U. S. NEVER BETTER PREPARED FOR WAR

Only Training of Men Needed, Declares G. A. R. Head, as Veterans Cheer.

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—William J. Patterson of Pittsburg, commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, speaking today at the annual encampment, aroused great enthusiasm by declaring that America had drawn the sword for the oppressed people of Europe who had appealed for help.

The convention hall rang with war-time shouts as veterans rose, waved battle torn flags and cheered wildly every reference to the unselfish motive which had prompted the United States to enter the struggle without thought of pecuniary reward.

"Except for the physical training of the men, this nation was never better prepared for a great war," Commander Patterson said.

"The people of the whole country are thoroughly loyal and devoted to the flag. In the war confronting us the men of the North and the men of the South will be found marching shoulder to shoulder in defense of humanity and of the rights of the American union."

"When notice came to us that the solemn pledge of Germany was to be set aside and the indiscriminate and ruthless submarine warfare resumed, the only course left for this government was to sever diplomatic relations with that Empire."

Immediately he said, as commander-in-chief of the organization, he telegraphed President Wilson that the Grand Army of the Republic heartily supported his stand.

"Later in Washington," Mr. Patterson said, "I called at the White House to reiterate in person what had been declared by wire. President Wilson expressed his pleasure at our prompt endorsement of his course."

Portland, Ore., was chosen the 1915 encampment city. Atlantic City, N. J., was a close contender, losing by one vote.

HONOR LEGION PROTESTS MEDAL GIVE TO ROOST

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—Protests against the giving by voluntary associations of medals of honor, such as that presented by the National Arts Club a week ago to Ethel Root in recognition of his services as head of the mission to Russia, were voiced today at the annual reunion of the Army and Navy Medal of Honor Legion.

About 20 of the 200 members of the legion who have received medals for special acts of bravery were present at the meeting. Commander Orville T. Chamberlain of Elkhart, Ind., in his opening address pleaded for deeper recognition of the official character of the organization and advocated a federal law more closely protecting these medals.
