UP WITH THE BOY.

Off with your hat as the flag goes by,
And let your heart have its say,
You're man enough for a tear in your eye,
That you will not wipe away,
Lift up the boy on your shoulder high,
And show him the faded shield,
Those stripes would be red as the sunset sky,
If death could have dyed them red,
Off with your hat as the flag goes by,
Uncover the youngster's head,
Teach him to hold it holy and high,
For the sake of its sacred dead.

LET HONEST MEN BEWARE

SOME men arrested as I. W. W.'s and deported from certain places turn out to be honest laboring men, loyal to the government but caught in bad company. It is regrettable such men should suffer because of the radicalism and hatred preached by others. But it is the way things go and it is often difficult to avoid such mistakes. When the scythe swings forth to clear the field of anarchy it takes whatever gets in its path. It is at times difficult to distinguish between good men and bad men. For this reason the deportation of men is something to be resorted to only when the case is such no other course will suffice to save the day. A better way would be for the government to intern all men suspected of such trouble making. In this way they would be dealt with by legal authorities rather than by mob action, and there would be more opportunity for trying men according to their individual merits.

Meanwhile the plain moral for all who desire to keep out of trouble is to avoid any appearance of association with the I. W. W. That organization is suspected of having leaders who take German money to plot trouble for Uncle Sam. Our people are in no mood to show patience with such an outfit.

AMERICA MAY DO THIS

AN interesting piece of news carried by the United Press yesterday concerned the sinking or capture of four German merchantmen in

What Do You Know About Your Blood Supply?

Your ignorance may startle you. Few people know of the many functions of the blood supply, and just how important it is that it be kept absolutely free from all impurities. The health of the entire body depends upon the condition of the blood. You are invited to write and obtain a booklet that gives you some available information on this im-the North sea. The story indicates increased naval activity in that region on the part of the allies.

Americans and particularly our naval men would like to see this. Among other things they would like to see a guard line drawn from the north of Scotland across to Norway so as to prevent U-boats from getting into the Atlantic. The distance across is 300 miles and with the American navy to help it may be possible to set up a line of nets, mines, etc., sufficient to bottle up the kaiser's undersea fighters. If it can be done the submarine menace is ended because the English channel is already protected.

Thus far the allies have regarded the North sea entrance as too wide for a blockade. But Americans are more venturesome and desirous of doing something in a big way. Give the job to them and they may put it over, thus ending the war, because when the submarine campaign collapses it will be good night to the German war party.

IN NO MAN'S LAND

NO matter what the surface conditions may be in Germany it is apparent that serious internal contentions disturb the kaiser and his advisers responsible for the war and its conduct.

Outside of the autocracy there is a powerful social-democratic element in the empire. It has been repressed for years only through the fact the Prussianized constitution provides no way for its effective expression. During the war it has been held down by hope of victory. But the dream of triumph is slowly but surely being shattered. If the German people do not know this now they will learn the truth in time.

Therefore Prussianism is doomed to fight the remainder of the war between two fires, one from the enemy and the other from the increasing blaze of discontent within.

STATE PRESS COMMENTS ON RECENT CONVENTION

THE PENDLETON SPIRIT.

(From the Portland Journal.)
God made the country, but men make the cities.

Pendleton is the proof. It is doubtful if there is in America a city more vibrant with action or more tightly bound in unity.

In the past year Pendleton people contributed more than $90,000 to public activities. A sample was the more than $2000 raised by popular subscription for the entertainment of the Oregon Press association. Pendleton people paid for a special train of three Pullmans and observation car to carry the newspapermen from Pendleton to Joseph, Oregon, and return. No entertainment so lavish was ever provided by any city for the state press association.

Pendleton is a big figure town. Its men are big figure men. They subscribed $60,000 of Liberty Bonds. Their quota for the Red Cross was $27,000 and they contributed $48,000. They never do anything by halves. Whenever they agree that something is to be done, everybody in Pendleton gets behind it and the thing is not only done but done wholly and completely. It is always a first class job.

