"DANNY BOY."

"Oh, Danny boy, the pipes, the pipes are calling.
It's you, it's you must go and I must hide, but come ye back when all the roses fallin'."
Over the valleys hushed and white snow,
I'll be there in sunshine or in shadow, oh, Danny boy, I love you so."
"But when ye come, and all the flowers are dyin',
"And I am dead as 'dead I may be."
"Ye'll come and find the place where I am lyin',
"And kneel and say an ave there for me."
"And I shall hear, the soft you tread above me,
"And all my grief will warm'er, sweeter be."
"For you will bend and tell me that you love me,
"And I shall sleep in peace until you come to me."

LET THE SKY BE THE LIMIT

It could be easy or this paper to say something along the "I told you so" order in ed in accord with the Pendleton standard.

If this paper has the right conception of local sentiment the school board will be safe in searching the high places for a new school superintendent. The best will be none too good for Pendleton.

THE PROSPERITY SIDE

THE material benefits that are to accompany this war hardly can be exaggerated. In the long run they cannot fail to appear in a very practical way through securities of the corporations which are so closely identified with our country's activities. We are to emerge from the struggle in a far more prosperous condition than any or all the other great nations whose participation antedated our own by nearly three years, in that long period our manufacturers, our farmers and all other American interests enjoyed a period of entirely unexampled prosperity. Our industrial plants were tuned up to the highest pitch of efficiency, our labor had attained the highest degree of skill in the various departments of manufacturing. Therefore, regardless of the further duration of the war, we as a nation will enjoy the advantage of having entered after our allies had expended so great a part of their physical and financial strength. This is a handicap that they hardly may be expected to overcome for some time after peace shall have been arranged. In the meantime our business men will continue the keen competition to retain the advantages that have been thrown in their way during the fore part of the struggle. Our government has entered upon shipping plans that will mean that when the war ends we shall see the American flag in all the great ports of the world and on the seven seas. We have in recent years entered many new markets and have had the opportunity of introducing American goods. These advantages we shall in large measure retain.

A MERITORIOUS PROPOSAL

THERE is genuine merit in the Hermiston site for an army training camp. There is abundant unused land for all purposes, transportation facilities are excellent, there is abundant water available and best of all the climate is such that field work may be carried on with comfort and success practically the entire year. This latter feature alone in the view of the East Oregonian gives the Hermiston location an advantage over the camp at American lake where the rainfall is heavy during fall, winter and spring months. Soldiers in a camp located west of Hermiston would be able to drill in the open during a period twice as long as would be possible in any camp west of the Cascade mountains in Oregon or Washington. If new camps are to be established the Hermiston site will be entitled to serious consideration and the fact an officer has been detailed to investigate the site shows that the proposition is attracting favorable attention from the commanding officers of the western division.

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

What the Picture Theaters Have to Tell You.

Cosy Thursday-Friday.
Butterfly pictures present the Spindle of Life, featuring Ben Wilson and Neva Gerber. "The Spindle of Life" is a story of present day happenings and from every angle is highly creditable. Eddie Lyons and Lee Moran are featured in a side-splitting comedy, "Minding the Baby."

DOROTHY GISH A SPIRITED MADCAP IN "HER OFFICIAL FATHERS"

Pastime Thursday and Friday.
A riotous young madcap who causes no end of trouble for her guardians, the officials of a banking company, is the character assumed by Dorothy Gish in the Triangle-Fine Arts play, "Her Official Fathers," which will be shown at the Pastime Thursday and Friday.
Miss Gish goes through an unusual costume cycle during this play. Among the varied attire which she dons is a curious Chinese negligee, with trousers and a round Mandarin hat. It is because of her love for such fine feathers that she has a delay till with one of her guardians who objects to her extravagance. In fact, she starts a run on the bank before getting her bill approved.
