SAY RATE RAISE IS JUSTIFIED BY THE INCREASED COSTS

The Railroad Dollar of Today Has Purchasing Power of Less Than Half It Purchased Five Years Ago, Declares W. Bollins.

That an increase in freight rates is more than justified by the increased costs to which the O. W. R. & N. is subjected because of war conditions is declared by William Bollins, division superintendent who was in Pendleton yesterday.

"The cost of every commodity which enters into railroad operation has increased," says Mr. Bollins. "The railroad dollar of today has a purchasing power of less than half it possessed five years ago. Transportation, the only commodity that the railroad has for sale, remains at the same price that it was before the increased cost of the article bought now was in effect."

 "To meet present conditions, the railroads must increase their capacity for delivery. This need must be met, no matter what the cost. The Union Pacific system expanded during 1916 and for early delivery during 1917, $12,426,587 for freight cars and $5,528,618 for locomotives. This outlay of nearly eighteen millions of dollars was made necessary to meet the growing traffic along the system lines."

"The individual knows the increased cost of filling the family market basket. The shipper realizes that rates have advanced, for he confronts a risen market and an enlarged payroll. The railroads do not differ from the individual or the corporation buyer in the matter of outlay, but there is a very material difference when the question of the raising of revenue arises."

 "The merchant or the manufacturer adds to his selling price the amount of the increase that he is compelled to pay. Not so with the railroads. Their rates are fixed by federal and state commissions, and any increase must come with the authority of these regulatory bodies. Application has been made for a fifteen per cent increase in rates, which, while it will not meet the deficit by fully forty per cent, brought about by the advance in the cost of what the railroads have to purchase, will afford certain relief and lessen the burden of the roads."

"It is believed that the shippers are willing to be fair. This is all that the railroads ask. Our earnings and our outlay are common property. Our books are open to inspection through the federal commission which supervises our business, fixing our rates and attending to methods of operation. We have nothing to conceal, and no power to hide any fact in connection with the conduct of our business."

"We are confronted with abnormal conditions. These, it is fair to assume, will not change radically for some time. There is increased demand for the products our shippers originate. There will be augmented request for facilities to move these products. To handle the commodities of the nation, or of any particular section, the railroads must be prepared. Preparation means maintenance of way and ample equipment. These, with other requirements, mean that the railroads must have income sufficient to pay for labor, fuel, repairs, new rolling stock, and all the outlay incident to the conduct of a transportation business."

"The railroads serve the public. That is their sole function. To do this, they must be given certain remuneration. They are asking for this in part. They are willing to bear their share of any burden brought about as the condition of untoward times, but in all fairness and in spirit of justice, they should not be asked to carry more than their share, or to do business except on business principles."

Stomach Troubles and Constipation.
 "I will cheerfully say that Chamberlain's Tablets are the most satisfactory remedy for stomach troubles and constipation that I have sold in thirty-four years' drug store service," writes S. H. Murphy, druggist, Wellsburg, N. Y. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

VENEZUELA FRIENDLY TO U. S.
 WASHINGTON, June 7.—Published reports of German overtures for a submarine base on the island of Margarita, off the Venezuelan coast, drew a statement tonight from Minister Dimint denouncing the story as false, characterizing talk of German influence in Venezuela as nonsense and declaring no circumstances would arise to change the friendly attitude of his country toward the United States.

"Honor and dignity force on Venezuela an attitude of neutrality in the present war," he said, "but this neutrality is most friendly toward the United States."
