3500 BUSHELS OF TURKEY RED SOLD AT $2.00 BU.; HARVEST ON IN LIGHT LAND SECTION

The first wheat sale reported in Pendleton since the opening of harvest was made today when Henry W. Collins purchased of Foster & Shuler about 3500 bushels of Turkey Red, paying $2.00 a bushel.

This price, however, is not to be taken as a guidance of general market quotations as the big buyers are not bidding for the new crop yet owing to the indefiniteness of governmental regulations.

Part of the agreement is an amendment that provides that unless it is ratified within six years by the 36 states required to put it in the constitution it dies.

The decision to vote so soon on the prohibition amendment is significant in view of the effort to have such a vote release from the food bill the Smoot amendment directing the President to purchase bonded liquor.
