PRESIDENT WILL ADVISE BY PROCLAMATION SOON

WASHINGTON. June 7.—Returns beaching Provost Marshal General Crowder indicated the exemption claims may exceed 50 per cent of the war registration. Official expectations were not surpassed, inasmuch as a large share of the claims are on the alleged dependency of relatives. Exemption claims will be carefully examined to determine whether they are bona fide. It is indicated that only a small per centage has hidden "behind women's skirks" to be freed from military service. Conscientious objectors, if physically fit for service will probably be used behind the lines. If unable to fully prove conscientious objectious, they are subject to the netual bearing of arms.

PROBLEM UP TO CONGRESS

Is One of the Most Difficult Ahead of That Body; Food Control Bill Will Be Reported in House Early Next Week

(ROBERT J. BENDER.) WASHINGTON, June 7.- Congres-must protect the American food sup-ply from the allies, warned both the president and Hoover. Leaders of president and Hoover. Leaders of both parties turned their attention to this pressing proofem as the most difficult ahead. England's clamor for more food it growing louder and prices here climb higher. The laborer's demand for governmental action grows more in-sistent. The president declared congress must give the food control department ample powers or the allies will come here and bid for American food, hoising the prices higher.

Hoover declared adequate machin-ery must be established immediately over opposed government price fixing.

Congressmen are feeling no rest from the food situation. They are re-ceiving thousands of letters, demanding governmental action. The fo control bill will be reported in the house early next week. The house committee is sitting armost constantin an effort to finish the work.
