TEAMWORK "It ain't the guns nor the armament nor funds that they can pay."

UP TO THE ADJUTANT GENERAL

AS matters stand in this state the spirit of the draft law as set forth by the President of the United States...

Oregon only 717 men are needed under the first draft and therefore the task should be easy and it should be possible to secure these men without taking men who dependents or taking men who should be exempted on occupational grounds.

The true interests of the nation require careful work and it will be the part of patriotism for the Oregon officials, particularly the adjutant general, to take any steps necessary to correct any mistakes that have been made.

Manifestly it is no time for people to grow too critical or abusive because the task of administering the draft has been difficult. But neither is it any time for any official to become bull headed or tyrannical.

GETTING DOWN TO EQUITY AND BUSINESS

THE adoption by the senate yesterday of the McKellar amendment providing for a zone system for second class mail is typical of the new day at Washington.

The layman will understand the meaning of the change proposed when he considers that a New York magazine at present can be sent across the continent at the same rate per pound of postage that the East Oregonian (or any other Oregon newspaper or magazine) must pay from here to La Grande or to Walla Walla.

The zone rate for second class matter is a logical and fair proposition. It should be put into use guardedly and without working a too sudden hardship on concerns built up under the old system.

In governmental affairs equity is the compass that should point the way to be followed; the ship is not safe when left to follow the winds.

gonian included. The increased charges should be cheerfully met in the knowledge it is for genuine service received.

WELL ANSWERED

RESIDENT WILSON in his reply to the pope has expressed with great clearness the reason the allies can make no peace with kaiserism at this time.

The closer the senate makes its cloture rule the better will the country like the senate.

Wilson's reply may open the eyes of the German people as to the chief cause of their grief.

Dust off your Round-Up hat.

FROM THE PEOPLE

THE MILK REGULATIONS, Portland, Ore., Aug. 29, 1917.

Editor East Oregonian: Judging from correspondence coming to this office it would seem that considerable misapprehension exists among dairy farmers relative to the requirements of the law passed by the legislative assembly of 1917, which requires the pasteurization of all milk and cream sold to consumers and all by products of creameries or cheese factories if not produced from tuberculin tested cows.

NEEDED A large per cent of all headaches are caused by eyestrain, which comes from an effort of the delicate eye muscles to overcome some defect of vision.

If you have headaches and have tried other systems without results why not try Optometry? Proper glasses will often give permanent relief when all other means fail.

If you come here you are sure of a thorough examination of your eyes and consequently the right glasses when they are needed.

Reasonable charges. DALE ROTHWELL, Optometrist and Optician, American Nat. Bank Bldg., Pendleton.

Buying Furniture

Whether it be for an odd piece of furniture or a rug or to outfit a bedroom, living room, kitchen, or furnish your entire house from the basement to the garret, we assure you we are in position to serve you.

All we ask is for you to place your time against ours.

We faithfully assure you of the most pleasant service and ask you not to hesitate to come in and look over our merchandise, or to phone and let us send a man to your house to measure floors or windows, estimate furniture, etc.

We further assure you that we do not feel that you are obligated to buy because you give us a chance to figure on your wants.

We also want to thank the Pendleton people for the liberal patronage they have given us and we point with pride to the beautiful homes we have been allowed to furnish.

We will cheerfully furnish you the names of the people who's houses we have outfitted and feel that if you care to ask them they will tell you that it is not necessary to send out of town for your furniture wants.

Drop us a card or phone us and our service man will give you prompt attention. We ask you to come in and look us over, but kindly not to overlook us.

28 Years Ago Today

(From the Daily East Oregonian, August 26, 1889.) Isaac Atkinson alighted rather suddenly from a cayuse at Echo yesterday against his will and sustained several painful but not serious injuries.

A large brewing enterprise for Pendleton is strongly favored by some of our saloonmen who promise to take stock in the same. The first shipment of goods from Pendleton over the O & W. T. was made today; a carload of J. D. Murphy's household effects billed to Tacoma.

Marvin Turner, who has graduated from Ann Arbor law school and is now a full fledged attorney, returned home on this morning's train. He will engage with his father, J. H. Turner, in the practice of law in Pendleton.

The old Indian girl and the side of Cayuse was buried Wednesday. Another pioneer landmark gone to its maker.
