

Style--- and what is beneath.

Underlying the surface look of a garment are the things that determine its stamina, its staunchness, its service-ability.

But if a suit is cankered with weak spots inside, they will eat their way outside at the first sign of vigorous wear. A suit that is 90 per cent genuine and 10 per cent imitation soon looks 90 per cent imitation and 10 per cent genuine.

No man ever received satisfactory wear from a garment that did not contain these essentials:

—AN ALL WOOL FABRIC, thoroughly shrunken by the best approved cold water process, and not by the first rain in which the wearer is caught.

—GENUINE LINEN CANVAS and not a cheap cotton or burlap substitute.

—SEWING at all points of strain done painstakingly by hand with silk thread, and no weak, unsightly cotton.

For the man who wants to be sure there is not a detail in the whole suit where a makeshift is tolerated—there is one safeguard.

It is the HART, SCHAFFNER & MARX LABEL.

Our prices range from $17.50 to $30.00.

BERG'S SCIENCE DEFEATS JOHNSON

Although Handicapped by Greater Weight and Strength, Berg Gives Fine Exhibition of Headwork and Skill.

Though he was handicapped by the greater weight and the superior strength of I. A. Johnson, the big Swede from Minnesota, John Berg of Spokane last evening gave a scientific and interesting demonstration that quickness, headwork and skill count for more in the wrestling game than bulk and muscular might. After losing one fall to the Herculean Norwegian, he fastened toe holds twice upon the other and forced him to yield. Johnson's strength was all that it was touted. At times the lighter Berg seemed almost a baby in his hands. However, he was slow and clumsy while the Spokane man was quick and skillful in his execution of the mat science.

Berg lost the first fall to Johnson in exactly 28 minutes. The two big fellows kept their feet most of the bout, Johnson seeming to prefer standing on his legs so that he could take advantage of his great strength. In one of the few times they went to the mat during the first bout, Johnson fastened a bar-arm and headlock on Berg and literally crushed him to the mat. After a five minute rest they went at it again and within seven minutes Berg had fastened such a cruel double-toe hold upon Johnson that the Swede was forced to quit though his shoulders were not on the mat. Berg had locked the toe of one of Johnson's feet in the knee of the other and with both arms and all his weight bent the other leg back. The pain was severe and Johnson called "enough." Johnson was very cautious when he came back on the mat and tried to keep his sore ankle out of the way. However, it wasn't long until Berg had secured another painful toe hold and was twisting the leg of the big fellow. To save himself needless punishment, Johnson threw his shoulders on to the mat. The bout was enjoyed throughout by the crowd, which was not very large. Ray McCarroll acted as referee. Before the match it was announced that Christensen, now in Boise, challenged the winner. Two wrestling preliminaries preceded the main event. Young Cox threw Young Willis twice, once in a minute and a half and once in five minutes. McCarroll threw Baker down in 1-1/2 minutes in a handicap match.

LONDON, May 4.—England's present national debt is eighteen billion, four hundred and ninety million, according to figures in the budget Chancellor of the Exchequer Andrew Bonar Law introduced in the house of commons.
