Poetic Echoes From Co. E., N. G. I.

When Oscar joined the army, he had ideas of his own; Though he believed in the tradition that, "Ye reap as ye have sown,"

He always had been lucky and got by with little things; Such as stealing watermelons and passing up three Kings." But Oscar has grown wiser now, he knows without a doubt That he'll get confined to quarters if he don't watch out.

Science Makes Republic Tires Last Longer

It is easy to see why Republic tires really last longer. It is also easy to understand why they give more miles per gallon.

The first result comes from the Prodiun Process of toughening rubber.

The second advantage is due to the scientific design of the Staggard Tread.

The Prodiun Process makes Republic tires wear down slowly like steel.

The Staggard Studs cause the tire to roll with the least resistance.

They are not merely haphazard projections on the tire. The studs are scientifically placed and scientifically rounded.

They grip the road with just enough friction to obtain the non-skid effect and to get perfect traction.

The Staggard Tread was awarded patents, September 15-22, 1908.

Republic Black-Line Red Inner Tubes have a reputation for freedom from trouble.

REPUBLIC TIRES

sody pop and water—straight; You can get in when you want to if you don't stay out too late. If you lose a watch or dollar, you must keep the secret well. Or else some guy will holler and the whole camp catches hell. If you start to kiss your sweetheart you will hear somebody shout: "You'll get confined to quarters if you don't watch out."

We may revel in the laughter that good whiskey drinkers know.

But we find the morning after that it's but a fleeting show. And we crave a drink of water, 'cause it's wet and 'cause it's cold. As we quote the good old adage: "All that glitters is not gold." Then we're called into the office and the captain's eyes are hard— As he says: "Ten days in quarters K. P. Duty—call the guard."

O, this world is full of trouble, full of sorrow, full of pain; Life is but an empty bubble and all earthly joys are vain. But there's one great consolation That has soothed our aching hearts— hearts— Soon we'll get our transportation to make war in foreign parts And while we are fighting Germans in the Land of Sauer Kraut, We will want to be in quarters, so we won't watch out.
