar or other suitable vessel and covered to a depth of two inches with the liquid. Remove the eggs as desired, rinse in clean, cold water, and use immediately.

443 U. S. CITIZENS IN GERMANY NOW

175 Are Women and 78 Are Children—Less Than Half Born in This Country.

AMSTERDAM, Holland, April 18.—The Spanish Legation in Berlin has ascertained that there are 443 American citizens in Germany of whom 175 are men, 175 women and 78 children. Of the total number 46 are students and 145, business men, dentists, doctors, artists, etc. The Rheinische Westfalsches Zeitung says:

"These Americans who have turned their backs on the old country, possibly to escape military service, now claim the right of hospitality here, while their hearts and tax lists belong overseas. Perhaps the noble Prince of Peace Wilson will claim them back to help American militarism fight German militarism. Students continue their studies here, which is comprehensible, as we still are treating Americans as of the elect."

3000 Machine Guns Ordered. WASHINGTON, April 19.—The war and navy departments each placed an emergency order for three thousand Lewis machine guns.

Most Effective Remedy Mother Had Ever Used

DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSEIN HOLDS UP BABY WHEN OTHER MEDICINES FAIL.

There is nothing so necessary to a child's health and comfort as regularity of the bowels. All children are especially susceptible to stomach trouble and any overstrain of the sensitive organs has a tendency to obstruct elimination. This condition is responsible for much of the illness of childhood.

To relieve constipation a mild laxative should be employed. Cathartics and purgatives are violent in their action and should be avoided. Mrs. Alfred Du Bois, Mt. Holly, N. J., says Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is without doubt the most effective remedy for constipation she has ever used and that it is the only remedy she could find for her baby. Little Earl was badly constipated during his first year and nothing she tried seemed to help him until she got a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Now he is a fine, strong, healthy boy, and she thanks Dr. Caldwell for it.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, free from opiates or narcotic drugs; it acts gently without griping or other discomfort, and appeals to children because of its pleasant taste. Druggists everywhere sell it for fifty cents a bottle, and every mother should have it in the house for use whenever occasion arises. To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes, always be sure to ask for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B.
