A LIST OF SANDWICH FILLINGS

New that the picnic season is approaching, sandwich making will probably soon become a frequent occupation. Here is a list of a few sandwich fillings which have been found good.

Salmon and Pickles—Remove all skin and bones from a can of salmon, break the fish into small pieces with a fork, add half a dozen or so small sour pickles, chopped fine—the amount must be governed by the maker's taste—mix to a paste with mayonnaise and spread over slightly buttered slices of white or brown bread.

Meat—Ham, chicken, cold rare roast beef, tongue sliced or minced and mixed with salad dressing.

Shrimps—Chop the shrimps and mix with well seasoned cream salad dressing and spread on buttered bread.

Sardines—Chop and mix to a paste with French dressing.

Eggs—Boil hard or fry (hard, also) and mix with salt, pepper, salad dressing or melted butter.

Cheese—Slices of plain American cheese over which has been sprinkled a seasoning of pepper, salt, dry mustard and paprika. Cream cheese, mixed with chopped olives, pimentos, green peppers, nuts, preserved ginger, or jelly.

Water Cress—Chop the cress, mix with French dressing, and spread over buttered bread.

Cucumbers—Cut in slices, either round or lengthwise, according to choice, or chop and mix with French dressing. Season well with pepper and salt.

Tomatoes—Cut in slices and spread one side with mayonnaise.

Lettuce or Romaine—Sprinkle with French dressing or spread thinly with mayonnaise.

Beans—Boston baked beans, mixed with French dressing or chopped pickle, make delicious sandwiches, particularly with plain Boston brown bread.

Marmalade—Any kind of marmalade or jelly makes a good sweet sandwich.

BAKED FRUIT PUDDING.

Grease a pie dish, cover the bottom with apples or plums, sprinkle over a little sugar, and pour in 1-2 cupful of water. Fill the dish with breadcrumbs, beat up 1 egg, with 1 pint of milk, add sugar to taste, pour the custard over the breadcrumbs and bake for three quarters of an hour.

LONDON WANTS U. S. TO ADOPT CONSCRIPTION PLAN

LONDON, April 25.—Americans and British here joined in wishing the United States will adopt conscription. Interviews with scores of Americans and views expressed in the lobbies of the house of commons showed this unity today.

Members of the commons are enthusiastic over the proposal that the United States send expeditions to Europe immediately, under Roosevelt or any other leader.

PENDLETON IS PLAYING GAME OF "FREEZE OUT" WITH GOD IN OPINION OF DR. J. Q. A. HENRY

Weather conditions though unfavorable for a large attendance to the revival meetings being held in Happy Canyon pavilion by Dr. J. Q. A. Henry and party, do not prevent a rapidly growing congregation from attending every evening. Dr. Henry's subject was "A Life on Fire for God." In his remarks he said a professed follower of Christ must possess three qualities to maintain a true Christian character, namely, first, a personal relation or experience with Jesus, second, a clear understanding of what the Saviour did for mankind and why, His atonement and resurrection for all mankind, including the harlot, drunkard, gambler or thief, God must see something of value in every one that he should give His son as a sacrifice or atonement for the sins of many; third, an open minded vision of Christ's purpose, not to trifle or play with religion. For example the Christian world is merely playing with foreign missions giving $20,000,000 to missions last year while New York City in one day alone, spend over $1,000,000 frivolously.

Dr. Henry asserted that the churches are barely holding their own in numerical growth. That the salvation of the country must be made in the cities as the cities at present are dragging the country and democracy to ruin.

Pendleton would be a different and better town if the business men would give God a chance to speak through them. This city is noted for its fair play and big hearted men but as far as God is concerned it looks like a game of freeze-out with the cards stacked. What are the professed Christians of Pendleton doing to save Pendleton for Christ? God's only way of manifesting himself is through mankind and if the Christian people of the city are barely holding their own, Pendleton is a doomed town morally and spiritually. Dr. Henry severely flayed the church members for their apparent lack of spiritual fibre saying many church members have no positive belief or faith whatsoever. Pulpits are filled with preachers who lack power and pas-

INDIANS WILL BE ASKED TO ENLIST

All Who Can Read and Write English and Pass Usual Examination Will be Accepted.

Local army recruiting officers will attempt to swell the list of recruits from this section by enlisting the younger Indians of the Umatilla reservation. Notification was received yesterday to the effect that all Indians who could read and write English and who could pass the usual examination would be accepted into the army.

Private H. C. Ogden, who is assisting Colonel Frank Harrow here, plans to go out to the reservation next week to interest the younger men of the reservation. Rev. J. M. Cornelison, missionary at Tutuilla, believes a full company could be recruited there if proper steps were taken to encourage the Indians to do their part. Private Ogden will seek the co-operation of Agent Swartzlander and Rev. Cornelison in placing the matter before the Indians.

Private Ogden states that for three years his "bunkie" in the army was an Indian and was the best "bunkie" he ever had. There is no prejudice against Indians among army men, he states.

NOTED PLAYWRIGHT, FORMER EDITOR OF "PUNCH," DIES

LONDON, April 25.—Sir Francis Cowley Burnand, formerly editor of Punch, died at Hammersmith, his home, today. He was 81 years old.

Sir Francis U. Burnand was editor of Punch from 1862 to 1906. He was a playwright and author of much light literature. Among the more than 120 plays, chiefly burlesques and light comedies, of which he was the author, was "Black-Eye Susan," which ran for 800 nights at Royalty Theatre, Soho, and was played for years in America. He was a barrister as well as an author.

Spring is looked upon by many as the most delightful season of the year, but this cannot be said of the rheumatic. The cold and damp weather brings on rheumatic pains which are anything but pleasant. They can be relieved, however, by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.
