UNITED THEY STOOD, DIVIDED THEY—STUCK

Handcuffed Prisoners Argue How to Escape; Both Lose.

CANTON, May 3.—Because they should not agree on which way they should go, two prisoners, handcuffed to each other and left unguarded, failed to escape here today.

Constable McMasters of Steubenville was conveying three prisoners to the Stark county workhouse. While they were on the Pennsylvania station platform here, one of them decided he wanted a drink and started after it.

The constable pursued him, leaving the other two standing handcuffed together.

Both men agreed they wanted to escape and started away, but one of the pair wanted to go east while the other insisted on going west.

The argument attracted bystanders who held the men until the constable returned.

Stop Rheumatism Before It Takes Hold

You can do it by keeping your blood clean. The kidneys filter about 500 grains of uric acid and other salts from the blood every 24 hours. When there is more than the kidneys can remove, it is deposited in muscles and joints, and painful rheumatism follows. S. S. S., for 50 years the most efficient of all blood tonics, will keep the blood pure and prevent disease. At your druggist.

HELD PUT PARK ALLIGATORS TO WORK CLEANING SEWERS

Trenton City Engineer Makes the Suggestion to Cosponsors in Let.

TRENTON, May 2.—The use of alligators as cleaners of sewers is a proposal made by A. C. Gregory, engineer of the city's sewers. He admits his indebtedness to the City of Jacksonville, Fla., for the idea. They have been using alligators to clean the sewers there.

The method is as follows: A rope is tied to an alligator and he is put in a drain and started on an amble along the subterranean pathway. Chains are tied to the rope that the alligator has pulled through the sewer and the chains are pulled back and forth by man power, clearing away the obstruction.

In a letter which Mr. Gregory wrote to Commissioner Durk, director of the City Parks, he suggested that there are a number of alligators at the park whose time, now unprofitably employed in catching flies, might be given to his department, "to the advantage of the city, which supports them now in comparative idleness."

CLIMBED STAIRS ON HER HANDS

Too Ill to Walk Upright. Operation Advised. Saved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

This woman now raises chickens and does manual labor. Read her story: Richmond, Ind.—"For two years I was so sick and weak with troubles from my age that when going up stairs I had to go very slowly with my hands on the steps, then sit down at the top to rest. The doctor said he thought I should have an operation, and my friends thought I would not live to move into our new house. My daughter asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she had taken it with good results. I did so, my weakness disappeared, I gained in strength, moved into our new home, did all kinds of garden work, shoveled dirt, did building and cement work, and raised hundreds of chickens and ducks. I cannot say enough in praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and if these facts are useful you may publish them for the benefit of other women."—Mrs. M. O. JOHNSON, Route D, Box 130, Richmond, Ind.