The best natatorium in Oregon is in Pendleton. It cost $15,000 and was built by subscription. Its water is the overflow from the gravity water system, publicly owned and publicly operated. It is located in Round-Up park and is open to all. It is a feature of city appointment to make other cities envious.

Pendleton is literally rolling in wealth. The deposits in Pendleton banks are second only to Portland's, and per capita they are the largest in the state.

Automobiles, many of them farmers' machines, are parked along the pavements sometimes so thick that it is almost impossible to cross the street.

These multitudinous machines in Pendleton are visible signs of Umatilla county prosperity, for they are not installment plan machines but were paid for on the spot and there is abundant money to pay for more as the caprice of the owner may direct.

J. F. Robinson now employs his leisure moments wrestling with a bicycle, having secured a nice wheel this morning from Fred T. Merrill of Portland.

Dr. W. C. McKay has received his commission as agency physician and is in charge of the reservation patients.

A wave of Kansas grasshoppers struck Pendleton last night about 10 o'clock filling up the are lights, crawling into saloons and business houses and making themselves generally obnoxious.

R. Alexander and family left for Kamela yesterday morning.

Leon Cohen is sojourning at Meacham, he left on Wednesday morning with a tent and regulation mountaineer outfit, prepared for a good long stay in the mountains.

Tom Barrett's foot was under a plank yesterday when it fell and is now laid up in consequence.

ALLIES TO CONFER ABOUT THE BALKANS

Evacuation of Epirus by the Italians Expected to Follow Negotiations.

LONDON, July 18.—The Entente Allies have decided to hold a conference in Paris to consider questions of military and political interest in connection with the Balkans.

The Russian Provisional Government has announced that Russia's representatives will be instructed to insist upon the application to foreign policies of the general principles proclaimed by the Russian Revolutionary Government. In this connection the government deprecated the enforced change in the rulership of Greece, regarding interference in the internal affairs of Greece as not permissible.

The Daily Chronicle's Athens correspondent telegraphs "I am informed from a Greek source that the Umatilla, and with appointments creditable to the largest city, a splendid school system with high schools as completely appointed and broadly equipped with teaching staff and otherwise are a part of Pendleton's cultural life.

There can be no real Round-Up except in Pendleton. Other cities may copy but they cannot compete. They can give round-up shows but they cannot give a real Round-Up. They don't know how they haven't the nerve to back the spectacles, Pendleton backs it.

Pendleton's Round-Up is uncommercialized and stands as a living symbol of the passing era of the lariat, the saddle, the horse and the bold rider on the western plains. Even the directors of the Round-Up organization pay their admission fee at the gate the same as other people.

Pendleton is alone in its community spirit. There is no cooperation like they have there. It is a spirit of which it can be truly said, is all for one and one for all. There is no duplication of it. All others are mere imitations and do not bear the original trademark.

It is a splendid experience to visit Pendleton and see how they do things. There are big distances out in eastern Oregon and they prepare the traveler with broad vision with which to study Pendleton. The highest sheep king in the world lives in that city. The operations of numerous wool growers who live there are so huge that they symbolize the boldness and bigness of the region.

There is a woman over there who has 2500 acres of land in wheat this year from which a yield of 25 bushels per acre is expected. You can get a glimpse of the figures of the section when you reckon what the income will be on a 25 bushel yield from 2500 acres at $2 per bushel.

But all the time as you study the region, there comes back the cooperation, the loyalty, the unity and the drive of Pendletonians. "Drive" is the one word in the language that expresses it.

And the drive is always on in Pendleton with no laggards, no stay-at-homes.

At any rate, the crown prince must be to suspect that he will never have such docile subjects as the present kaiser has enjoyed.

Evacuation of Epirus by the Italians Expected to Follow Negotiations.

Hellenic Government has entered into negotiations with the Italian government with a view to the solution of the Epirus question. It is understood that the purporters have taken a favorable course and that the evacuation of Epirus by the Italian troops is imminent.
