They don't Drill With Arms Anyway
Some of the officers of the military units ought to be court-martialed in the interests of efficiency, said W. Kirkpatrick.

Income Versus Outgo.
The law doubling the automobile license fee goes into effect today. It sure does cost money to own a car, said Charley Hoard, who has a Ford.

These Sheep Were Fed on Navy Beans
I see by the paper that a man from New York has bought 10,000 sheep here, said a friend to Sam Thompson.

I would not shirk at detail work, I'm Yankee thru and thru; I'll sing 'My Country 'Tis of Thee' And 'Yankee Doodle Do.' And if by chance we go to France To head the German lion, I want to head the big parade And hear the bullets whine. But, er I go across the seas Or sing those stirring tunes, I want a meal that don't consist Of coffee, beans and prunes.

Habit is a hard taskmaster. After getting up early in the morning for a year and throwing hay into the manger for his oxen, Rev. J. M. Cornelson who recently sold his team and bought a Ford, awoke from a trance the other morning to find him-

Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity—Requiring all public service utilities to obtain from the public service commission a certificate of public convenience and necessity before entering a new field already served by another company.

Anti-Conspiracy Law—Making it a crime, punishable by fine and imprisonment for persons or companies or corporations to enter into a conspiracy to destroy free competition on public contracts, including the state, county, town and district contracts.

State Penitentiary—Control of the state penitentiary is taken from the state board of control and placed entirely in the hands of the governor.

Road Laws—The present system of taking care of county roads under the direction of supervisors is abolished and a roadmaster is to be appointed in each county. An effort has been made to remove conflicting provisions in road laws and provides a law under which the road work may be done on a business-like basis.

Mothers' Pensions—Old law was amended so as to leave the matter of granting pensions to dependent widowed mothers practically entirely to the discretion of the county court.

Medical and Surgical Treatment for Sick and Deformed Indigent Children—Any county judge on his own motion, or on complaint of any probation officer, school teacher, relief officer of physician, may investigate the case of any child afflicted with some deformity or disease which may be removed with proper care and treatment to ascertain if the parents or guardian are unable to have such child properly treated.

Non-Support—The so-called Joker slipped into the non-support law by the 1915 legislature is removed. This Joker exempted divorced husbands from having to support their minor children.

Illegitimate Children—Providing a method to compel the father of an illegitimate child to contribute to the support of such child.

A Freak! A Freak!
George Doune, merchant, is in town from Pilot Rock. George is the only man we have met who is not trying to get into the officers' reserve corps, says Rob Cronin in the Portland Journal.

This Is Fair Poetry.
The Weston Leader, breaking its office rule against poetry, prints the following from Sid Barnes who is soldiering at Boise Barracks:

I'm glad that I'm a soldier And wear a campaign hat; I'm trying hard to learn to guard, And everything like that. I like to drill and walk my post In military ways; I'd give my life, mid shot and strife And would not ask for praise, O Lord of Hosts, The greatest of all heroes, A meal that does not most consist Of coffee, beans and prunes.

I would not shirk at detail work, I'm Yankee thru and thru; I'll sing 'My Country 'Tis of Thee' And 'Yankee Doodle Do.' And if by chance we go to France To head the German lion, I want to head the big parade And hear the bullets whine. But, er I go across the seas Or sing those stirring tunes, I want a meal that don't consist Of coffee, beans and prunes.

But if I'm called to take my stand In land of enemies; Where rivers running red with blood Flow gently to the sea— Where cannon crowds and buzzards Obliterate the sun— And gorge upon the tombless dead When all the fighting's done; I'll do my best and with the rest Beneath the foreign moons I'll sing 'My Country 'Tis of Thee' And coffee, beans and prunes.

Grain Inspection Bureau—The public service commission is required to exercise general supervision over the handling, weighing, inspecting and storage of grain and hay, and the management of public and terminal warehouses.

Recall of School Directors—Providing for the recall of school directors, the question of recall to be submitted at the next annual school election upon the petition of legal voters equal in number to 15 per cent of the number of school children in the district.

Trust Companies—Prescribing new regulations for trust companies, which are placed under the jurisdiction of the state superintendent of banks.

Irrigation and Drainage District Code—Providing for the organization and regulation of irrigation and drainage districts.

Limestone—Providing for the appointment of a state limestone board which is authorized to acquire in name of the state lime deposits and manufacture the lime into products best suited to agricultural use and sell the same to farmers at cost.

Cigarettes—Prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to any minor.

