VASSAR NOT TO DROP STUDY OF GERMAN Handy for Americans When They Shop in Berlin Next Year, Says Professor.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Sept. 27.—In connection with the opening today of Vassar college announcement was made that German will not be dropped as a study, the faculty having recommended that it be continued. Prof. Burgess Johnson of the faculty said: "Knowledge of the German language will come very handy to Americans when they begin to do their shopping in Berlin next year. For this reason we are urging our girls to take advantage of the German course." Practically all of the 1100 enrolled students were in attendance. Evidently the war has had no effect on the registration. During the year special attention will be given to preparedness courses and to Red Cross work by the students.

REVOLUTION NOW IN GERMANY UNLIKELY SAY U. S. OFFICIALS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—American officials believe a revolution in Germany soon is unlikely. While dispatches indicate growing discontent, particularly among the women, authorities have concluded the Germans are so accustomed to the Kaiser's domination that no upheaval is possible until further casualties convince them the German administration is a murderous autocracy. Official advice indicates the Vatican is waiting for America to see the light. The Pope is convinced the Kaiser cannot be overthrown and believes the American people will not stand for such sacrifices as the allies have already made.

AMERICAN RED CROSS IN FRANCE WANTS LUMBER Tents Must Be Replaced by Permanent Buildings Before Winter Sets In.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Permanent buildings of a modern type to supplant the tents and temporary structures now occupied by Red Cross base hospitals in France are needed before winter sets in, according to cables received from Maj. Grayson M. P. Murphy, Red Cross Commissioner to France, who has cabled the Red Cross War Council to ship quantities of building materials at once. Increased suffering, owing especially to the shortage of coal, will result unless structures built to withstand the cold can be erected. The building problem is so serious in France, owing to the scarcity of timber, that Maj. Murphy cabled for the immediate shipment of 2,000,000 feet of fir. "Giant fir" trees are now being cut.

PETITION TO PAVE CALVIN ST. GRANTED

BIDS RECEIVED BY TWO FIRMS TO FURNISH CITY WITH COMBINATION SWEEPER. Douglas Belts Wants Alley Leading in to Rear of His Building Made Permanent But Thinks It Should be Paid for the Deed. A petition asking for the paving of Calvin street from Court to Alta was granted by the city council last evening and proceedings started toward ordering the work done. Ordinances providing for the paving in the Jackson-Monroe-Washington street district and for the paving of Calvin from Court to Alta were introduced and read but, owing to the lack of enough members to pass an emergency ordinance, the passage was delayed a week. Bids were received from two firms for furnishing the city with a combination sweeper and sprinkler, and they were referred to the street committee. Douglas Belts appeared before the council and presented the matter of making the alley way leading in to the rear of his building and also to the city hall a permanent alley. He thought he should be paid something for a deed, but Councilman Murphy was of another opinion, stating that part of the alley already belonged to the city and that an agreement had been made with John Schmidt, previous owner of the Belts block, whereby the alley was to be left open for the use of the city and tenants of his building.

FOE'S "PILL BOXES" LITTLE USE TO HIM

Von Arnim's Plans of Defense Swept Aside by Haig's Impetuous Rush. LONDON, Sept. 27.—Gen. von Arnim, it is now known, is the man chosen by von Hindenburg and von Ludendorff to try to withstand the stent hammer blows of the British Army in Field Marshal Haig's new drive east of Ypres. Von Arnim told the Germans, after they had been worsted in the Somme battles, where their mistakes lay. Now he is chosen to hold that vital part of the line in Flanders into which the British wedge is relentlessly entering.

How vital the Germans consider the maintenance of their lines in the Ypres sector is shown by the fact that against the British alone, before this latest push, nearly forty army divisions (150,000 men) were engaged at different times, whereas in the Somme battles the Anglo-French forces together worsted twenty-eight divisions (392,000 men).

"The Haig strategy is to drive a big wedge into the enemy's front, tending to separate the Germans operating south of the Lys from the Germans operating north of that river. If the movement continues as it has begun the time will come when we shall see another of those 'voluntary' retreats, according to our plan," which resulted from similar tactics on the Somme.

"Von Hindenburg, of course, knows this and hence the tremendous effort which he is making to check British progress eastward. Menin and Roulers are the two strategic points of importance. With the British army on the line joining these two towns together Haig would be able to attack Lille from the north and extend from the south."
