REFUSE TO LUNCH WITH REED
Members of Rotary Club Get Money Back When They See Senator.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 4.—Rotarians filing into the Rotary Club luncheon at the Hotel Baltimore yesterday, saw Senator James A. Reed at the speaker's table. At the sight of the speaker more than a dozen members returned to the cashier and got their money back, going elsewhere for luncheon.
Senator Reed's invitation to lunch was arranged by R. K. C. Miller, a cabinet supporter through the B. Jones cabinet case.

HOME READING COURSE FOR CITIZEN-SOLDIERS

LESSON NO. 22.
GUARD DUTY.
In addition to drilling and fighting as a member of a squad, company, regiment or other "team" of the Army, you will have certain important duties as an individual soldier. These duties call for a higher grade of intelligence and self-reliance and throw on you greater personal responsibility.
This is not something to be dreaded or avoided. As you develop the soldierly qualities you will jump at every chance to take responsibility and to distinguish yourself by the courage and good judgment with which you act.
Probably your simplest individual duty will be of an interior guard. "Interior guards are used in camp or police regulations." (Manual of Interior Guard duty, par. 3.)
In the training camp your company will be required at times to perform guard duty. This means that one or more of your commissioned or non-commissioned officers, and a number of privates will be detailed for this duty. Customarily a detail of this kind continues for 24 hours, from noon of one day to noon of the next; each private taking his turn at standing guard.

Personal Responsibility.
Guard duty is especially recommended as of value in discipline and training, because of the direct individual responsibility which is imposed and required to be discharged in a definite and precise manner. (Manual of Interior Guard Duty, par. 8.) Your duties as a sentinel are best expressed in the general orders which every sentinel is required to repeat whenever called upon to do so. Memorize these general orders now and never permit yourself to forget them; they are clear and exact. They are meant to be strictly obeyed.
My general orders are:
1. To take charge of this post and all Government property in view.
2. To walk my post in a military manner, keeping always on the alert and observing everything that takes place within sight or hearing.
3. To report all violations of orders I am instructed to enforce.
4. To report all calls from posts more distant from the guardhouse than my own.
5. To quit my post only when properly relieved.
6. To receive, obey, and pass on to the sentinel who relieves me all orders from the commanding officer, officer of the day, and officers and noncommissioned officers of the guard only.
7. To talk to no one except in line of duty.
8. In case of fire or disorder to give the alarm.
9. To allow no one to commit a nuisance on or near my post.
10. In any case not covered by instructions to call the corporal of the guard.
11. To salute all officers, and all colors and standards not cased.
12. To be especially watchful at night, and, during the time for challenging, to challenge all persons on or near my post, and to allow no one to pass without proper authority.
Even though a sentinel be only a private soldier, he is in a position of real dignity and authority. He represents the commanding officer. He must be respected and the orders he gives as a sentinel must be strictly obeyed, not only by other soldiers but by officers, whatever their rank.
During the night the sentinel will challenge any person or party who comes near his post, calling out sharply "Halt. Who is there?" This person challenged, or one of the party if there are several persons may be permitted to approach for the purpose of giving the countermarch or of being recognized. In case of doubt it is a sentinel's duty to prevent anyone from passing him and to call the corporal of the guard. "A sentinel will never allow himself to be surprised, nor permit two parties to advance on him at the same time."

Duties of Orderlies.
Members of the guard may be assigned to duty as orderlies to the commanding officer or to other officers. "For these positions the soldiers will be chosen who are most correct in the performance of duty and in military bearing, neatest in person and accomplishments are in the best condition." It is decidedly a compliment to any soldier to be designated to serve as an orderly.
An orderly usually accompanies the officer wherever he goes, assists or serves him in accordance with directions, carries messages for him, and the like.
Exterior guard duty consists of keeping watch at a distance from the main body of troops. When a camp is within possible striking distance from the enemy it is necessary to place small parties of men at points where they may observe an approaching enemy, give the alarm, and if possible check or stop his advance. These parties are known as outpost.

When a large body of troops is on the march, advance, rear, and flank guards keep watch on the surrounding country. In general, their duties are similar to those of outposts.
Scouting.
One of the most responsible duties to which a soldier may be assigned is patrolling or scouting. An Infantry patrol usually consists of from 3 to 16 men. It is sent out for the purpose of obtaining information as to the enemy, his numbers, and the nature of the country over which the patrol travels. It is not usually intended that the patrol should fight, since its prime purpose is to obtain and bring back information. However it may be forced to fight, if discovered, in order to protect the escape of at least one of its members with a report of the information secured.
"Every soldier should be able to find his way in a strange country; should know how to use a compass; should know how to locate the north star; should be able to travel across country, keeping a given direction, both by day and by night, and by observing landmarks he should be able to return to the starting point when they cover the same route or by a more circuitous one. This can easily be learned by a little practice. It adds a great deal to the value of a soldier if he knows how to use a map to find his way. If he knows how to make a rough sketch of the country, he has added to his value as a soldier very much indeed." (Manual for Non-commissioned Officers and Privates, p. 161.)
Of course these remarks on guard duty can give you only a general idea of its nature and of your own responsibility. But enough has been said to indicate that any man has much to learn before he can be called a first-class soldier. You will find your months of training slipping by rapidly, especially as you become more and more interested in mastering the varied phases of your new occupation.

Ladies! Why Keep Corns?
Lift a corn or callus right off without one bit of pain.
Yes! You truly can lift off every hard corn, soft corn or corn between the toes as well as hardened calluses on bottom of feet, without one bit of pain.
A genius in Cincinnati discovered freezezone. It is an ether compound and tiny bottles of this magic fluid can now be had at any drug store for a few cents.
Apply several drops of this freezezone upon a tender, aching corn or a callus. Instantly all soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so shriveled and loose that you lift it off with the fingers. You feel no pain while applying freezezone or afterwards.
Just think! No more corns or calluses to torture you and they go without causing one twinge of pain or soreness. Keep a tiny bottle on the dresser and never let a corn or callus ache twice.