Advertising—Prohibiting untrue, deceptive and misleading assertions, misrepresentations or statements of fact in advertisements and providing a penalty for the violation thereof.

Mortgaged Property—Prohibiting the owner of mortgaged personal property for removing the same from the county where such property is mortgaged, or selling or disposing of the same without the written consent of the mortgagee.

Piracies and Weapons—Prohibiting the manufacture, sale, possession, carrying or using of any blackjack, billy, sandbag, sand club, metal knuckles, dirk or stiletto, prohibiting the carrying of certain firearms and giving the sheriff and chief of police power to issue a person a license for carrying a concealed weapon.

Fingerprints—Authorizing county sheriffs to take the fingerprints of persons convicted and confined in the county jail and providing a central office for filing the same with the sheriff of Multnomah county.

Game Laws—Chapter 297 makes a general revision of the game laws.

Larceny—Provides a penalty for the stealing of any wheat, barley, rye or other grain after the same has been harvested and threshed.

Notaries Public—Prohibiting the doing of certain acts and the making of false representations by notaries public, prescribing and punishing therefore and making conviction grounds for removal.

Estates—Preventing any heir or beneficiary who feloniously causes the death or disability of another from taking from such persons any portion of his estate by devise, legacy descent or as surviving spouse.

Driving While Drunk—Making it a misdemeanor for any person to operate or drive an automobile, motorcycle or other motor vehicle, who is intoxicated while so engaged or operating such machine and prohibiting the employment of a person addicted to drunkenness to drive any automobile, motorcycle or other motor vehicle. Further, the law makes it a felony to cause bodily harm to any person who drives a motor vehicle while drunk.

Poisoning Pests—Permitting a person in possession of enclosed land in any county west of the Cascade mountains whose sheep, goats or other domesticated animals are being killed, injured or harassed by wild animals to put out poison upon such premises between sunset and sunrise of any day.

LIVE NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

TACOMA, Wash., May 21.—W. H. Stimpson, 51, who smashed Colonel Albert E. Joab in the nose the other day because the latter, Stimpson says, cursed President Wilson, today is the proud possessor of a big American flag presented to him by friends who admire his swatting ability. Stimpson runs a small grocery store. Joab, an attorney who recently attracted considerable publicity by having a critic of Washington arrested for libeling the father of our country, was in the habit of making daily visits to Stimpson's store and criticizing the administration. Stimpson says he stood the trades as long as he could and then showed Joab the door. The old man started to lead Joab to the door. Joab continued his highly colored remarks about Wilson. Stimpson landed on Joab's nose with considerable vigor. Stimpson left the door with speed. Friends of the aged fighter immediately began to raise a purse to buy Stimpson the biggest flag in Tacoma. Today it is draped in front of the Stimpson store.

ALBANY, Ore., May 21.—Linn county crops will be increased between 15 and 20 per cent this year over last, according to the estimates of C. J. Hurd, who superintended the organization of the Linn County Council of Defense. Reports received here indicate that this percentage of increased production will be general throughout the Willamette valley. The labor shortage is not acute now but farmers say outside help will be necessary later in the year.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 21.—Between 200 and 250 ticket agents of western railroads arrived here this morning on their way home from the annual meeting of the International Association of Ticket Agents at Banff, Alta. They were shown about the city this morning, were guests of the Portland Chamber of Commerce and the Portland Transportation club at a luncheon at noon, and early this afternoon left for a trip over the Columbia river highway. They will leave for Spokane, Wash., at 8 o'clock this afternoon.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 21.—They're here. They don't call 'em overalls. They label 'em pantslette house dresses, and they resemble in a general way the union-suit nighties of children or the enveloping one-piece covering which automobilists don when they desire to crawl under their machine and find out why the dings don't jibe with the flopdoodle. 'Tis said that for digging in the backyard or garden or doing other preparedness work, the pantslette can't be beaten. Perhaps it's a good way to judge the patriotism of Portland women—perhaps it isn't—but at least Portland stores report today they are experiencing an unexpected run on the new garments.

DAVISON NOW CHAIRMAN OF RED CROSS WAR COUNCIL.

Henry P. Davison, a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Company, who has been named by President Wilson as chairman of the American Red Cross War Council. The council soon will make an appeal for many millions of dollars in aid for relief work for the American army and to aid the destitute civilian populations in the European war zone. Mr. Davison announced that the vast resources of J. P. Morgan & Company will be used to facilitate the work of the council.
