PHASES.

It isn't the spring that the birds adore.
 But the world that, the Spring reveals to them.
 It's the same sweet world when the Spring is o'er,
 And she's dowered with Summer-time's diadem.
 It's the same dear world when the snowflakes cling
 To her sleeping form, and the winds blow cold;
 It isn't the Spring that the poets sing,
 But the world that can ne'er grow old!

It wasn't your Youth that I loved, lang syne,
 But the Woman your outh revealed to me:
 The spring was yours, but the summer is mine,
 And the bud that dreamed what the bloom would be!
 And you'll be the same when the summer is thru,
 And the snow shall whiten what once was gold;
 For it isn't your Youth I love, but you,
 And the love that can ne'er grow old!

—By Ted Robinson.

THE TROTSKY ADVICE

THE Bolsheviki representatives at Stockholm are credited with saying that international peace can only come through joint action of the proletariat. The answer to that is that in the United States, England and France the people rule by the ballot already and they are back of their respective governments in a war to safeguard the political freedom of the world. If the Russian populace will just get rid of their present Berlin fed leadership and once more take an honorable part in a war that grew out of Germany's imposition on a Slavonic country, Serbia, the civilized nations will be more ready than at present to listen to advice from Petrograd.

CHILD PROTECTION FOUND PROFITABLE

THE struggle of nine of the warring countries to strengthen their human resources by making labor conditions tolerable for children who must work, and by providing schools to teach them how to do better work, are recounted in Child Labor in Warring Countries, a brief review of foreign reports just issued by the National Children's Bureau.

The prospect for better industrial education for England has lately been strengthened by the bill introduced in the British Parliament by Mr. Herbert Fisher, president of the board of education. The bill fixes the compulsory school attendance age at 14 without the present exemptions and requires that all working children under 18 spend at least 320 hours a year in continuation schools.

In Italy, as well as in France and England, standards of labor protection were relaxed at the beginning of the war only to be restored and strengthened as experience showed that long hours, night and Sunday work, with their evil effects on health and efficiency, did not pay.

And Russia, according to information received since the bulletin went to press, has found it necessary to withdraw the power given her minister of labor and industry early in the war to grant exemptions to concerns doing war work from the laws regulating hours and the employment of women and children under 17.

Canada, New Zealand and Australia have maintained practically unchanged through three years of war strain their high standards of protection of working children.

ALLIED HOPES IMPROVE

ESTERDAY'S news of the Haig attack on the Hindenburg line sounds good. It is now some time since the Huns were able to do any offensive work of consequence on the west front. The allies appear to have the enemy outclassed in men, guns and generalship. There is likewise encouragement in the fact the losses from submarines are decreasing, thus showing that the allies anti-submarine methods are winning out. On the Italian front the situation is critical but the fact the main German advance is being checked by the Italians without aid from the French or English shows the Italian resistance is far from being shattered, as some had feared. All in all the war outlook today is more hopeful than it was a week ago. There can be no question of an ultimate allied victory if the democratic nations but work together and put a firm check on all domestic forces that seek, in treason or through ignorance, to hamper war progress.

Speaking of American help Lloyd George should not overlook the assistance President Wilson gave the British premier in the matter of an inter-allied war council.

The farmers are getting a square deal and it is up to them to make every acre do its bit for next year; the world may be pretty hungry 18 months hence.

Dan O'Donnel has gained 15 pounds since he was killed by that horse which is very good for an amateur soldier.

Haig landed a wallop squarely between the eyes.

28 YEARS AGO

(From the Daily East Oregonian, Nov. 22, 1889.)
 R. F. Beck is on the sick list. Messrs B. S. Waffle and C. O. French surprised their friends by returning last evening from their lengthy stay in the John Day mountains.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fitz Gerald is very ill with pneumonia. The little one's condition is improved today.

C. O. French announces himself in this issue as a candidate for marshal. Fines collected from saloonkeepers for two Sundays past amounted to $132.

H. B. Beam will be a candidate at the city election held Monday, Dec. 2, 1889 for the office of recorder.

Certain Cure for Croup.
 Mrs. Ross Middleton, of Greenville, Ill., has had experience in the treatment of this disease. She says, "When my children were small my son had croup frequently. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy always broke up these attacks immediately and I was never without it in the house. I have taken it myself for coughs and colds with good results."—Adv.
