SURVEY OF TRIBAL LANDS TO BE MADE

ASSIGNMENT OF ALLOTMENTS ON RESERVATION WILL START SOON.

C. E. Redfield surveyor in the Indian service, is to arrive here soon with a crew of six men to take up the survey of the tribal land on the reservation so as to make the territory ready for allotment under the decision to allot tribal land to those not having allotments. The tribal land will be divided into tracts of 80 acres each and it is estimated the surveying work will require a year for its completion.

However, the making of allotments will start before the surveying is finished. After some allotments have been surveyed certain Indians who have made selections will be allowed to go upon their land. According to Superintendent Swartzlander the Indians will be allowed the land they select excepting where contests may occur. In quite a few cases Indians are now located on tribal land, as much of this land as possible having been brought under cultivation in connection with the increased food supply propaganda.

A start toward surveying the unallotted tribal land was made once before but the work stopped when the surveyor in charge was ordered to the officers reserve camp.

ROOT OPPOSES SUFFRAGE.

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Elihu Root made known his opposition to woman suffrage in emphatic utterances at a mass meeting here tonight. Mr. Root presided, presenting Mrs. James Wadsworth, president of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage. Mr. Root said:

"It is unfortunate that we should be compelled to turn aside from our efforts toward making our country victorious over that cruel, brutal and arrogant enemy which does not hesitate to murder women and children and which seeks to destroy the liberties of the world, in order to have controversy over the question of woman suffrage.

"But the subject is thrust upon us. It can not be allowed to go by default and these ladies who are not seeking a place in politics, who leave their homes and have high ideals of womanhood have buckled on their armor of discussion and are determined that the question shall not go by default.

"I could not come here and introduce them to you if I did not sympathize with them. I am opposed to the granting of suffrage to women. I formed an unfavorable opinion of the project many years ago, and time, far from changing my opinion, has but confirmed it. I am opposed to it because I think it would be bad for the government of the country, for the state and bad for the women."

WILL PROVIDE FOR SOLDIERS' FAMILIES

AMERICAN RED CROSS BEGINS TRAINING AN ARMY OF STEP-FATHERS AND MOTHERS.

Aid Will Run Gamut of Family Affairs, From Giving of Legal or Medical Advice to Keeping Up Insurance and Caring for Mortgage.

BY GEORGE MARTIN. (United Press Staff Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The American Red Cross has begun training an army of step-fathers and mothers for the families of the country's fighting men at the front. It was learned today.

The idea was recently announced. The plan is now in progress of execution. Thousands of men and women are being recruited to take up the six weeks' course which will fit them to man the domestic listening posts in every city and town in the country.

Seventy-five thousand soldiers' families will have been aided in the conduct of their personal affairs by these Red Cross helpers during the first year of the war, it was estimated today by the director general of Red Cross and Civilian Relief, W. Frank Persons.

Will Run Family Gamut. The aid will run the gamut of family affairs, from the giving of legal or medical advice to keeping up the insurance and seeing that the mortgage is not neglected. The Red Cross experts will even assist financially in bridging some of the more ghastly chasms of unavoidable debt. This help will take the form of temporary loans.

"The problem of financing dependent families outright, however," said the Red Cross, "is too big a problem. It should be cared for by the government. When the soldiers and sailors return from the war," said Director General Persons, "the families entrusted to the care of the Red Cross should be found to have maintained, as far as is humanly possible, the essential standards of home life."

Will Require Much Thought.

"This work will demand more than a grant of money or a temporary reference to a doctor, a lawyer, or some other adviser. It will frequently require a long-continued acquaintance with the family, a systematic understanding and appreciation of its ideals, its ability to attain them, the obstacles in the way, and the application of a radical common sense psychology of stimulating and encouraging the family to surmount its difficulties and achieve success.

The Red Cross has established institutes in conjunction with twenty or thirty universities throughout the country where six weeks of intensive training will be given to those volunteer warriors who wish to enlist in this service. Assisting Director General Persons at National Red Cross Headquarters in Washington are Dr. Thomas J. Riley, general secretary of the Brooklyn bureau of charities, and Porter R. Lee of the staff of the New York School of Philanthropy.

RED CROSS OPENS FIRST OF AMERICAN CANTEENS

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Sept. 27.—The first chain of canteens which the Red Cross is establishing was opened a few nights ago at a town within hearing of the artillery fire. The American women in charge planned the opening night to coincide with the departure of the American engineers for the front to take over the operation of an important section of railroad. These men were the first to get hot coffee, soup and sandwiches from the canteen before their long night ride cramped in box cars.

"CHRISTMAS BELLS TO BE PEACE BELLS"

Herr Leube, Liberal Member of the Reichstag, is Quoted Thus in Politiken.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 27.—The Politiken today prints an interview with Herr Leube, Liberal member of the German Reichstag, in which he says he is convinced that the German reply to the peace note of Pope Benedict, which was unanimously adopted, will accord with the peace resolution passed by the Reichstag majority on July 19.

Herr Leube declares that he and most of the German Liberals and Socialists think the annexation of Belgium would be stupid.

"If we took Belgium," he continues, "we would have to give it twenty-five representatives in the Reichstag, and it is not difficult to imagine what trouble those twenty-five Belgians would cause the government."

The German reply to the Pope, Herr Leube believes, will promote the bringing about of peace. "I am convinced that the Christmas bells will be peace bells," he declares. Discussing the attitude of Chancellor Michaelis, the Reichstag member is quoted as saying:
