ALEXANDERS

Former slacker Dies a Hero. LONDON, July 19.—Conscientious objector, shirker, volunteer soldier and now one of England's dead heroes—that is the war career of Henry Bellamore. When war came, Bellamore called it the devil's invention. He fought against conscription on conscientious grounds, preferring jail to the battlefield. "If I ever saw a wounded soldier fall with his crutches I won't help him up again," said Bellamore. This so aroused his neighbors at Bath that they burned him in effigy. A few weeks later he experienced a change of heart. Though exempted from the army he volunteered. Soon he was the most popular soldier in his regiment, the Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry. Recently the former conscientious objector was killed in action, the supreme sacrifice.
