MOTION PICTURE NEWS

What the Picture Theaters Have to Tell You.

Baby Marie Osborne at Cosy Today.
 In "Sunshine and Gold" the Pathé Gold Rouser play in which Baby Marie Osborne is appearing at the Cosy Theatre today, she really plays a double role, since at the opening of the play she is seen as Cinderella in a children's performance given in honor of her birthday and later she appears as her sweet little self. A five-year-old actress in a dual role is quite a record but she showed herself equal to such characterization in "Twin Kiddies," one of the best of her pictures.

Hell Morgan's Girl Showing Last Time Today.

On the screen, at least, love works wonders as shall be proven, when "Hell Morgan's Girl" is exhibited in Bluebird photoplay at the Pastime Theatre today, with Dorothy Phillips playing the leading role. Here is a girl born and reared in a San Francisco dance hall, who has latent instincts of refinement sufficient to attract a well bred artist who has been thrown upon the Barbary Coast a victim of dissipation. How their path of love was strewn with difficulties makes a gripping story in itself. Add the excitement incidental to the catastrophe which eleven years ago wrecked San Francisco, and it is easy to imagine a screen entertainment, done in Bluebird's best style, of a nature to appeal to all classes.

ALL REGISTERED MEN MUST FIND OWN KEY NUMBER

Uncle Sam's Got your number. It behooves all men who registered on War Census day to find out their number, too. This does not mean their registration certificate number but the "red ink" serial number. To find out their number, Unsubscribed county men should apply to Clerk Brown who has a complete list. This list may be posted later in the week. The government will hold its big lottery within a few days and as the numbers are drawn from this big glass bowl they will be flashed to the screen of the adjutant general's office in town will flash them to the county election board. The numbers are serial and each one drawn will pick a man from almost every precinct.

Should Watch for Drawing.

Registrants should particularly watch for the drawing in Washington, then find out whether they were drawn and the order in which they must appear. Then they should learn when they must appear for physical examination. In case of any doubt they should report to their local board.

With Oregon fully organized for the draft, every card in this state having been filed in fire proof cabinets in the adjutant general's office, officials here are only waiting the word from Washington to take the next step—the actual draft of Oregon's quota.
